

Germany, Italy Ready to Offer Guarantees to Czech Regime

New Map Revisions Are Feared in Central Europe

COMMONS IRKED

War Incident Off British Coast Arouses Opposition

By the Associated Press
Germany and Italy were understood today to be ready to guarantee the borders of dismembered Czechoslovakia as a Spanish war incident within sight of England's coast raised opposition shouts in the house of commons and fear of new map revisions in central Europe.

Czechoslovakia now has been cut down to about 38,031 square miles from 54,196 square miles of Sudetenland previously lost to Germany and 405 square miles taken by Poland.

But Czechoslovakia Foreign Minister Frantisek Chvalkovsky was said to have returned to Prague with German and Italian assurances for what was left of his country.

Now it is the turn of Yugoslavia and Rumania to worry. Their observers at the arbitration proceedings expressed fear that Germany and Italy would force complete revision of the post-war Trianon treaty, in which pre-war Hungary was split among the victorious countries.

Freighter Attacked
Ailing Prime Minister Chamberlain was too ill to take the floor to answer house of commons demands for a statement on the sinking of the British-chartered Spanish freighter, Cantabria yesterday by a Spanish insurgent warship off the English coast.

The incident, within earshot of the east coast near Cromer, caused new opposition cries almost immediately after the prime minister had won an overwhelming vote of approval, 345 to 138, for putting in to effect the April 18 British-Italian friendship pact.

A British freighter, the Stanwood was hit by a bomb today during an insurgent air raid on the port district of Valencia. The bomb blasted a hole in the ship's side. No casualties were reported.

U. S. Building Hit
A shell struck the unoccupied American embassy building and burst in the ambassador's rooms in an insurgent artillery bombardment of Madrid.

These rooms had not been used since Ambassador Claude G. Bowers established his headquarters at Hendaye, France, Aug. 16, 1936. Later he moved to Saint Jean-de-Luz, France.

Police reported that 15 persons were killed and 34 injured by the 204 shells which landed in Madrid.

A steady insurgent advance pushed government troops slowly back on the Ebro salient in lower Catalonia. Insurgent advances indicated a government collapse.

That sector was only a matter of time but government reports said insurgents' gains were slight and "at the cost of heavy losses."

Storm Causes Damage In Northern Wisconsin
Superior—(7)—A heavy electrical storm, accompanied by winds reaching tornadoic force in some sections, caused undetermined damage in northern Wisconsin and nearby Minnesota last night.

Superior was plunged into darkness for several hours when lightning struck the power house of the Superior Water, Light and Power company.

The heaviest damage was near Nashua, Minn., where a farmhouse was flattened and some livestock was killed. No one was reported injured.

A Damsel in Distress
"In days of old, when knights were bold" fair princesses were rescued from dank castles, ogres and dragons in a very romantic manner. The knight errant rode up with dignity on a white steed, fought his way through the barriers and saved his lady fair. Nowadays our gallant males drive up in a swank car, honk the horn, say "Come on babe" and save the damsel in question from the fate of nothing worse than an evening of boredom. We wonder if our present day Iohannis would be equal to saving the situation if it required more energy, time and thought!

If you are a damsel in distress because you find it impossible to balance the family budget after the summer vacation, let the gallant little Post-Crescent Want Ads solve your problem. Take a tour of the attic and you're sure to find pieces of unused furniture that can be sold for cash.

ACCUSED IN THREE KIDNAPINGS

Announcing the solution of a kidnap-slaying and two previously undisclosed kidnappings, J. Edgar Hoover, head of the federal bureau of investigation, said in New York that the four men shown here in official FBI photographs were under arrest and that "certain ones had confessed." Upper left, William Jacknis; upper right, Joseph F. Sacoda; lower left, Demetrius Gula; lower right, John Virga. Hoover charged the victim of the kidnap-killing, Arthur Fried, had been shot by Sacoda.

Kaukauna Youth Critically Hurt In Gun Accident

Accidentally Shot by Companion While Hunting

Kaukauna—Kirby Spice, 16, was critically hurt when he was accidentally shot in the neck by his hunting companion, Robert Killian, 18, about 10:30 this morning in the woods two miles east of Kaukauna, off County Trunk Z. The charge entered the neck from the side and went through the lower jaw and mouth.

They were on their way home when they saw a rabbit. Spice, who was walking about six feet and to the left of Killian, fired. Killian also brought up his shotgun and shot when his thumb slipped off the hammer and it fired early, Killian said.

Killian and Thomas Spice, 14, brother of the victim, picked up the injured youth and brought him to a nearby farmhouse from where he was taken to a physician and later to St. Elizabeth hospital.

Spice is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira E. Spice, E. Eighth street, and Killian the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Killian, 709 Dodge street.

Reservoir Is Termed
'Danger' to Health

Madison—(7)—John Baylis, sanitary engineer for the Chicago water department, testified at a public service commission hearing today that the uncovered Kibbourn park reservoir in Milwaukee was a "source of danger" to the city's health.

The commission called the hearing to determine the feasibility of constructing a roof over the structure. Two citizen's groups are opposing the move, sponsored by the city and the municipal water department.

The Chicago engineer said he believed the reservoir should be roofed to prevent pollution from birds, insects, rodents, small animals, dirt, dust, soot, leaves and other debris which he said was in the open water.

Chinese Drill New Army of 300,000 to Battle Japanese

Chengtu, China—(7)—A new army of 300,000 recruits is being trained in Szechwan province to fight alongside 400,000 well-drilled Szechwanese in renewed hopes of stopping the invading Japanese.

It was estimated that rice, wheat and other crops in this western province of nearly 53,000,000 population and 166,000 square miles were big enough to support 2,700,000 fighters for a year—one of the reasons why Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek chose it for the new military base for operations against Japan.

Feverish activity is apparent. Training camps line highways to this provincial capital.

Food supplies are being requisitioned. Factories opened and mines developed. Machinery from factories in Japanese-occupied eastern cities was said to be on the way to Szechwan.

Crowds read eagerly anti-Japanese posters and war bulletins. Air raid defenses are being erected here and at Chungking, the provisional national capital, also in Szechwan.

The national government is in strong control politically, although only last January Szechwan was considered dangerously rebellious.

A dispatch from Chungking today said Chinese guerrillas were harassing the Japanese on increasingly wide fronts, especially in Kwangtung province near the Canton-Hankow railway and also in the Suifu district.

Chinese reported Manchurian troops in south Suifu had revolted and killed a Japanese commander, afterwards declaring their allegiance to the central government.

Strive to Link Kidnapers and Levine Murder

Bones Found in Basement Of Hall Not Those Of Human Being

HUNT FOR EVIDENCE

Fried and Levine Kidnap- ings Both in West- chester County

New York—(7)—Dwight Brantley, head of the New York F.B.I. office, said today federal agents were investigating a possible link between the unsolved kidnap-slaying of 12-year-old Peter Levine, of New Rochelle, N. Y., and the newly-captured members of an alleged "kidnap syndicate" who are accused of three kidnappings, two robberies and one murder.

The new turn in the fast-breaking case developed as police exhumed fragments of bones from a cemented "lomb" in the basement of Ukrainian hall on the lower east side.

Police had expressed a theory that the bones might be from the body of Arthur Fried, young White Plains business man, who was abducted Dec. 4 and held for $200,000 ransom, but this theory collapsed when Chief Medical Examiner Thomas A. Gonzales said an examination of the fragments showed there was "not a human bone in the lot."

Bones of Animals
He said the bones, some 240 in number, were mostly chicken, beef and rabbit bones.

Dr. Gonzales said two teeth found in the furnace might have come from a pig.

Brantley pointed out that both the Fried and Levine kidnappings occurred in Westchester county, and he disclosed that while federal agents were working on the Levine case several months ago they ran across clues which put them on the trail of the Fried kidnaping.

Those clues, he said, led to the uncovering of the alleged "kidnap syndicate."

Three of the four suspected members appeared in the police lineup shackled to detectives.

They gave their names as William Jacknis, 27, former WPA play-

Lessons in Charm Will Begin Nov. 14

Miss Janette Serree Again Will Conduct Post-Crescent School

Hundreds of women of Appleton and the surrounding community will welcome the news that the Post-Crescent again will present the Charm school featuring Janette Serree, who has pleased capacity crowds with her lectures here last year.

The Charm school will be held Nov. 14, 15, 16 and 17 at Castle hall, and will offer a program of self-improvement that is at once instructive and entertaining.

Among the subjects which Miss Serree will discuss will be weight reduction, poise, overcoming timidity and how to be interesting to other people. The lecturer will bring to Appleton a store of exciting new material on every phase of personality development.

Those who heard Miss Serree last year will remember her as an exceptionally entertaining and inspiring speaker, as well as a practical and capable instructor.

Miss Serree's column, "Choose To Be Charming," will be a daily feature of the Post-Crescent until her appearance here, the first number appearing today in the society section.

Prisoners Plead for Life of Negro Due to Be Executed Nov. 7

Pittsburgh—(7)—The hope of 40-year-old William McKinley Blackwell, a Negro scheduled to die Nov. 7 in the electric chair, rested today in an appeal by his fellow prisoners to Governor George H. Earle.

The prisoners in the Allegheny county (Pittsburgh) jail knelt last night at their Wednesday service and prayed that Blackwell's life would be saved. Then 468 of them signed a petition directed to the governor pleading for commutation of the death sentence.

Blackwell was convicted of slaying Richard Parker, 44, a rival for the affections of Blackwell's common-law wife, on July 6, 1936, at nearby Whitaker.

The petition to Earle read: "We who know him, who have eaten and smoked with him for a year and a half, beseech you to save this man that he may live to see you lead to the constructive expansion of humanity."

Tennessee to Abandon Lashings of Convicts

Nashville, Tenn.—(7)—Tennessee, seeking to "modernize" the treatment of its convicts, will abandon prison stripes and lashings as disciplinary measures.

Institutions Commissioner George Cate said "discipline cells" would be installed. These cells would be rooms "of solid concrete without windows" having ventilation through steel doors and little or no natural light.

The commissioner said blue cotton pants and shirts would be substituted for the stripes.

Schools Face U.S. Problems, Teachers Told

Association Head Says Teachers Must Fight Alien Theories

PROPAGANDA IS HIT

Half of World Has Lost Its Liberty, Author Declares

Milwaukee—(7)—More than 13,000 Wisconsin teachers heard Mrs. Autie Sanford, Ladysmith, president of the Wisconsin Education association, declare at the opening of its annual convention today that the answers to national and international problems depend on the schoolroom.

"The preservation of democracy in the face of threats of alien theories which must be met," she said.

"Teachers must realize that the answers to problems arising from international complications and the shifting scenes of affairs will be determined largely by the spread of intelligence and information, and by what takes place in our schools."

She warned the teachers against powerful forces of propaganda.

Channing Pollock, author and playwright, said half the world's population had lost its liberty. He described what he termed the "degeneration of the world" as a hardening of the fascist-totalitarian states and a softening of the democracies, and blamed machines in part for the softening.

Raymond Gram Swing, author and news commentator, told the teachers "the United States, busy with its insular psychoanalysis of the last World war, has been making no contribution whatever to the problems of the new world."

Democracy will be lost forever, he added, "unless Americans begin to think realistically" and are willing to "come to grips" with real conditions.

Turrou Is Under Fire in Spy Case

Qualifications are Questioned For Defense

New York—(7)—The qualifications of Leon G. Turrou, former federal bureau of investigation agent who was in charge of the German spy investigation, today came under fire of counsel for red-haired Johanna Hofmann, one of three defendants on trial charged with espionage.

George C. Dix, attorney for Miss Hofmann, who is accused of acting as a courier for German agents, asked Turrou:

"Were you once a ribbon clerk?" Turrou replied that he had worked for a time as a department store salesman.

"Although Dr. Griebel (Dr. Ignat T. Griebel, a fugitive defendant) had the key to the code messages seized in the possession of Miss Hofmann and threatened to have her shot, yet you didn't arrest him?" asked Dix.

"No," Turrou replied.

"Did Washington order you not to arrest Dr. Griebel?" Dix continued.

"Washington was in direct charge of this investigation, and we reported there daily by telephone," Turrou replied. "Dr. Griebel said he was going to tell the whole story. He recited a story which implicated high officials in the German government as well as Voss." (Otto Hermann Voss, aviation mechanic, one of the three persons on trial.)

CIO Union Surrenders To Governor of Ohio

Middletown, Ohio—(7)—Five hundred Ohio National guardsmen arrived for strike duty today at the P. Lorillard company tobacco plant but found that a CIO affiliated union had capitulated to Governor Martin L. Davey, caustic critic of the Committee for Industrial Organization.

The Pioneer Tobacco Workers' union, which struck Oct. 3 for a closed shop and the checkoff, agreed shortly before midnight to end the dispute and return to work.

CIO Organizer Sam Spenseller said the vote was 557 to 1.

One shift of approximately 500 workers entered the plant at 8 a. m. today without interference. The plant employs 1,100.

Campaign Letter to WPA Group 'Indefensible,' Committee Says

Washington—(7)—The senate campaign expenditure committee called "indefensible" today a phrase in a Democratic campaign letter which warned WPA workers that "no excuse will be accepted" for their failure to attend a political rally held in Norristown, Pa., Oct. 28.

The committee said it had been unable to determine how many federal WPA workers were among the 2,500 persons who attended the meeting as a result of the letter, signed by Joseph F. McElwee.

The letter said the meeting was being held "at the direction" of Senator Guffey (D-Pa.) and David L. Lawrence, state Democratic committee chairman.

Phil Raps Critics For 'Fake Clamor' On Pensions Issue

SAYS LIST 'MISUSED'

Clashes With Director Keith at Madison Hearing

Madison—(7)—Chairman Harry R. McLogan of the Wisconsin Pension department will send to Arthur Altmeyer, chairman of the social security board in Washington, within a few days a report that Governor LaFollette used an official list of names of old-age pensioners for political purposes.

McLogan, Democratic candidate for district attorney in Milwaukee county, announced after completing a personal investigation here yesterday he was prepared to make "a full report on this misuse of the list" to federal officials who control allotments of social security funds to the states.

Prior to this informal statement, McLogan inferred the situation in Wisconsin was analogous to that prevailing in Ohio where, he said, the federal government has withheld contributions to old-age pensioners because Governor Martin L. Davey involved the state pension department in political activity.

Under the present system the federal government contributes half the amount of old age pension payments. The Wisconsin allotment is approximately $60,000 a month.

Questions Keith
McLogan revealed his plans after he questioned George M. Keith, director, and two other employees of the pension department, all of whom admitted the pay roll list, containing names of some 41,000 persons, was turned over to the governor's office late in September.

The board chairman subsequently produced copies of letters, bearing the signature of Governor LaFollette and relating developments in pension administration under the state pension board, which were received by Olaf Olson, Milwaukee. One letter was dated Oct. 28, 1938, the other Oct. 4, 1938.

McLogan inferred similar letters were sent to all old-age pensioners and that the governor took names and addresses from the pay roll list. Keith admitted he released the Board Requested to Clarify Bulletin on Increased Pensions

Madison—(7)—A. J. Thelen, secretary of the Wisconsin County Boards association, today asked the state pension board for "clarification" of the board's recent bulletin increasing old age, blind, and dependent children's pensions.

The increases must be provided for in the budgets now being prepared for action at regular November meetings, Thelen said. The pension board estimated that counties must provide about $2,400,000 more than last year to meet the increases.

Thelen said state pension field men have been telling county board members not to "pay too much attention" to the board's action. He asked whether the increases are mandatory and when they go into effect.

The state would have to pay $3,500,000. Thelen said the federal government is contributing all it will for the blind and children's pensions. The state, therefore, will have to assume a third of the added cost while two-thirds of it will be borne by the counties.

Board members are George M. Keith, James Borden and Harry R. McLogan.

Job Insurance Claims Down for Third Month

Washington—(7)—The social security board reported today claims for unemployment benefits were 24 per cent fewer in September than in August, continuing a three-month decline.

The report also showed the disbursement of $41,500,000 in September was nearly six million dollars less than in the previous month.

and a local official of the Democratic party.

McElwee later denied, in an affidavit obtained by the senate committee's investigators, that Guffey or Lawrence had any knowledge of the letter.

Committee investigators who attended said the meeting was addressed only by Ralph M. Bashore, state secretary of labor and industry and secretary of the state Democratic committee. The investigators said no requests for campaign contributions were made at the meeting.

The committee said in a formal statement that McElwee declared the letter had been sent only to state employees despite the fact that WPA workers were specifically addressed in it.

Torchlight Parade Feature of County Republican Rally

State Candidates Give Talks and are Hon- ored at Dinner

Outagamie county Republicans yesterday brought their general election campaign near its close with a rally that included a torchlight parade down College avenue, an auto cavalcade trip to several communities in the county and a rally at Lawrence Memorial chapel with speeches by the principal state candidates.

Visits were made during the day to Dale, Horville, Black Creek, Kimberly, Little Chute and Kaukauna. The torchlight parade with two bands preceded the rally at the chapel in the evening. About 900 attended the evening meeting. Republican women held a reception for wives of the state candidates in the afternoon.

Speeches were made by Alexander Wiley, Chippewa Falls, candidate for the senate; Julius P. Heil, Milwaukee, candidate for governor; and Joshua L. Johns, Algoma, candidate for congress from the Eighth district. Wiley and Heil were honored at a testimonial dinner at 6:30 in the evening at the Conway hotel and were given an enthusiastic reception by about 175 persons who attended.

Wiley declared in his talk at the chapel that the issue facing the United States is that of autocracy

Find Dying Man In Parked Auto

Victim Identified as One- Time Salesman for Al Capone

Hammond, Ind.—(7)—A man identified by Hammond police as Walter Leonard, 29, of Chicago died at noon today after having been found shot twice in the head in an automobile parked in a Hammond residential district.

Sergeant Clarence M. Tebedo, of the Hammond Police department, who identified Leonard, said he had a minor police record dating back to 1927. Sergeant Tebedo said motorists found the man slumped next to the driver's seat of a sedan parked on Lyman street between Harrison park and the Monon railroad tracks.

A robbery motive for the shooting was discarded, Sergeant Tebedo said, when $34 was found in Leonard's pockets. His diamond ring and a wrist watch were not taken.

Sergeant Tebedo said Leonard's parents in Chicago said he had not lived with them for the last four years.

Police said Leonard was once a salesman of Al Capone syndicate alcohol.

Asks Whether Barkley Violated Law in State

Washington—(7)—Chairman Shepard (D-Texas) said today the senate campaign expenditures committee would take no action on a complaint from Wisconsin mentioning distribution by Senator Barkley (D-Ky.) of franked postcard communications to voters of Wisconsin.

Milwaukee—(7)—Edward A. Bacon, of Milwaukee, Republican state central committee vice chairman, asked Attorney General O. S. Loomis in a letter today whether literature circulated in Wisconsin under the franking privilege of Senator Alben Barkley (D-Ky.) was a violation of the state corrupt practices act.

The material in question was taken from a speech delivered by Barkley in behalf of Senator F. Ryan Duffy, Democratic candidate for reelection.

Bacon asked the attorney general:

"If it is granted that these postcards are being circulated for political purposes, and if they have been mailed in Wisconsin, is it necessary that they be sponsored or authorized by the candidate or by some political organization interested in his election?"

Searchers Doubt Two Missing Men are Alive

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.—(7)—Searchers for James D. Scott, of Grand Rapids and his 18-year-old guide, Daniel Sheehan, missing for a week in the Georgian bay area, held little hope today they would be found alive.

An airplane search of Georgian bay waters was made Wednesday but no trace of the men was found. Mrs. Scott, who accompanied her husband to Blind River, Ontario, on a hunting trip, left for home Wednesday.

Scott and Sheehan have not been heard from since their overturned canoe was found near the mouth of the Mississauga river.

Says Lists of Aid Recipients Open To Public

DEFENDS STAND

Charges 'Old Guard' Can- didates Don't Want List

Racine—(7)—Replying to criticism leveled at his pension letter, Governor Philip F. LaFollette directed a scathing attack last night on those he termed "old guard shellbacks" and "self-seeking politicians" for setting up a "fake clamor."

The governor, Progressive candidate for reelection, declared his letter to old age pension recipients was "the most direct and straightforward method" of informing them the state pension board had voted to increase pensions.

LaFollette insisted the pension lists were available to all candidates, explaining:

"Chapter 49 of the Wisconsin statutes clearly provides that names of old pensioners are matters of public record, and are on file with the register of deeds in every county in Wisconsin."

Bolens' Asks Probe
Chairman Harry R. McLogan of the Wisconsin pension department, announced at Madison yesterday that as the result of an investigation he would report to the local security board at Washington Governor LaFollette had used the departmental list of old age pensioners' names for political purposes.

Yesterday at Milwaukee, State Senator Harry W. Bolens, Democratic candidate for governor, demanded that the attorney general immediately launch an investigation, charging that "the scandal in connection with the pension list and the coercion of WPA employees lays the violation of the corrupt practices act at Phil LaFollette's door."

LaFollette told his audience here his purpose in discussing the affair was "to place the simple facts of the situation before you."

"The plain truth is that the records were available in every county in Wisconsin and that the old guard could have had all the names they wanted, if that was their objective," he said.

Facts Available
"Since when are the people of this state prohibited from getting the facts concerning legislation on public affairs which affect them? Since when is the governor prevented from communicating directly with the people to whom he is responsible and informing them of their rights and of what the state is trying to do?"

"In this particular case I conferred with pension officials over a long period of time on the need for increased pensions. These conferences were held long before this present fake clamor arose."

"We have acted now so that our older people would have the benefit of increased pensions to tide them over in the long winter ahead and in order that the counties might make provision for their share of the cost in the budgets which they soon must act upon for the next financial year."

"They begin to cry that they, too, wanted to write the old folks, not on official business but for some selfish purpose of their own."

"And as far as I am concerned, they can have any list on record they want from my office. But they don't want it. They know as well as you and I that they have nothing to write the old folks, nothing to offer but a hodgepodge of cheap political promises."

Japan Will Reject U. S. Claim on 'Open Door,' Paper States

Tokio—(7)—The influential newspaper Yomiuri said today that if the United States "maintains its claims for the open door and equal opportunity (in China) on the basis of the nineteen-power treaty Japan will reject them in a resolute manner."

The newspaper, discussing contentions in the United States' note of Oct. 6 demanding maintenance of the open door, declared that the nine-power treaty, signed at Washington Feb. 6, 1922, "has no significance whatever now that the work of establishing a new order in East Asia has begun."

In the nine-power treaty Japan, the United States and seven other states pledged themselves to adhere to principles of the open door and the independence and territorial integrity of China.

Highly-placed Japanese said that under the "new order" in China wherever foreign rights ran afoul of the "work of reconstruction" they can not be respected.

Election Charges May be Heard in Congress Session

New Jersey Senate Candidates Warned of Possible Contest

By the Associated Press

The election campaign will be over Tuesday, but there were indications today that its echoes would fill the halls of congress next winter.

The senate campaign expenditures committee warned senatorial candidates in New Jersey that any excessive political expenses might lead to a contest over seating the winner.

It made the statement last night after receiving charges from George Biehl, editor of the Hudson News, Union City, N. J., that Hudson county and Jersey City employees were being assessed $1,000,000 for the Democratic campaign.

The committee sent its agents back to Jersey City, stronghold of Mayor Frank Hague, for further inquiry after they reported Hudson county registration lists had not been "properly purged" of illegal voters.

Complaints of Coercion

The committee also is studying complaints of WPA coercion among voters in various states. This inquiry brought a statement from more than 200 Republican candidates for senate and house seats that they would seek unceasingly a congressional investigation of politics in relief.

"Our objective," the group said, "is to bring to account every relief administrator or supervisor who undertakes to influence the votes of the assistance given them."

Candidates on all tickets were bringing their speaking campaigns to a climax before active vote-seeking closes this weekend.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), denouncing New Deal policies, told an audience last night at Newark, N. J.

"The germ of centralized dictation permeates business as well as government. If it goes on much longer, we shall find industry and agriculture inescapably gripped and throttled by a process of complete regimentation and control from Washington."

Farley's Claim

Democratic Chairman James A. Farley, on the other hand, said in a speech at Hartford, Conn.

"It is the first time in generations, it can be said truthfully in this country that the control of the people's government rests with the people. The power of Wall street and the grip of ruthless financial combines has been broken."

Two of Farley's cabinet colleagues also put in a word for the Democrats. Secretary Roper at Indianapolis advocated reelection of Senator Van Nuys (D-Ind.), who opposed the Roosevelt court bill. Secretary Wallace asserted Senator Capper (R-Kans.) and former Senator L. J. Dickinson, Iowa Republican who is trying to come back, had deserted the farmers.

President Roosevelt's radio speech from Hyde Park, N. Y., at 6:30 p. m. (C.S.T.) tomorrow will be the first high point of the Democratic campaign. He is expected to advocate the election of the New York Democratic ticket. There was a belief in some quarters that he might limit his references to other states to an appeal for election of "liberal-minded" candidates.

Townsend Group Will Support Chapple and Behm on Election Day

Wisconsin Rapids—(P)—The Wisconsin Rapids Townsend club last night pledged support to independent Townsend Republican candidates for congress and senate after hearing a plea by a national vice president of the Townsend plan for their opponents.

F. W. Jeffrey, national vice president of the Townsend plan, asked the club to support Reid Murray, Waupaca, Republican nominee for congress from the Seventh district, and Alexander Wiley, Republican nominee for senate. Instead, the club pledged support to Herman Behm, Waupaca, who was defeated by Murray in the primary and John B. Chapple, Ashland, who lost in the primary to Wiley. Both Behm and Chapple are running as independent Townsend Republicans.

The endorsement followed a lively political rally which had Jeffrey, Behm and Chapple as speakers. Jeffrey attacked both Chapple and Behm. He left the hall immediately after his address and Behm took the floor, denouncing Jeffrey.

Chapple was the last speaker and added his denouncement of Jeffrey. Chapple said he had turned Jeffrey's name over to the attorney general's office and asked that Jeffrey be "put under attack and forced to tell his own reasons for the actions he has taken."

Missing Youth Found Working in Richmond

Richmond, Va. — (P)— Detective Captain A. S. Wright said today that Sydney E. Martin, Jr., missing 20-year-old son of a wealthy Philadelphia family, had been found in Richmond working for an electrical contractor.

The detective said he learned only today that the boy for whom the Philadelphia family had expressed grave concern was boarding at the home of "a Mrs. Otis" in Northside Richmond and was working in a midtown shop.

Wright said he had not determined how long Martin had been in Richmond.

Republican Gains in Congress Would be First Since 1930

Washington —(P)— If the Republicans make gains in next Tuesday's election, it will be the first reversal of national political trends since the Democrats captured control of the house in 1930.

Even the most ambitious claims of Republicans leaders have not indicated they expect to wipe out Democratic majorities in congress. Their expressed hope is to show a definite change in popular opinion by electing at least eight more governors and senators and seventy or eighty more representatives.

These figures are disputed by Democratic leaders, although most of the latter readily say the Republicans may gain twenty or twenty-five house seats and two or three senators and governors.

Since 1930 Democratic control has spread constantly until the present congress has the greatest number of Democrats and the smallest number of Republicans in history.

Democratic Gains

When the Republican administration of Herbert Hoover began in 1929, his party held 55 senate seats and the Democrats held 38. The Republicans controlled 61 per cent of the house.

In the mid-administration election of 1930, the Democrats picked up nine seats in the senate and 54 in the house. That gave them a bare house majority. In the senate the Republicans retained a majority of one.

In 1932 the Roosevelt landslide gave the Democrats 12 more senate seats—a majority of 23. At the same time they gained 84 house seats, thereby obtaining an overwhelming majority of 198 in the house.

33 Governorships

Growing Democratic popularity also was reflected that year in gubernatorial returns. In 1930 the Democrats had captured seven governorships in addition to the eighteen they already held. In 1932 they added thirteen more, raising the total to thirty-eight, compared with nine for the Republicans and one—Minnesota—for the Farmer-Laborites.

The 1934 election brought further Democratic gains in congress, while the number of governorships held firm. In the senate the Democrats picked up 11 seats and in the house they won nine more.

The same trend continued two years ago, when President Roosevelt was reelected by the largest majority ever accorded a presidential candidate. The Democrats, who already had 70 seats in the senate, picked up 5 more and added 11 members to their 322 in the house.

As of today the Democrats have 11 senators to the Republicans' 15, and 328 representatives to the Republicans' 88.

and democracy and that America now stands at the crossroads.

"We must stop the application of false economic philosophy," he said. "You can't dig yourself out of a hole."

"There is no money in the pension jar. The old people have been let down and youth has no chance. The present administration is dissipating the country's moral and financial resources."

"We must have clear thinking and right acting. We must have a clear-cut program that takes care of our old and gives youth an opportunity. The present administration has not done the job."

Hell made "application for the office of governor" in an informal manner that became jovial when he spoke of his rise as a business man and belittling as he referred to his opponent, Governor LaFollette.

He said the state has had too much of a young man trying to run Wisconsin by a formula. Labor and industry must understand each other and be friends, he said, adding that if elected he would try to bring back to the state industries driven out by excess taxes.

It is a mistake to tax an instrument that provides work, he explained adding that the taxes are paid through the workers employed. Prosperity depends upon industry, he said.

Employs 2,000 Men

"A man approached me the other day and asked me why I wanted to be governor. He said I was a millionaire, a person who 'robbed' the people and a bad man. I employ 2,000 men and if there were 2,000 other men like me in the state of Wisconsin there wouldn't be so many on relief and the WPA projects."

This was typical of the remarks made by Hell in speaking of his business life. He said he was born in Europe and came to America when four years old with his parents. They resided on a farm and he earned his first suit of clothes by picking potatoes for 1 cent a bushel, he said.

He referred to Governor LaFollette as "the boy" who, he said, was reared on funds received from the public.

Labeling charges made against his honesty as falsehoods, Hell said he was a religious man and had never done any man wrong. There have been things said about my expense account, but I have the money bag, he said.

"LaFollette, emperor of Wisconsin, spent $31,000 for traveling expenses last year. He has taken up courses in dictatorship in European countries and already has his flag."

Discusses Spending

Johns discussed spending and reciprocal trade treaties. Prosperity can be brought back only through restoration of confidence to take the idle dollars out of the banks and put them to work, he said.

"The nation's debt is climbing so fast that every second the government is spending $244 while taking in $189. If this continues it may mean inflation, and you remember

Communists Sue Chicago Paper Charge Article Harmed Business and Social Relations

Chicago —(P)— A $250,000 suit charging the Chicago Tribune with libeling the Communist party was filed in circuit court yesterday by two members of the party.

The plaintiffs, Elmer Johnson and Samuel Hammersmark, stated an article published Sunday injured their business and social relations.

The defendants included the Tribune company, Colonel Robert R. McCormick, publisher, and Edward S. Beck, assistant editor-in-chief.

Colonel McCormick also was named a defendant in a $500,000 libel suit filed yesterday at Minneapolis by Abraham Harris, editor of the Minnesota Leader, Farmer-Labor publication, and a leader in Governor Elmer A. Benson's reelection campaign.

Harris' suit, alleging defamation as the result of a book "Communists or Catpaws," also named as defendants Ray P. Chase, former Minnesota state auditor, author of the book, F. M. Steiner, Minneapolis business man and capitalist, E. L. Somerville, president of the Minneapolis Real Estate Board, and the Bureau of Engraving, a Minneapolis publishing firm. The book purports to show Communist activities within the Farmer-Labor party.

As of today the Democrats have 11 senators to the Republicans' 15, and 328 representatives to the Republicans' 88.

What happened to the mark when that happened in Germany."

He said grain, cheese and other products are being shipped into the county while the government pays the farmer not to grow crops. He attacked the Oleo law as being "vicious," and declared that it is costing Wisconsin thousands of dollars because the southern market has been lost.

Calling his Progressive opponent a "rubber stamp," Johns said "Congressman Schneider has us into this mess and now Cashman (Democratic candidate for congress) wants to keep us in it."

Emmer Grounke presided at the meeting and the speakers were introduced by Elmer Honkamp, Eighth district Republican chairman. County candidates were introduced. Guests introduced were Mrs. Jennie Thomas, Sheboygan, national committeewoman, and Dr. F. L. Gullickson, Milwaukee, state chairman.

ground instructor, John Virga, 34, a clothes presser, and Demetrius Gula, 26, a pinball operator.

Acting Police Captain Samuel Mooney said all three admitted they had police records.

The men were held without bail after being arraigned on kidnapping charges in connection with the ransom abductions of Benjamin Farber, 33, of Brighton Beach, and Normal Miller 19, of Brooklyn.

Farber was kidnaped last April 18 and released on $1,800 ransom after an original demand of $25,000. Miller was kidnaped on July 24 and released on $13,000 ransom after being held 22 hours. The kidnapers first demanded $200,000 for his safe return.

Federal agents said a fourth member of the gang was Joseph Sacoda, 27, named by F.B.I. Chief J. Edgar Hoover as the actual slayer in the Fried case. He is now in Sing Sing for parole violation.

Police meanwhile pushed their search in the Ukrainian lodge basement where gruesome discoveries pointed to the possibility that the place was used as a gangland execution chamber.

Police said stains apparently made by blood had been found on a coal chute leading to the cellar. They also announced discovery of a secret room adjoining the basement and expressed belief it might have been used as a gangland execution chamber.

Lieutenant Thomas Curley reported finding a machine gun hidden in the room and said walls of the chamber, were marked by about 15 holes seemingly made by bullets.

In a second hidden room, Lieutenant Curley said, a box containing a number of counterfeit federal revenue stamps and liquor bottle labels had been discovered.

As the search progressed, Assistant District Attorney Jacob J. Rosenblum continued a steady questioning of the three men.

Rosenblum said the men would be held on double kidnap charges in two other abductions but that no action would be taken against them in the Fried case pending completion of the police basement search and a laboratory analysis of the bones.

Dismiss Jury When It Fails to Bring in Verdict in $500 Suit

Judge Thomas H. Ryan discharged a municipal court jury Tuesday night when it failed to reach a verdict in the $500 damage suit of Mrs. Mary Vander Loos, 326 S. Summit street, against Harvey Hansen, 322 S. Summit street. The jury took the case at noon and failed to agree up to 10 o'clock at night when it was discharged.

Mrs. Vander Loos sought damages for an alleged attack upon her by Hansen in a dispute over a lot line on their properties July 29.

NEW HIGH-TEST OXYDOL

NOW WASHES WHITE CLOTHES UP TO 15% WHITER!

Read how an amazing new ingredient makes New High-Test OXYDOL give whiter washes than ever — yet keeps it safe for washable colors, fabrics, and hands

Here it is — the amazing new kind of laundry soap that's creating such a furor all over America today — new High-Test OXYDOL! The soap that washes white clothes up to 15% whiter than old-fashioned bar and package soaps!

When first you try new High-Test Oxydol, we believe you'll be utterly amazed. For it contains a new ingredient that soap experts have been working on for years.

This remarkable ingredient not only multiplies washing power — but also keeps High-Test Oxydol safe for washable colors — safe for fabrics and hands. You'll find that even gaily colored prints come through wash after wash amazingly brilliant and fresh.

But that's not all. Tests against old-style package soaps show that High-Test Oxydol gives up to TWICE THE SUDS even in hard water. Rich, hard-working suds that stand up 2 to 3 times longer.

In tub washing, these rich suds soak dirt loose in as little as ten minutes. No back-breaking scrubbing to sap your strength and shorten the life of your clothes. In fact, clothes washed this scrubless way last 2 to 3 times longer from the standpoint of washday wear and tear compared with old-style methods.

In washing machines, women say that new High-Test Oxydol is little short of a miracle! Its richer-than-ever suds soak dirt loose while the washer is running — give you DOUBLE-ACTION wash.

New High-Test Oxydol is easy on household budgets, too. Each cup goes up to one-fourth again as far — does up to 25% more work — than the same amount of old-fashioned soap. So it's a grand money-saver, too.

Get a package of new High-Test OXYDOL today. You'll find it for sale at all dealers in the familiar orange and blue bull's-eye package. (No change in the box — the difference is in the soap.) Once you try it, we believe you'll never go back again to less modern soaps! Procter & Gamble.

GIVES UP TO TWICE THE SUDS of Less Modern Soaps in Hard Water

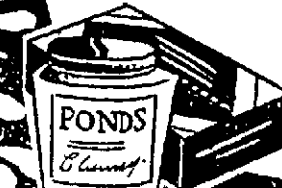

Even hardest water can't squelch the amazing suds-making power of new High-Test OXYDOL. Tests show that it gives up to TWICE THE SUDS of old-style bar and package soaps even in hard water — suds that actually stand up 2 to 3 times longer! Unbelievable? Try it and see for yourself!

CLOTHES LAST 2 TO 3 TIMES LONGER When Washed the High-Test OXYDOL Way

The picture at the left represents a new sheet (highly magnified) scrubbed 84 times with old-style soap. Note fraying in weave due to hard rubbing and scrubbing. : : on the right, a similar new sheet, washed 84 times without scrubbing, the new High-Test OXYDOL way. Note difference in "washday wear and tear."

YOUR DEALER NOW HAS THE NEW HIGH-TEST OXYDOL, THE SAME ORANGE AND BLUE BULL'S-EYE PACKAGE... THE ONLY CHANGE IS IN THE SOAP!

WAS THE GOVERNOR DICTATORIAL?

Governor LaFollette has been subjected to strong criticism in this campaign upon the general ground that he has assumed power and authority ordinarily to be seen in dictatorial forms and that he has exercised the authority properly belonging to him in a high-handed and arbitrary fashion and without regard to the rights of coordinate branches of the government.

These charges are based in large part upon two situations, one having relation to the appointment of members of boards, principally the Public Service Commission, and the other relating to the special session of the legislature in 1937.

As to the first proposition the governor appointed a man to the Public Service Commission when a vacancy occurred. This man was refused confirmation by the senate. About two years passed during which the governor failed to make another appointment. But again the same man was proposed and again the senate declined to confirm him.

On the face of things this makes a serious charge against the governor in that it was his duty within a reasonable time to fill these appointments and particularly on the Public Service Commission where the work is so heavy.

The necessity of confirmation by the senate is one of the checks of our democratic system. It cannot be avoided upon the mere statement, however just, that the senate was wrong. Such a debate is futile. The senate had the authority to confirm or reject. That authority must be respected.

Commissions only limp along when under inadequate personnel. The public business, and therefore the people, suffer. The governor's friends claim that he has been motivated only by the desire to place supremely qualified men in certain critical positions. In support of this it may be said that he has seemingly striven to obtain efficiency and stressed the imperative necessity of inducing able men to take important posts which is the best way to make them function.

Nevertheless, ours is not a one man government, and when the law, as it does, gives the senate confirmatory power it is the duty of the chief executive when an appointee is rejected to submit others within a reasonable time.

The next charge is that the American system of deliberative legislation was choked out of existence at the special session in 1937.

That session lasted 32 days. It passed 15 bills. The regular session which had taken up the fore part of the same year lasted 171 days and passed 432 bills.

This special session was organized under an amended set of rules aimed largely at preventing the dilly-dally methods that had attended consideration of the same bills at the regular session. These bills had been shunted around the town much like that box car in the recent San Francisco labor dispute. At the regular session the legislature met four days a week for an average of two hours a day. The rules at the special session ordered the devotion of eight hours a day for five days a week to pending business.

So far there is nothing to complain about. But the rules further limited committee hearings to two days upon a bill. The reasonableness of the limit thus imposed may be debatable but even if too short it does not impress one as evidence of highhandedness in view of the long consideration given nearly all of these measures at the regular session.

The deliberation in our legislative halls, and upon which sound legislation depends for its very life, is capable of abuse. There is no great legislative body but provides limits upon debate. Those who complain loudest have the purpose quite often of losing the privilege of argument to kill a bill.

Our courts, in the most serious matters of life, limit argument. The supreme court of Wisconsin has a scale fixing the time each side may use and depending upon the character of the business and the amount involved. Our circuit courts, even in murder cases, fix the amount of time that may be consumed in jury argument.

We have not pretended to give all the details attending that session nor the many facts we observed going through the records. Our search has failed to reveal any genuine denial of the American system by the governor or through his influence. Rather do we believe that men will be convinced upon reading that record that the purpose at Madison was to thwart anyone from hamstringing a session of the legislature, to give all involved a fair chance to be heard but to prevent anyone individually or by group contriving to defeat final vote upon the matters actually before the legislature for vote.

A GENIUS OF THE LONG AGO

Leonardo da Vinci is known to most people as the man who painted "Mona Lisa" and "The Last Supper" but to the historian he is held as one of the geniuses of all time.

It is strange how many men in the 15th century towered so high above the ordinary run. At the time that Columbus was sailing Leonardo had already risen to eminence.

The publication of the notebooks kept by this energetic Italian discloses how his mind grappled not only with the problems of the painter and sculptor but with engineering, architecture, music, medicine and the arts of war.

Leonardo hated war, describing it as "that most bestial madness" based upon his conclusion that "it is an infinitely atrocious thing to take away the life of a man," but it was all about him and when the duke who ruled his life directed him to build forts or devise methods of destroying others he had no choice but to comply.

Thus he wrote of employing poison gas, and then, like an humanitarian, he actually drew up plans for a mask as a protection against it. He drew the sketch of an armor-covered fighting car, the first ancestor of the modern tank and he devised plans for a submarine. It seems ludicrous but while Columbus was buffeting head winds on his way to the Azores Leonardo was brilliantly outlining the necessary factors in creating a flying machine.

How wretched such a man of genius must have been to live at a period when all the powers and all the arts of men were devoted to force and pretense.

His natural distaste for what he saw all about him had a benumbing effect upon his inventive powers for in relation to the submarine he feared to bring it forth lest it would be used to destroy men and wrote:

"How by an appliance many are able to remain for some time under water and how and why I do not describe my method of remaining under water for as long a time as I can remain without food; and this I do not publish or divulge on account of the evil nature of men who would practice assassinations at the bottom of the seas by breaking the ships in their lowest parts and sinking them together with the crews who are in them."

This observation may be placed along another written by this incomparable man, "When besieged by ambitious tyrants I find a means of offense and defense in order to preserve the chief gift of Nature, which is liberty."

Cellini in his diary recalls that Francis I said of Leonardo that "no other man had come into the world who had attained so great a knowledge" which, if true, only signifies, too, the depths of his misery at his surroundings for they suffer most under despotism who feel most for liberty.

AN ATTACK FROM MARS

Is not the dramatization of the "War of the Worlds" a little overplayed in the claim that mass hysteria resulted from this wholly fantastic presentation?

What was there worse in this radio play than Gang Busters or any other spooky Poe story that might be put on over the air? Shall the radio be limited to political speeches and bedtime stories?

It would seem that the greater the exaggeration the more certain the conclusion of unreality.

In a world that is laden with fiction writers dramatists stand out only when they are able to originate some new idea with which to prod the public's jaded feelings.

The thought that the American people can be frightened into a panic by a story so chimerical leaves nothing to the presumption that the vast majority recognize the impossible when it is presented to them.

The broadcasting company involved is to be highly commended for its constantly repeated statement before, during and after the drama that it was fiction pure and simple. To condemn it because some people took a few scattered sentences as an announcement of doom would be even more fantastic than the play itself.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

THERE ARE A FEW SONGS

There are few songs of birds to cheer us now That Autumn trails brown robes across the hill. The choir has left its place upon the bough. And the wren house is hanging, lone and still. The sun gleams faintly on the shattered vine That holds its ancient place upon the wall. A few late flowers bloom, but the design Of winter traces lightly over all.

Autumn has no bright songs, but memory Hums on the hilltop, as the same sun slips Down westward paths, and there is melody In the wind's whistle on her russet lips. And in my heart, where Autumn comes with serene

And biting breath, although the birds have gone, A cricket chirps a song of hope and cheer, And eastern skies hold promises of dawn. (Copyright, 1938)

DALE HARRISON'S In Old New York

New York—Razzing the reviewers has become one of the gentler forms of amusement when good fellows get together in the taverns. Over 3 a. m. milk and sandwiches, the fault-finders are saying that the art of theatre criticism as presently practiced in New York is not too hot.

Producers especially are crying into their beer. They lament that their investments in new productions, often running into small fortunes, are jeopardized by the reviewers' rather consistently unfavorable notices.

They point out that many of the biggest hits Broadway ever has known were sneered at by critics, "Abie's Irish Rose" being the classic instance. Even "Tobacco Road," well past its 2,000th performance, left the critics only lukewarm.

The current example of the reviewers' failure to appraise. Art properly, the critics of the critics say, is the Olsen and Johnson nonsense unaccountably titled "Hell-a-Poppin." This, the reviewers wrote in their learned lingo, was pretty bad.

It happened, however, that the local columnists—who lack the learning of the paid critics—laughed themselves unconscious at the show, and said so in their very best two-syllable words in their columns. For some strange reason, theatregoers paid more attention to the columnists than they did to the critics, and the payoff is that "Hell-a-Poppin," sneered at by the reviewers and cheered by the columnists, is No. 1 on the Broadway Hit Parade.

It was Charley Adler, "the with the ears" of the Yacht Club Boys, who recalled to me that criticism reached its all time high in Kansas City several years ago when Goodman Ace, now on the radio, wrote reviews there.

"Ace was a constructive critic," Adler pointed out. "He wrote with a kindly pen, pointing out flaws as he saw them, and giving constructive ideas for improvement, especially for vaudeville acts. It is a fact that more acts were perfected in Kansas City than in any other place in the country. That was because the criticisms by Goodman Ace had so many constructive suggestions that it was a simple thing to follow them and get a much improved act as a result."

The Yacht Club Boys, who have just finished a picture in Hollywood, are the funniest foursome in town. They tell you, in song, that:

"To us it's just the same old thing, Get up, get Dressed, get Drunk and sing. But don't believe a word of it. The rhymes that roll so glibly from their lips don't happen that easily. They write their own material, and are constantly turning out new numbers."

Ask them who writes the song—whether it is Charley Adler, George Kelly, Billy Mann or Jimmy Kern—and the answer is: "Kern does. He owns the typewriter."

Doing their act, the boys stand in two rows rather than in a single line as do other quartets. "Our first engagement," Kern explains, "was at the old Simpson. There wasn't room for us to stand in line, so we had a box built. Mann and I stood in front. Kelly and Adler stood behind us on the box. We figured the farther from the audience we kept Kelly and Adler, the better for everybody."

"We were making a picture," Kern recalled. "We were all in a boat which was supposed to tip over and dump us into Malibu Lake. I can swim pretty good. Mann can keep afloat in a pinch. Adler can go ten feet before starting to drown, and Kelly can't swim a stroke."

"It happened that at that particular time Kelly and I weren't speaking. We had a mad on. So the boat goes over, and Mann and Adler start thrashing for shore. I'm doing all right, but Kelly is well on the way to drowning. He gets hold of the overturned boat, and he sees me nearby. I'm ready to rescue the louse if he says the word. Do you know, that guy was so stubborn that he declined to speak to me, even to say 'Help'."

"I said to myself: 'All right, you stubborn ox, drown.' I figured maybe I'd wait until he was unconscious, then drag him in, although at the moment it seemed hardly worth the effort. However, a rescue party arrived and Kelly, as you see, is still alive—if you can call a fellow with a face like that alive."

A Bystander In Washington

Washington—With so much dread over what will happen when Japan completes its conquest of China and when German trade pressure moves in on South America it should be interesting to remember that the United States has one vitally vulnerable spot which for one reason or another it cannot afford to ignore.

That is Canada. Canada is a sovereign (almost) and independent (almost) member of the British Commonwealth of Nations and as such might be expected, in a sense, to look out for its own defense. But Canadian officials are not coy about these things. They frankly recognize that the Dominion has only 11,000,000 population and cannot afford to build up defenses sufficient to keep out a first class invader.

They Bank on U. S.
For the United States, however, the condition is a horse of another color. Canada's lack of serious coast defense leaves a door wide open into the Yankee interior, either by way of Vancouver on the west or St. Lawrence on the east.

What defense, then, has Canada? Ian Mackenzie, Canadian defense minister, discussing the 1938 military budget in the last Canadian Parliament in May, explained it. "I think it might be reasonable to assume," he said, "that in a major conflagration we should have friendly fleets upon the Pacific Ocean. . . . There is no commitment or understanding in regard to these matters, but at this same time I think reasonable assumptions are possible."

F. D. R.'s Gesture
As to the Atlantic side, he said the "main deterrent to attack from Europe is the British fleet in North Atlantic waters." Just how happy Canada is now about the security offered by the North Atlantic fleet is another question, since the British "capitulation" to German demands at Munich.

But three months after Mackenzie publicly recognized the United States as one of its defenders, President Roosevelt, similarly recognizing the situation publicly. In a speech on his visit to Canada in August in connection with dedication of an international bridge at Thousand Islands he said the U. S. "will not stand idly by if domination of Canadian soil is threatened by any other empire."

They Work Together
It is a safe enough guess that regardless of any lack of "understanding" as mentioned by Mackenzie there is sub-rosa cooperation between U. S. and Canadian military and naval experts, particularly with regard to exchange of information which would be useful when any fighting begins.

Beyond that the situation may never be improved. There was a time when the United States looked upon Canada as its next territorial conquest. It was the big prize of the war of 1812 if we had won the war decisively. Again we looked longingly upon Canada after the Civil war as a recompense from England for her careless neutrality. Probably not until the time of the World war did Canadians give up a real fear that the United States intended some time to "take over."

It's Odd But It's Science

BY HOWARD W. ELAKESLEE

AP Science Editor
New York—The ice age may have been caused by a hotter sun and higher temperatures than we have today.

This explanation is offered by an eminent English geologist, Sir George Simpson. Since it is hard to believe, he shows it happening in his laboratory, in small bottles. The bottles are about half full of water. Their necks are refrigerators, with temperatures imitating mild cold at the North Pole or on mountain tops.

The lower portions of the bottles, where the water stands, represent the earth, with temperatures about like those at sea level.

If Sir George heats the bottom of a bottle, ice in large quantities forms in the neck, where the temperature is freezing. The ice comes from vapor rising into the neck.

More ice forms in bottles whose water is heated than in those kept at a warm room temperature. If the water is heated too hot, no ice forms in the neck.

This, says Sir George, shows what well may have happened. In the ice age temperatures were enough higher than now to send extra quantities of water vapor into the air. This meant more snow on mountain tops and in polar regions. The snow was so deep it never completely melted, but always increased, resulting in glaciers which finally spread over huge regions.

Budding Boom for McNutt Puts Spotlight on Indiana

RAYMOND E. WILLIS
Editor wars on New Deal

This is the seventh in a series of articles describing campaigns of national significance.

Indianapolis—(AP)—Political observers have put Indiana's election returns on their "must" list. The outcome of the Republican-Democratic battle for one senatorship and 12 house seats could offset the flowering of the Presidential boom for the former Indiana governor, handsome Paul V. McNutt.

In the headline race, Raymond E. Willis, weekly newspaper editor of Angola, Republican, challenges Frederick Van Nuy, Democrat, who wants to keep his U. S. Senatorship.

McNutt, now American high commissioner to the Philippines, is credited with having kept a tight hold on the reins of his state's Democratic machine, fashioned during his governorship. A sweeping Democratic victory in Indiana would be hailed by McNutt followers as adding new luster to his reputation.

A Republican victory would tend to dampen hopes that the former national commander of the American Legion was on the road to the White House.

Peace With Van Nuy
Regarded as evidence of McNutt's aspirations for the presidential nomination was the sudden smothering of a feud which might have split the party in Indiana.

Senator Van Nuy's determined opposition to the President's court reorganization plan brought talk of reprisal by state Democratic leaders. When Van Nuy said he would run as an independent, opposition quickly wilted. He was nominated in convention by acclamation.

Willis, his Republican opponent, is a blunt homespun campaigner. He attacks New Deal policies as ruinous to business, as tending toward dictatorship.

Republicans count on low crop prices for "a general swing away from the New Deal."

FAMILY FORMULARY
(Recipes from the new edition of "Dr. Brady's Medicine Cupboard")

In a well conducted household the medicine cupboard should contain, besides the essential or emergency remedies already suggested, certain surgical supplies itemized below and accurately formulas or recipes for all remedies any member of the family is likely to use. In almost every mailbag I find a letter or two asking for the formula for some simple remedy the reader has used with satisfaction and wishes to prepare or have prepared, gain but—it is so easy to forget—the reader can't be sure about the ingredients.

Surgical Supplies: Two gauze bandages 1 1/2 inches; two gauze bandages 2 1/2 inches; one all cotton washable elastic bandage 3 inches; spool of adhesive plaster 1 inch; four ounce carton absorbent cotton; three sealed envelopes sterile gauze.

I believe that is sufficient to cover all ordinary household emergencies.

Soothing, protective salve for irritated or painful bites, stings, burns, wounds, herpes (cold sores), etc., may be kept in the medicine cupboard in collapsible tube. The simplest of these is a one-ounce tube of sterile petrolatum, useful to prevent dressings from sticking to a wound or sore. Oil Ointment is another which gives gratifying relief to smarting and irritating bites, stings, burns or sores. It is made up as follows:

Boric acid powder, 5 grains; Benzoin acid powder, 5 grains; Zinc stearate powder, 20 grains; Zinc peroxide powder, 20 grains; Zinc oxide powder, 60 grains; Thymol, Eucalyptol, Menthol and Pine Oil of each one drop or one grain; Oil of Rosemary, 3 drops; Lanolin and Petrolatum (of each enough to make ONE OUNCE of ointment). To be kept in collapsible tube labeled "Oil Ointment."

Incidentally this salve is suitable to apply to skin irritations or eruptions in general, such as eczema and impetigo.

Tannic Paste may be kept in a collapsible tube in the medicine cupboard, for the emergency treatment of burns, sunburn and herpes or "cold sores" on lips or skin. It is composed of:

Chlorbutanol, 24 grains; Tannic acid, 48 grains; Unguentum (simple ointment base) enough to make ONE OUNCE.

Chlorbutanol is otherwise known as chlorotone, a derivative of chloroform.

Your Birthday

"SCORPIO"

If November 4 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:45 a. m. to 12:45 p. m., from 2:45 to 4:45 p. m., and from 8:45 to 10:45 p. m. The danger periods are from 8:45 to 10:45 a. m., from 6:45 to 8:45 p. m., and from 10:45 p. m. until midnight.

This ought to be an unusually good day for making friendly overtures, especially in the way of patching up misunderstandings. This should be a favorable time also for negotiating numerous types of commercial deals and forming new business affiliations. You may have to display your firmness of character by taking a definite stand if you feel someone is trying to take an unfair advantage of you.

If you are being subjected to unjustified threats, it sometimes pays to bluff, the person making them. It will be good judgment this day to get a confirmation in writing of any agreement involving money. You must not be hesitant in pushing your own price, but do it tactfully. Social gatherings probably will help you win somebody's influence that can help you in many ways.

Married and engaged couples, and those who feel an urge to marry will be wise not to use snap judgment in arriving at any conclusion this day.

If a woman and November 4 is your birthday, you may be too impetuous for your own good. You may find, in time, it is better to be considered overly conservative than to be classified as extremely radical. One of your gifts may be a high degree of versatility. Music, singing, painting, acting, writing or work of an artistic nature are apt to be among the best for you to engage in. You may have taken a long time in selecting a husband, but eventually you will consider it time well spent.

The child born on November 4, generally has an ideal childhood, an interesting youth, and a prosperous future. This youngster is likely to surprise friends and relatives by the ease with which it will achieve success.

If a man and November 4 is your natal day, you may be rather reckless in expressing your opinion. Matters of a scientific nature should interest you. Books can be your best companions, and the knowledge you gain from them in all likelihood will turn out to your greatest asset. Work of an executive nature, as well as writing, acting, selling, manufacturing, or banking may enable you to realize your ambition.

Election Results Next Tuesday May Decide '40 Issues

Third Term Question May Be Settled, Lawrence Says

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington—With a calmness which in itself may be an augury of well-defined opinions about to be expressed by the American people, the national election next week will produce consequences on public policy as well as on the political future of President Roosevelt and his administration.

Lawrence
If the elections show a substantial sweep in favor of the Republicans, and someone like Thomas E. Dewey in New York or Robert Taft in Ohio makes a real showing in votes, the candidate for 1940 of the Republican party undoubtedly will be picked from such a group of victors.

Like the supporters of President Roosevelt will feel more than ever confirmed in their belief that he must make the race in 1940 for a third term in order to preserve what they conceive to be a "liberal" administration with reforms which might be frustrated by an opposing party in power.

Third Term?
But, supposing the Democrats fail to lose many seats and the election is interpreted as being more than a holding of their lines. Would choice? Wouldn't members of his party who are themselves candidates for 1940 feel that he now should step aside and give them a chance? Wouldn't there be a revival of the slogan expressed by Woodrow Wilson that "there is no indispensable man"? It was uttered in Mr. Wilson's speech of acceptance in 1912 and was aimed at Theodore Roosevelt, who had been nominated for a third term, though four years had elapsed since his previous service.

Forecasts of what the after-election attitude of the political leaders will be are being made now, but they presuppose a confidence about the general nature of the outcome. Inside the Democratic party, there is a feeling that the Republicans will gain more than 25 seats and possibly 50. There will be deep disappointment in the Democratic ranks if the number of Republicans added to the house exceeds 35, because, in their inner hearts, the Democrats expect to hold the contest down to 35 and possibly 25. As for the Republicans, they will rejoice at anything over 35 and they really expect an increase of 50 or more in the house.

HUNTERS KILL TWO BRUSH WOLVES

Two brush wolves were shot by Warren Wing, Caledonia farmer, and his son, Martin, Sunday after about 30 sheep had been killed in the neighborhood of the Wing farm. The hunters used dogs to track down their quarry and claimed bounties of $20 apiece from the state conservation department. Grouped around the wolves in the above picture are three Waupaca county officials. They are, left to right, L. J. Steiger, county clerk; Paul Roman, district attorney, and George Whalen, conservation warden.

Effect On Leaders
The effect on the Republican leaders is going to be pronounced if the election fails to give them more than 30 or 40 seats. The argument that was advanced by Republican members of congress themselves before the campaign got under way was that no alternative platforms or policies were needed and that the Glenn Frank committee had better postpone its recommendations for a platform until after the 1938 elections were out of the way. A small but liberal-minded group inside the Republican party yielded to such expediency strategy with reluctance. They had felt that the wise course was to express a mili-

Proclamation on Legion Drive Is Issued by Mayor

Membership Campaign
Will be Climaxed on Armistice Day

Mayor John Goodland, Jr., today issued a proclamation announcing the membership drive of the Oney Johnston post of the American Legion which opens Friday and continues through Armistice day, Nov. 11.

The legion, along with posts throughout the state, will intensify its efforts to sign members during the week preceding Armistice day. Last year the Oney Johnston post ranked second in the state in membership, next to Milwaukee.

Airplanes will cover the state the morning of Armistice day, picking up the membership cards and carrying them to the department headquarters at Milwaukee.

Following are excerpts from Mayor Goodland's proclamation: "I have been asked to issue a proclamation announcing the campaign and have so indicated my willingness to issue such a proclamation. I believe in the American Legion and am glad to be able to give definite evidence of my support.

"To those of you who are eligible for membership in the American Legion, I deem it a privilege to hold such membership. I would hold it very highly if it were mine. I offer my support and encouragement to the campaign and trust that every eligible ex-service man will affiliate himself with the legion during this campaign.

"You will no doubt be asked to join the ranks of the Oney Johnston post. I certainly hope you may see fit to do so. In my mind, there is no organization to compare with the American Legion. I urge the eligibles in this community to join the legion and assist the organization in promoting peace and good will throughout the nation."

For the foregoing reasons, the so-called off year election will be of far-reaching significance to the future development of affairs and candidates inside the Republican party as well as inside the Democratic party. It will be a milestone in political history.

"You will no doubt be asked to join the ranks of the Oney Johnston post. I certainly hope you may see fit to do so. In my mind, there is no organization to compare with the American Legion. I urge the eligibles in this community to join the legion and assist the organization in promoting peace and good will throughout the nation."

For the foregoing reasons, the so-called off year election will be of far-reaching significance to the future development of affairs and candidates inside the Republican party as well as inside the Democratic party. It will be a milestone in political history.

Couple Has Good Chance for Happiness Without Children

BY DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix—What chance of happiness is there in a childless marriage?

Answer: It depends altogether upon the individual. There are men and women who have the paternal and maternal instincts so strongly developed in them that they are utterly miserable without children. Life to them has no meaning without little arms around their necks, baby heads snuggled upon their breasts. No love from their mates, no tenderness, no kindness atones to them for the lack of children. Their houses are empty and lonely if there is no patter of little feet on the floor. There is nothing to strive for or work for if there are no sons and daughters on whom to lavish the fruits of their success.

It is because children are such a necessity to the happiness of so many people that the baby problem should be frankly and honestly discussed before marriage and settled. No man or woman has the right to marry if he or she knows he or she is unwilling to have children or cannot have children, if the other one desires a family.

There are many men and women who have no special affection for children and who do not desire to be bothered with them. Other cases in which there are hereditary taints that they feel that they have no right to pass on to their offspring. Still other who are so poor that they feel it would be an injustice to bring children into the world to whom they could give nothing but starvation and hardships. These cases are automatically settled themselves, but they should be freed of the burden of marriage instead of afterward, so that neither party may feel aggrieved or defrauded.

But if a couple only discover after marriage that their home must be childless, certainly the only thing for them to do is either to reconcile themselves to the situation, or else to adopt the baby fate has denied them. Many people do this and seem to feel an affection for the child as warm and satisfying as if it were their own.

Unless either the man or the woman has an actual obsession about children, there is no reason for them to be unhappy. Nor, as a matter of fact, are they unhappy as a general thing. On the contrary, the old theory that children draw a husband and wife closer together does not always work out in real life. In most cases it has the opposite effect. Particularly are women so likely to become absorbed in their children that they lose interest in their husbands and cease to try to make themselves attractive to them or to amuse them.

In many and many a case the first baby puts the father's nose permanently out of joint and sends him roaming in search of some woman who isn't so much taken up with listening to the baby coo that she hasn't time to step out with him or doll herself up for him.

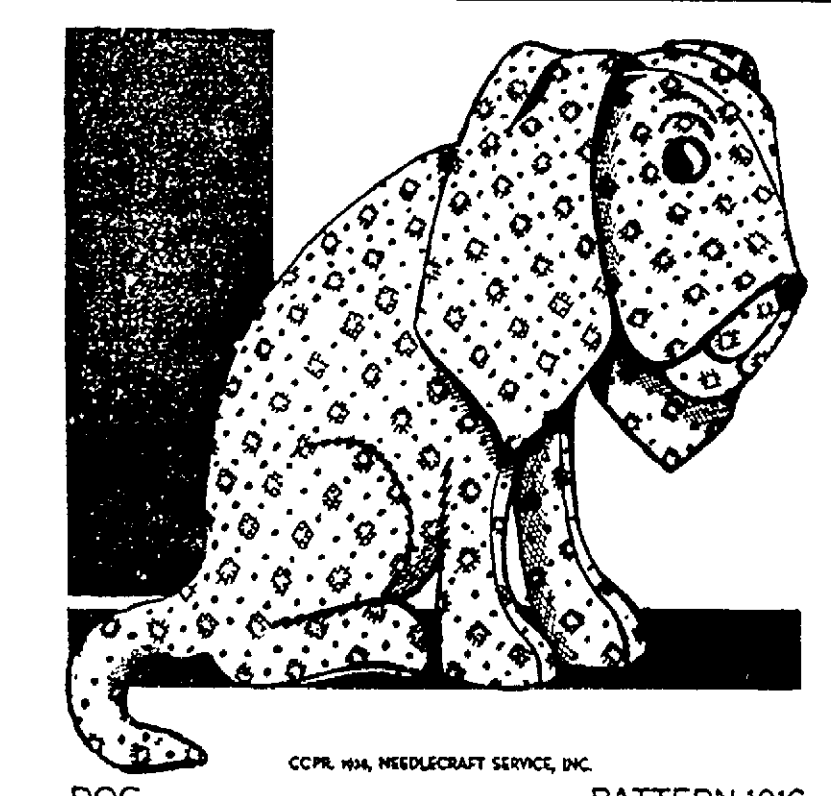

The childless woman, having nothing to mother but her husband, devotes herself to spoiling him and making a fuss over him, and the childless father babbles his wife, and so all goes well. You will find that most childless couples are very devoted to each other and that they play together and chum together much more than do the couples who have children.

Dear Miss Dix—What do you think of joining the matrimonial bureaus or clubs looking for friendship or matrimony? Also, what is your opinion of answering blind ads of individuals who want to marry? Do you think these offer a proper way to get acquainted with one of the opposite sex? Do you think that it is a reliable way of coming in contact with individuals of good standing and character?

Answer: Don't you ever read the newspapers, A. B. C.? If you do you must recall that every now and then there is a story about a woman who represents herself as a good-looking widow with a nice home, who advertises for a husband with a little money and who murders the poor suckers who rise to this bait. There was one such case in which the bodies of seven men were found buried in a cellar of the woman's house.

Or you may read of men who have advertised for wives and who have sometimes married thirty or forty girls whom they rob of their savings and either desert or kill them. So it seems to me that any man or woman who had a grain of intelligence, or a drop of caution in

CASE RECORDS OF A PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane
Psychologist, Northwestern University

One of the best yardsticks for measuring a person's likelihood of success is to note whether he lives in the yesterday's or points his thinking toward the tomorrows. See how this applies to Jackson and Henry Ford in today's case.

CASE 158: Jackson B., aged 58, is a brilliant lawyer who has held several high salaried government positions. "Because of his past record and his wide circle of friends, I am getting him to join my staff of insurance salesmen," the manager of a certain agency informed me. "He wants a drawing account of $200 per month. If I give it to him, I'll have to take the gamble myself, for my company will not O. K. the deal."

"Crane, what would you advise me to do?"

DIAGNOSIS:

As a consulting psychologist, it has been my job for years to advise on such matters. My recommendations are based on facts instead of theories. In this case, therefore, my advice was not to hire this lawyer, at least if it meant advancing him a $200 per month drawing account. Why did I so recommend?

Because very few insurance salesmen amount to anything when they are as old as Jackson. There are some exceptions. I freely admit, but physicians and psychologists play the odds. When men have held loftier positions in the past, they tend to live in the past, for their present inferior job deflates their pride. We dislike painful things, so we tend to flee backward to the time when we were "big shots."

Men of 58 may have energy and health to succeed in salesmanship, but it hurts their pride to mingle with younger men on an equal footing. They try to gain prestige, therefore, by telling about their past honors and jobs and high salaries.

Would You Hire Jackson? The insurance manager grinned at the platters and dishes are placed in even spaces, and at one end there is chocolate or hot drink such as is probably a possibility of coffee, or the other end champagne or whatever is to be served in place of it. At the majority of weddings, the "champagne" is a fruit punch, served in a big glass bowl surrounded by small glasses. The wedding cake, which is the feature of the table, is usually placed at the center of the table in front of the flowers which are the centerpiece.

Marking Flat Silver Dear Mrs. Post: Last week I bought the first piece of my new sterling silver set. The pattern is ornate and there doesn't seem to be any good place to mark the pieces except on the back of the handles—which was where the jeweler suggested we place the initials. I had never heard of doing this, and would like to know what you think.

Answer: Yes, when a monogram is not essential to the decoration, silver is always marked on the back of the handles—which was where the jeweler suggested we place the initials. I had never heard of doing this, and would like to know what you think. (Copyright, 1938) sheepishly after I had told him my views, and admitted that he had already hired Jackson on a 3-month trial basis.

A few weeks later I dropped into the office, Jackson was sitting at his desk with most of the other salesmen draped around him while he regaled them with stories of the time he held a high government office.

Twice in the next three months I chanced to be in this office, and always I found Jackson telling the other men about his past life. He was an entertaining story teller, and they enjoyed it.

But at the end of the three months, Jackson had closed only one deal, and that was for just $5,000. His manager paid him $800 on a drawing account for that lone policy!

I don't cite this case to discourage men and women past 45 or 50, but to warn them against their greatest danger. Don't live in the past!

How To Succeed After Fifty We are old when our thoughts are turning backward, even if we are only 12 by the calendar. And we are young, if we keep thinking forward, even if we have celebrated our golden wedding anniversary.

It is psychologically interesting to watch Henry Ford. He seldom talks about his youth or the struggles he underwent in getting his great motor company well launched.

Ford thinks forward. He talks about the future possibilities for young men and women, as well as for our nation. He is a young man, even though he and Mrs. Ford celebrated their golden wedding last summer.

Men and women at 45 or 50 normally have the health sufficient for success in new ventures. And they have invaluable experience. But they must resist the very human tendency to flatter their vanity by thinking back to the good old days.

(Dr. Crane will give personal attention to questions on psychological problems. Write him, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a 3-cent stamped, addressed envelope or reply. Letters and readers' names are never published.)

Old Gardener Says:

Many women kill their plants by too much kindness—that is to say, they water them much more freely than is conducive to good health. Perhaps there is no other factor which is more important in the handling of house plants than the application of water. If the drainage of a plant is good, surplus water will usually run away, but in many instances the drainage is so poor that the water stands in the bottom of the pot, with the result that the soil becomes water-logged and sour. The same result will follow if water is allowed to remain in the saucers under the pots. This is a very common cause of failure with house plants, but of course is readily avoided. It is only necessary to empty the saucers an hour or two after water has been applied. The only exception, among common house plants, at least, is the aspidistra, which is popular at the Astor.

To bring out the full flavor of raisins, dates, currants or figs soak them in a little boiling water for five minutes. Two tablespoons of boiling water for each half cup of fruit will be satisfactory. (Copyright, 1938)

Players Held 3 No Trump but Failed to Bid

BY ELY CULBERTSON

LAST THURSDAY'S QUESTIONS Question 13: Only East-West was vulnerable. You are South. You deal and hold:

♠ A 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♥ None ♦ J 10 4 ♣ 2

What call do you make? Answer: You should bid four spades. This hand, powerful with spades as trump but virtually defenseless against any other suit, fairly begs for a preemptive (shut-out) bid. Your nine spades might easily take nine tricks, even if partner has only the spade J 10. By making the opponents start their bidding at the five level you will complicate their problem terrifically. (26 points demerit for passing, 18 points demerit for three no trumps, 32 points demerit for any other bid.)

Question 14: Both sides vulnerable, the bidding has proceeded:

South West North East 1 spade 2 diamonds Pass Pass ?

You are South, and hold:

♠ A K 7 3 ♥ K Q 4 6 3 ♦ A J 4 3 ♣ A J 3

What call do you make now? Answer: You should double. This is, of course, a take-out double, but partner may choose to convert it to the penalty variety by passing. If he does, you will "murder" two diamonds. Contrariwise, if partner cannot "convert" by passing, he will know you have a powerful hand, able to stand a bid in a new suit, or able to rescue such a bid with a rebid of your own. (30 points demerit for any call except a double.)

TODAY'S QUESTIONS

Question 21: Both sides vulnerable, the bidding has proceeded:

North East South West 1 heart Pass 1 spade Pass 2 hearts Pass ?

You are South and hold:

♠ A K 8 4 3 ♥ K J 4 2 ♣ J 9 3 2

What call do you make now?

Question 22: Both sides vulnerable, the bidding has proceeded:

North East South West 1 heart Pass 2 clubs Pass 2 diamonds Pass ?

You are South, and hold:

♠ 8 4 2 ♥ 7 5 3 ♦ A 5 ♣ A Q 9 8 5

What call do you make now?

TODAY'S HAND

East, dealer.

North-South vulnerable.

NORTH ♠ A Q 8 ♥ Q J 7 5 ♦ K 2 ♣ J 9 4 2

WEST ♠ 10 2 ♥ A 10 6 1 2 ♦ A 7 6 ♣ 5 5

SOUTH ♠ J 9 3 ♥ 3 ♦ A Q J 8 5 ♣ A 10 8 6

The bidding:

East Pass South Pass West 1 heart North Pass Pass Pass Pass

North-South received a real trumping on this hand. East went down only one trick. 50 points, at his one spade contract, whereas North-South could have "wrapped up" three no trump. It was proper for North to pass over West's heart bid, since he was short of the values for a takeout double. But his pass on the second round was quite another matter. Now North would be right to bid, since he had failed to respond to his partner's one-over-one. Hence South was marked with some strength, and a delayed take-out double by North would have been the height of logic. Because a player should pass once does not mean that he should keep on passing.

TOMORROW'S HAND South, dealer. Neither side vulnerable.

NORTH ♠ None ♥ A Q 5 5 ♦ A Q 7 7 ♣ A K 10 6 5 3 2

WEST ♠ A Q 8 5 4 2 ♥ K 10 6 3 ♦ 9 8 ♣ 4 7

SOUTH ♠ A 9 6 ♥ A J 8 8 ♦ A K 6 4 3 ♣ 4 8

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's column.

Write to my bridge troubles and problems to Ely Culbertson, care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

My Neighbor Says—

Ferns need proper attention and management just as much as other household matters. Water your plants regularly and well, but never allow them to stand in a pot containing stagnant water.

No ferns, aspidistras, etc., should be watered from the top of the pot. Place the plants in a vessel containing rain-water, if possible, and if this is not obtainable the water used should just have the chill off. When they have absorbed all the moisture they require put them back in clean, dry receptacles, but on no account allow them to stand for days in the water.

To give a better flavor to nuts heat them for five minutes in a moderate oven. Such heating is especially advisable in the winter time when nuts are likely to be stale.

Bettie: results will be obtained from cookies which require rolling if the dough is chilled for several hours. (Even chilling them overnight is not too long.) A thorough chilling enables the dough to be handled more easily. (Copyright, 1938)

Tests of I. Q. Aren't Final Measure of Child's Ability

BY ANGELO PATRI

Why did you leave my son back? How could he be left back when he has the I. Q. of a genius?

"David has to repeat his work in mathematics. He goes ahead with his group in the other subjects. He had to repeat the work because it was plain he had not understood it."

"But he must have understood it. He had to understand it. He has the I. Q. of a genius. Look on his card. You can't leave a genius back."

How simple life would be if one could go on that basis. You get a genius rating and up you go forever. But when was life simple? Never in school, you can be sure. There is nothing so complicated as the growth of a child unless it is his mental, moral and physical equipment. Nobody is wise enough to understand the being who is the sum of these elements, and there is no measure that can safely be accepted for them. Genius defies all measures, and so does imbecility.

The tests that give the I. Q. cannot be a final measure of a child's ability. It should never be the sole factor in making a decision about a child because it reflects the condition of the child's mind and body only of those matters it touched upon, and only at that time in his growth.

There were so many matters untouched by the tests that the result cannot be anything like a sentence pronounced by a learned judge. But some folk seem to think they are just that, a final decree from the source of all wisdom, the educational tester.

The purpose of a child, his will, his family background, his attitude, his future growth are not shown in the usual I. Q. How could they be? Will and purpose, all-powerful forces in the mental life of a child cannot be tested so as to give a result that can be taken as fixed and certain and unchanging. Attitudes change with the environment, and that changes as the child moves. Future growth is a sealed secret. But the future of a child is going to be modified, changed, set by these unmeasurable qualities.

Is an I. Q. no good for purposes of measurement? Yes, just as other ratings are useful, it is useful. But I would just as soon accept the statement of an able teacher on the abilities of a pupil as to take the I. Q. The experienced and able teacher knows what the tester and the test cannot know, the expression of the total child, mind as shown in purpose, will, attitudes and abilities.

I. Q.'s change with the changing circumstances of the child, with his growth, with the development of his powers, and also with the check of those expressions. It is possible for a child to get a high I. Q. at one period of his life and a lower one later, and the other way about. One uses these ratings judiciously, never with stern finality.

One point we must make clear and sure: It is rarely possible for a child, whose early I. Q. showed a decided deficiency, to rise beyond the class termed sub-normal. It has happened, but so rarely as to make it an exception that throws doubt on the accuracy of the first test. A mental defective is not normal, and cannot be, but often he can be trained to some useful service which makes him happy. Even here, one waits for the decision of time, and the report of the teachers who have tried to overcome the deficiency. An I. Q. is a challenge, never a sentence pronounced upon a child.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of the paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

Eye make up this season, is de-liberate. Particularly for gay parties in the evening. It is up to you to dramatize your own eye beauty by learning how and when to use the gorgeous new shades of shadow and mascara, and of keeping your eyes sparkling with vitality through body health and daily eye hygiene!

Because this seems to be a purplish season, new and exciting have made their appearance, so that you may be one startling symptom of color beneath the madda rays!

Blum, red, deep red tones with blue undertones do much to turn other eyes your way when worn with the rich wine shades. When you wear other colors you have a riotous palette of browns, and grays, and greens, and blues with which to experiment.

Begin With Brows Your brows should have a natural arch. Extend this arch by drawing tiny hair-like lines with the sharpened point of a too soft brush. Keep them lustrous by applying a spec of vaseline or brow pomade, over of coloring. And with your thumb and forefinger, pinch them into sleek formation. A good brushing daily helps to keep them busy.

Eyeshadow is meant to accent either the depth and coloring of your eyes, or the color of your look.

If you are young, and rosy quite ravishing in more delicate hues, then dramatize your daintiness, appealing self. Perhaps oil on your lids will be sufficient to get a languorous effect, but if not, select a color to enhance the color of your eyes. The cooler shades of blue, green, and gray for light eyes, or warmer tones for brown and hazel eyes.

Of course all this eye decoration will add nothing to your night beauty, unless your skin and hair are meticulously groomed!

If you have any question about eye preparations or make-up, just write me and I shall gladly advise you about them. Send a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope with your request. Address me care of this paper.

Don't Marry The Man

By Jeonne Bowman

The Characters: Kathleen Gregory: red-haired, member of the Gregory clan goes West incognito to get a right-of-way for The Golden Girl mine from MacDonald.

MacDonald: young owner of the Stubbins bar mine hates the Gregorys as much as they hate him.

Brigdet: Kathleen's companion.

Yesterday: Kathleen's father orders her home. The Gregorys are going to sweat proof of their prior claim from Balmey, then close down the MacDonald mine.

Chapter 18 "Not-So-Devised Daughter" The table cleared, dishes washed, they sat before the big stove, Kathleen leading gently to the purpose of her visit.

"The day we visited The Stubbins bar, young Donald told us he'd never give right-of-way to the Golden Girl. He seemed to want it closed down."

Balmey puffed on his clay pipe. "Thinks he does," he agreed. "He said the Gregorys couldn't force the issue because they could not prove priority of filing on the original claim. Balmey," she leaned forward, "suppose someone had proof that the Gregorys had filed first. If their vein traversed near the MacDonald mine, they could force the MacDonald to close down, couldn't they?"

"Aye," conceded Balmey, "providing they found the proof."

"But suppose they knew it existed and could force the person holding it to release it, what then?" Balmey took his pipe from his mouth. "What are you trying to tell me, lass?"

"I . . . well nothing, but—" lapsed into broad dialect, "the mon who has this proof will nag me to be used as a weapon of fate."

"Not even to save the Gregory miners the loss of their jobs?"

Balmey sat silent a few moments, then he spoke. "Sometimes it seems better they should be forced from their stubborn loyalty to a dying clan, now that their loyalty has turned bitter. I fear less, that loyalty is more hated for the MacDonalds than love for the Gregorys."

"And aren't the MacDonalds as bitter towards the Gregorys?" she demanded.

Hurrying back to the Gregory house, Kathleen looked at the sky. Wind swept, the dark blue arch sparkled with the stars that seemed so close in the thin mountain air. The mountains beyond the big house mounted black shoulders against the cutting breath of the north. Kathleen thought of the roofs of the Gregory cot and shivered.

Original 'Excursion' Cast Members Friends of Cloak

SEVERAL of the original New York cast of the play "Excursion," to be presented by the Lawrence college theater group in Memorial chapel Monday and Tuesday evenings, are friends of F. Theodore Cloak, director of the players.

Wilford Kane, who played the lead of Obadiah Rich, the boat captain, originally was a member of the Abbey Theater in Dublin. Mr. Cloak met Kane in the Goodman theater in Chicago when Cloak won a theatrical contest with one of his groups from Northwestern university. Kane was so impressed that he wished to meet the director of the show and this started a lasting friendship. Kane was with the Theater Guild in "Marco Millions," with Alfred Lunt, and at one time shared the same dressing room with Claude Rains, another acquaintance of Cloak.

The leading woman's role, Lee Pitman, was taken by Flora Campbell, who made her first big hit in "Excursion," when it played on Broadway. Katherine Tuscherer of Menasha is to take Miss Campbell's role. Cloak met Miss Campbell at Stockbridge, Mass., when she came there to play the lead in "Many Mansions." Also playing an important role in "Many Mansions" was Maurice Hunt of Neenah, an alumni of Lawrence. Billy Redfield, a former student of Mr. Cloak's, played in the original New York cast of "Excursion."

The final dress rehearsal of the Lawrence production of "Excursion" will be held Saturday evening.

EASE CHEST COLD misery

First massage throat, chest, and back with Vicks VapoRub at bedtime. This relieves the distress. Then, to make its long-continued poultice-and-vapor action last even longer, spread a thick layer of VapoRub on the chest and cover with a warm cloth. This also gives the skin extra protection against chilling. Long after restful sleep comes. VapoRub keeps on working—loosens phlegm—eases muscular soreness or tightness—clears air-passages—checks tendency to cough—relieves local congestion. Often, by morning the worst of the cold is over.

VICKS VAPORUB

CHIC...AND COMFORTABLE

THE SNOOD is the last word on how to keep a shallow hat perched at a smart angle—securely and comfortably. Fashion designers sit up nights now, planning how to make the things women wear more comfortable. Manufacturers, too! A perfect example of this is the sanitary napkin, Modess. The filler in Modess is soft and fluffy... entirely different from napkins made of close-packed, papery layers.

Mrs. Hay Gives Monologs for A. A. U. W. Unit

A PROGRAM of monologs by Mrs. E. E. Hay, Oshkosh, entertained the Appleton branch of the American Association of University Women when it met Wednesday night at Ormsby hall.

Mrs. Hay presented first three character sketches, the first representing the scene at the breakfast table of a married couple the first year after marriage, the fifteenth year after and the forty-fifth year after. In the second she characterized a South Seas native girl waiting on the beach for the lieutenant with whom she had fallen in love.

The monolog which Cornelia Otis Skinner has presented over the radio, portraying a Nebraska society woman who is getting ready to be presented at the Court of St. James, was given by Mrs. Hay as her third presentation. As an encore she enacted an English woman, who studied art in 10 lessons, going through an American art gallery and expressing her appreciation of the various pictures.

Appears in Costume

During a brief intermission Mrs. Hay dressed in costume for what was the finest part of her program, the portrayal of the Chinese girl in "East is West," which made up the second part of her presentation.

At the business session that preceded Mrs. Hay's monolog it was announced that the fireside meetings inaugurated last year to enable members to become better acquainted with one another would be resumed this year, the time and places to be announced later.

The drama group of the association will meet next Tuesday night in Miss Iva Welch's apartment at Brook hall.

Before the general meeting last night members of the cabinet met for dinner at the Candle Glow Tea room.

Yule Season Ball Slated for Dec. 29

Making its bid to have a Christmas holiday evening reserved for its annual charity ball, the Infant Welfare circle of Appleton King's Daughters announced today that the affair is planned for Thursday, Dec. 29, at Rainbow Gardens. Given annually during the last week of December, the ball is always one of the most important events of the winter season.

This year's ball, the tenth annual one, has a new objective. Proceeds will be used to buy milk which will be distributed to children recommended by reliable investigators and to families inadequately supplied and those not taken care of by relief agencies and other organizations. In that way the King's Daughters hope to contribute their part to the prevention of decayed teeth and tuberculosis in the rising generation.

Proceeds from previous charity balls went toward a fund to be used for maternity work at St. Elizabeth hospital. Completed last year, the $15,000 fund will go into operation soon.

Mrs. Guy McCoslin is chairman of the ball this year, and on her committee are Mrs. W. J. Frawley, last year's chairman, Mrs. Ray Peterson, Mrs. D. J. Courtney, Mrs. Henry Boon, Mrs. V. James Whelan, Mrs. Gordon Derber and Mrs. Myron T. Ray.

The ball will be open to the public.

A cake is not such a difficult thing, but everybody is not a good cake maker.

Popularity is not such a mysterious thing, but armies of lonely little lassies know that everybody is not popular.

What makes a good cake maker, and what makes people popular? The good cake maker believes that good cakes are the result of combining certain required ingredients in the right proportion. She gets a good recipe and does what it says. It's not a matter of chance or luck.

Popularity is much the same. The woman who wishes to make herself more popular finds a tried and true recipe for popularity, and combines the specified ingredients in the right proportion.

Now more popularity is the simple result of the accident of birth. Ethelyn may be as cold as a cat and as mean as a minx and look like a mixture of vinegar and bones, but Ethelyn is sometimes invited because she is Who She Is.

Some popularity is the result of wealth. Miss Goldie may dance like a rhino be as unpleasant as a ciner in your eye, but Goldie is invited because of her stocks and bonds.

Must Be Blended

But this sort of popularity is no compliment and no satisfaction to real people. A real woman scorns to rest on such puffed-up illusions. It's like buying a cake and saying you made it.

But any woman who wants to make herself more popular can do so by stirring into her personality in right proportion those ingredients which comprise real popularity. It takes a pretty careful blending. It's not sugar alone or flour alone that makes angel food angelic. And it's not good looks alone, nor intelligence, nor manners, nor clothes, that make Polly popular. Not beauty. Look at the peach-bloom complexions twiddling their thumbs in the corner while some

School Child Needs Minimum Of One Hot Dish at Noon Meal

Madison — "The school child should have at least one hot dish in his noon meal," the state medical society said in its health bulletin this week.

"Whether the school child carries his lunch to school in his brightly colored lunch box, or has his noon meal at the school cafeteria, he should have at least one hot food. Studies have shown that children who have hot food for their lunch show a marked improvement in their afternoon schoolwork.

"When lunches must be carried to school, it is wise to purchase some kind of a vacuum bottle or container in which one warm food can be carried. This hot dish may be cocoa, milk soup, vegetable stew, macaroni and cheese, stewed vegetables, or another similar, easily prepared, nourishing dish. In addition to a warm food the lunch should provide each of the following:

- Must Have Milk
1. Milk. At least one-half pint to drink as such, or in cocoa, milk soup, and the like.
 2. A protein food, as cheese, cottage cheese, egg or meat. These may be served separately or in sandwiches. If a full pint of milk is used this extra protein is not so essential.
 3. Bread. This may be served with butter or some sort of sandwich filling.
 4. Fruit or vegetable. Fruit is more easily carried and can be used most of the time, the vegetables being served at the night meal. The fruit may be raw—as a ripe banana, an apple, an orange, a bunch of grapes—or in the form of a sauce. When the fruit is cooked, it is wise to add a few pieces of celery, a whole tomato, or lettuce to provide the desirable element of freshness in the lunch.
 5. A sweet, if desired, as a cookie, a raisin sandwich, jam to eat with bread and butter, a piece of two of candy, a few peanuts or raisins. The sweet should not be overdone, merely a little to top off the meal.
- Reheating Food
- "If a vacuum bottle is not furnished for carrying the hot dish, a practical method for reheating food at the school can be provided by having the local tinsmith construct a shallow metal pan to accommodate the jars brought to the school by the children. This pan

Don't Be Fooled About Constipation!

Many people, when constipation hits them, just reach for the medicine shelf, dose up with a physic, and try to forget it—till the trouble comes back. And come back it usually does—more and more often—till you get at its cause.

If you eat what most people do—just bread, meat, potatoes—chances are just this fact causes your trouble: lack of "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and aids elimination.

Get it every day. Drink plenty of water, and join the "regulars." Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Giant in Bottle Sometimes Turns Up With Football Team

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—In these days when condition often makes the difference between victory and defeat in the final quarter of a big football game I sometimes recall a rebuff by Fielding H. Yost, that stout abstainer and prohibitionist who has walked some many years up to his eyes in incoherent old-grads and never gnawed a dram. One afternoon Mr. Yost stood on the football field at Princeton watching a group of the figures of the morrow's work against the Tiger and remarked that they lacked the old pepper. Rather brightly I suggested that some fighters when they went state, including James J. Corbett—surely the most intelligent of them all—were trained with a crash, preferably on champagne, and when the swelling had abated came back better than ever.

"Now, if, instead of that water bucket, you were to send a half-dozen champagne coolers on the field along in the third quarter," I proposed, "you would see a surprising revival of spirits, or that which you call the old pepper."

Mr. Yost turned a cold glare on the author of this heretical idea and walked away from an evil presence muttering, "Champagne wine! Champagne wine! I have never had a drunkard on a team of mine and never will."

Well, it was just an idea, tossed off as casually as that, but from knowledge, nevertheless, that before prohibition some football trainers brought their men along on ale and that in the ring some gladiators were known to take a small knock at a bottle of brandy between rounds when their knees began to flutter, and came back raging. And even during prohibition one of the most painful social errors of the very elaborate social side of football nearly destroyed a fine old friendship between the business manager and the press agent of a famous team when the business manager phoned the social headquarters late in the evening and asked how things were going. It was common practice to buy several of those reliable lap hams of rye from the reliable bootlegger, set it out on the table in several connecting rooms of the social headquarters in a big hotel and revive college memories far into the night.

And so the players didn't get the wine. About 10 o'clock this night the business manager phoned and asked if the merrymaking was proceeding without undue bloodshed, and the publicity manager gaily replied: "Oh, yes, sir; yes, sir, indeed, sir; indeed, to be sure, yes, and the wine was wonderful."

"What wine?"

"Why, the Champagne wine," said the publicity man. "Everybody had some as long as it lasted, and it was mighty fine, sir."

"That wine," the business manager said bitterly, "was for the team."

So, from piecing together bits of random information, I long ago arrived at the belief that Mr. Yost's fierce contempt for a mere mention of an idea then believed to be unique was not entirely just. He may have had no drunkards on any team of his, but other coaches had not been above recruiting as a ringer to help them through in grave emergencies the giant who lives in the bottle.

Team Comes to Life After 'Rest' at Half

There may be others who can match the experience of some who played for Washington and Lee against Virginia Polytechnic Institute about 1915 or 1916, a game which dragged through two listless quarters on a stifling autumn day and came brilliantly to life in the second half when Washington and Lee left the locker room stepping high and handsome and singing as they went. A sudden, lifeless football team began throwing passes which floated like bubbles and danced on the fingers of receivers who seemed to delight in juggling the ball ere plucking it down. There were shocking violations of all the standard formulas, play so unorthodox that the enemy, through their own training in football routines could not believe what they saw, and Washington and Lee won by a couple of touchdowns from a water-cooled squad whose coach had lacked vision or provision, or both.

My informant, who saw Fordham lose to Pitt last week, said Fordham apparently was just played out in the latter part of the game.

"So were we and so was V. P. I. that day," he added, "but between halves certain persons unknown distributed several bottles of an unknown liquid which bubbled and whispered mischievously as our brave lads held the bottle necks to their innocent lips. I know we won, but I forgot the exact score. As a matter of fact, I was blind."

Little Chute to Limit Number of Tavern Licenses

Ordinance Being Drafted; Bids to be Sought on New Village Hall

Little Chute—Members of the village board definitely decided to limit the number of taverns in the village at a meeting Tuesday evening. An ordinance is being drawn up and as soon as this is completed action will be taken.

A resolution fixing the minimum wage rates for employees in each trade or occupation in construction of the new village hall and fire department hall has been adopted according to a scale set up by the Appleton Building Trades council.

A resolution also was adopted providing for the temporary closing of a portion of Grand avenue adjoining property on the corner of Main street and Grand avenue where the new village hall is to be erected.

Bids for the new village hall and fire and police alarm systems will be advertised in about two weeks. A resolution was adopted directing the village clerk to proceed to advertise for sealed bids for the $35,000 village hall bond issue as authorized by the electors for the purpose of providing funds for the erection of the hall including fire and police alarm system and also for the site.

Sealed bids for the purchase of old buildings and garage were opened at the meeting Tuesday evening. The large residence was sold to the highest bidder, Peter J. Jansen of this village, and the garage was also sold to the highest bidder, Henry Verbruggen also of this village. Monthly reports of the treasurer and police were read and accepted. Bills amounting to $2,133.17 were read and approved by the finance committee.

Several new speed limit signs will be placed in the village. Efforts will be made to reduce speed of cars going through the village.

The next meeting of the board will be held Wednesday evening, Nov. 9 at 7 o'clock for the purpose of checking election ballots.

August Figures

The situation in the counties in the Appleton area can be shown by the August figures supplied by the pension department, the most recent available. They show the number of families in each county, and the number of children aided.

Families Children

Brown	280	669
Outagamie	295	713
Calumet	36	90
Manitowoc	143	327
Waupaca	156	352
Shawano	150	308

Most counties, it has been developed, attempt to have as many families receive the aid to dependent children as they have eligible, since the state and federal governments pay about 60 per cent of the costs of this aid, but do not contribute toward general relief costs except in emergency cases in special localities.

The aids are granted by county pension departments on the basis of need. In the state last year they varied between a minimum of $3 and a maximum of $125 a month, depending on the number of children and the degree of need, it is pointed out.

Of 24,000 children in Wisconsin supported by such aid, two thirds come from families where there are at least two children. Children are cut off from the aids at ages ranging from 16 to 21, depending on the county regulations. Half of the children receiving aids for the first time during the last year were supported on relief before their families received such grants.

The pension department has gathered a lot of human interest material in its administration of the children's aids. For example it has been shown that fathers may desert, divorce, commit a crime, or simply disappear, but mothers—at least in Wisconsin—stand by their children. To hold mothers and their families together is the prime purpose of the aid program, according to its administrators.

Nearly a thousand widows made up the largest classification of mothers to whose families aid was extended during the last year, but in nearly half of the new families enrolled the fathers had left their families to take care of themselves. Eight per cent of the mothers receiving aid last year were unmarried; nearly 12 per cent had been divorced.

Cupid came to the aid of the state pension department 324 times last year to remove by marriage 324 families from the total of more than 10,000, the state department reports. Friendly relatives were even more important in reducing the rolls and in making way for new needy children. Together the marriages of mothers and the generosity of relatives were responsible for taking up the support of more than 1,000 of the 2,101 families who were removed from the pension lists last year.

During the last year more than half of the applications for aid were refused, generally because it was found that relatives could support the children. In other instances investigators found that the father was able to work and to support his children. Others could not establish residence.

The first state to go dry was Maine, in 1846.

Mr. Citizen Well Informed on Old Age Pensions; Knows Little About Dependent Children Aid

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—Thanks to the work of eager office-seekers, the average citizen of Wisconsin is pretty well informed on old age pensions, one of the newer manifestations of government entrance into the field of public welfare.

What is frequently overlooked is that old age pensions in the Wisconsin social security system form only a part of the pension plan now in effect. From both the social and financial points of view another pension program in Wisconsin is nearly as important, aid to dependent children.

This program during the three years ended June 30, 1938, cost the state of Wisconsin, the federal government and the counties of the state nearly $10,000,000, an outlay representing approximately one third of all the social security costs of the state, and just about one half of the total amount spent for old age assistance.

Replaces Old Pension

Aid to dependent children replaces the old "mothers' pension," as it was known in the days before the social security act. At present the federal government supplies about 26 per cent of all the children's aid paid, while the state and the counties pay the remainder.

The grants go to families which have no member capable of supporting their young children. The father may be alive, but must be mentally or physically incapacitated in order for his family to receive the aid. In most cases, however, the father is dead or is in no way assisting the family.

In a recent month, 10,209 families in Wisconsin containing 23,963 dependent children were being supported by the grants administered by the state pension department with the cooperation and assistance of the counties.

Hitler Meets No Opposition in His Drive in Eastern Europe

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Belgrade — (P) — Adolf Hitler's whirlwind campaign for economic domination of eastern Europe and the Balkans is proceeding with the facility of the Yale varsity going through a high school eleven.

He is meeting with no opposition since he forced France and England to acquiesce in his dismemberment of Czechoslovakia. It is one of the most amazing coups of its kind in history.

One purpose of this drang nach osten—drive to the east—is to corner the vast agricultural and natural wealth of this region to make the new and bigger Germany absolutely self-contained, especially as regards the sinews of war. At the same time a foolproof market is being provided for German goods. I have talked with diplomats, officials and others in numerous countries affected and they profess to see another and far deeper purpose. They say they are unable to disassociate economic control from ultimate political control.

Barter System

The latest country to agree to Hitler's sweeping economic proposals is Yugoslavia. This important Balkan kingdom has signed a new trade agreement under which the bulk of her products go to Germany. It is important to note that this is chiefly on the barter system.

True, Yugoslavia and neighboring countries already had been depending largely on Germany to absorb their products which are chiefly agricultural. Heretofore, however, there hasn't been the political threat which has existed since the Nazi annexations of Austria and Sudetenland.

Yugoslavia has signed with the anxious prayer that there will be no political development which will endanger her freedom. She wants to be left in peace, though her determination to fight for the preservation of her liberty will be doubted by none who remember how little Serbia, from which Yugoslavia grew, played David to mighty Austria's Goliath in the World war. This is a land of fighting men and one which most foreign countries would be inclined to handle with gloves.

All things being equal, many in Yugoslavia would prefer to tie up with her friend, Italy, especially since it is felt that both are in the same boat as regards danger from the fatherland.

However, all things aren't equal, so Yugoslavia goes with Germany for the time being, at least.

Musicians' Union Is Formed at Waupaca

Waupaca — After deliberating for more than a year, musicians of the vicinity of Waupaca met Tuesday evening at the city hall and organized "Local 629, Musicians' union." Visitors were present from Stevens Point and New London to assist in the organization which met with 100 per cent approval of those present.

Ray Jacobs, president of the Stevens Point Musicians Union, acted as temporary chairman. The following officers were elected: Dr. Sam Salan, president; Walter Morey vice president; Leo Kostuck, secretary-treasurer; Merrit Deuel, sergeant-at-arms. Directors for a period of three years are Ernest Weber, Waupaca, and Louis Rasmussen, Iowa; director for one year, Alden Dutton.

Ten additional members are expected within a month when the charter arrives. Meetings are being planned by the executive board, and are to be held once each month.

APPEAR IN 'SPAWN OF THE NORTH'

Alaska, America's last frontier, where men fight to the death for the wealth of Arctic seas and women follow them into unbelievable hardships for the sake of love, forms the background of "Spawn of the North," which starts Friday at the Appleton Theatre.

Signs in Cemetery Shifted About in Halloween Pranks

Waupaca — Halloween pranks were carried to extremes within the city limits Monday night and for the first time the cemetery was included among the depredations. Perpetual care signs were switched from their places to others which have never had perpetual care, and will necessitate much work on the part of cemetery employees to adjust. Stone markers were removed from their bases.

South Main street was blocked off for several hours Monday evening. Signs that were used to keep travelers from the west side of the street which was undergoing repair were placed on the opposite side, but without protection of flares, thereby making the street hazardous.

A "for sale" sign was placed on the Episcopal church, and a sign at the pump station designated it as the dumping grounds.

All traffic and highway signs were changed about giving the street commissioner extra work the next day.

Russell Noach Rites Conducted at Shiocton

Shiocton — Funeral services for Russell Noach, 29, whose death occurred Saturday evening at Appleton, were held from the Congregational church Shiocton at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon by the Rev. R. Since 1927 he lived in Madison where he attended the University of Wisconsin receiving his bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering in June, 1932. He worked one year for a master's degree but due to failing health he discontinued his school work and came home. Survivors include his parents Mr. and Mrs. William J. Noach, route 2, Shiocton, one brother Harold and a sister Gladys, at home.

Security Board Keeps Watchful Eye on Brokers

Buckman Fiasco Has Resulted in Keeping Commission Active

Madison — The Buckman securities company fiasco which several months ago resulted in the sentencing of the officers of a prominent state capital securities house to the state prison, and which left behind it a long string of law-suits which will require many months to settle, has had other, more significant results, according to the records of state commissions.

Undoubtedly as a direct result of the Buckman case, which let loose an extended volley of criticism of state officers charged with the regulation of securities sales and operations, securities regulation in Wisconsin has become considerably more stringent.

More Suspension

Suspensions and revocations of securities dealers' licenses has increased substantially, and a program of periodic, unannounced examinations of the books of brokers, similar to bank examinations, has been inaugurated by the securities division in the capitol under its new direction.

When the Buckman case broke the regulation of securities sales and operations was entrusted to a department of the state public service commission. Under its direction there, it was shown, action was taken against brokers only when complaints were received from clients or investors.

After the Buckman disclosures, the state government reorganization committee transferred the securities division to the state banking commission, where it was reorganized. Lawrence Blum, supervisor under the public service commission, took a leave of absence after demotion. Gregory Bueznli, banking commission counsel, was named to take charge of the new bureau.

Under Bueznli's direction, the commission started a program of examination of brokers' books. Special examiner is J. D. Gannon. As a result, from July through September of this year the securities division suspended the dealer's licenses of five houses, and was upheld by the commission. In several other cases audits by the division were followed by a closing of business by brokers or by a withdrawal of application for a license.

During the 1936-37 year the securities division under the public service commission didn't revoke a single license except in several routine cases where partnerships changed.

The securities division today announced several new regulations to make its supervision of stock and bond transactions in the state more secure. Dealers applying for licenses or license renewals were instructed to supply a balance sheet of the last preceding month. Agents applying for licenses are now required to submit their photographs.

GRIN AND BEAR IT

By Lichty

"I think your 'Let's look-at-the-record' speech was a mistake, Chief! They dug up YOUR record."

"I wonder who he'll send out to do the dirty work," she added. Kathleen knew she was referring to Angus Gregory.

"Some of his legal lights," sighed Kathleen. "I hope they'll enjoy their say in The Gregory."

Bridget looked around her room. It was cozy, colorful. Beside her typewriter lay the growing stack of manuscript.

"I suppose I'll have to retire to the tall timber," she sighed. "The whole legal staff knows me much too well. But anyone would be better than your father. Can't you imagine how he'd feel to find me here after he's searched both New York and Chicago to hunc me back?"

Kathleen nodded. She could; she could even visualize the reception he'd give Bridget. She must find some way to check this legal invasion of Balmy's peace.

Returning to her night duties, she carried a pad and pencil and during the waning hours wrote many letters, discarded them and sent the first.

"It's a crazy idea and I won't be a party to it. Give me time and I'll get your old right-of-way without anything having to be closed down. I don't know why you put any faith in hear-say. Campbell isn't called Balmy without reason. He's not responsible."

And remember this, if you let any of those trained legal seals of yours recognize me as Kathleen Gregory, I'll find a way to stop anything you start. I intend to finish this job I've started without any interference. So warn them. No matter who comes out, they are not to show any recognition whatsoever.

Aside from that I love you and I'm wondering why. Your disposition is worse than mine. Your own not-so-devoted daughter.

Kathleen.

Thanksgiving

Kathleen did not go to the veranda to watch the sunrise the next morning. Instead, she went to bed to sleep soundly for many hours and then to dream of Donald MacDonald and a painted canyon, and of legal seals coming up from the stream to run Donald and herself to the caving tops of Gregory cots.

The days went sliding along and the snow held as though awaiting its cue to fall. Kathleen and Bridget felt as though they were awaiting some cue. Their patients returned home, the nurses returned to the mine, and life fell into routine.

The miniature castles Kathleen had designed for the Gregory miners were discarded and in their place she sketched and planned practical cottages with jar closets and enough ground around each to grow vegetables for the jars.

There was also a community hall and in addition to the dance hall, which could be turned into an auditorium, and the billiard room the MacDonald hall boasted, there was a sewing room, nursery and kitchen.

Thanksgiving arrived and with it, Mrs. MacDonald, Sr. She had written the girls asking them to join the family for Thanksgiving and they had accepted with pleasure.

Mrs. MacDonald called immediately upon her arrival in Neu-

CO-STAR IN 'THE CROWD ROARS'

Robert Taylor plays his first prizefight role in "The Crowd Roars," action-packed story of the modern prize ring, which opened at the Elite Theatre for 3 days Wednesday.

Maureen O'Sullivan, who played opposite the star in "A Yank at Oxford," is once again cast as Taylor's heroine in the new picture and an exceptional cast of prominent screen names includes Edward Arnold as a racketeer, Frank Morgan as Taylor's father, an ex-vaudeville "ham," William Gargan, Lionel Stander and Jane Wyman.

trahy, and Kathleen, greeting the time I've ever been inside of this gracious silver-haired woman, wondered how anyone as charming antagonistic towards the Gregorys could have reared such an insolent son.

"Do you know," she confided to the girls, "I've lived in the other half of this house, off and on, for thirty years, but this is the first after his father."

It snowed Thanksgiving Eve and Kathleen awakened the next morning supremely happy. For a little while she lay in the warm nest of her bed watching flakes sift in through the open window. The Gregorys would be happy this day. Balmy had agreed to Kathleen's plan of shipping five dollars to the head of each family for their Thanksgiving dinner. The Gregory store had buzzed with business the previous night.

Kathleen spent long and anxious moments scanning her scanty wardrobe, then chose a brown, panne velvet frock, its only ornament a lacy ecru jabot. She brushed her hair until it shone like polished metal.

Taking a final whirl before the mirror, at four-thirty that afternoon she felt she hadn't looked as well since she left New York.

And then she saw Bridget, a tall slender exquisite Bridget in black velvet, sophisticated, alluring. Kathleen felt like a school girl.

night, no restless tossing, no apologetic pleas for water.

Bravely they tried to smother rasping coughs that their "Miss Cleo" might snatch a few moments' rest.

But Kathleen couldn't rest. The mine nurse, settled by a lamp with a book in her hand, watched her. Once she checked her restless passing to feel her pulse and place an inquiring hand on her forehead.

"You'd better slow down, child or we'll have you for a patient and we need you as a nurse."

"I'll try as soon as I have another look at Laura."

The child seemed sleeping when Kathleen, candle shaded by her hand, tiptoed in. The covers were tumbled and one arm, a bony little arm, was thrown over her head. Kathleen tucked the arm under the covers.

Kathleen thought of that arm as she started down the upper hall. There was a light under Bridget's door. She knocked and entered. The Irish girl was sewing. "I'm making over that red flannel dress. Laura will look adorable in red."

Kathleen perched on the arm of the chair. "Dad says I have to return immediately," she announced.

Bridget looked startled.

The entire story told, Kathleen concluded. "But I'm not going. I'm not going to leave here until Laura's bones are decently covered with flesh."

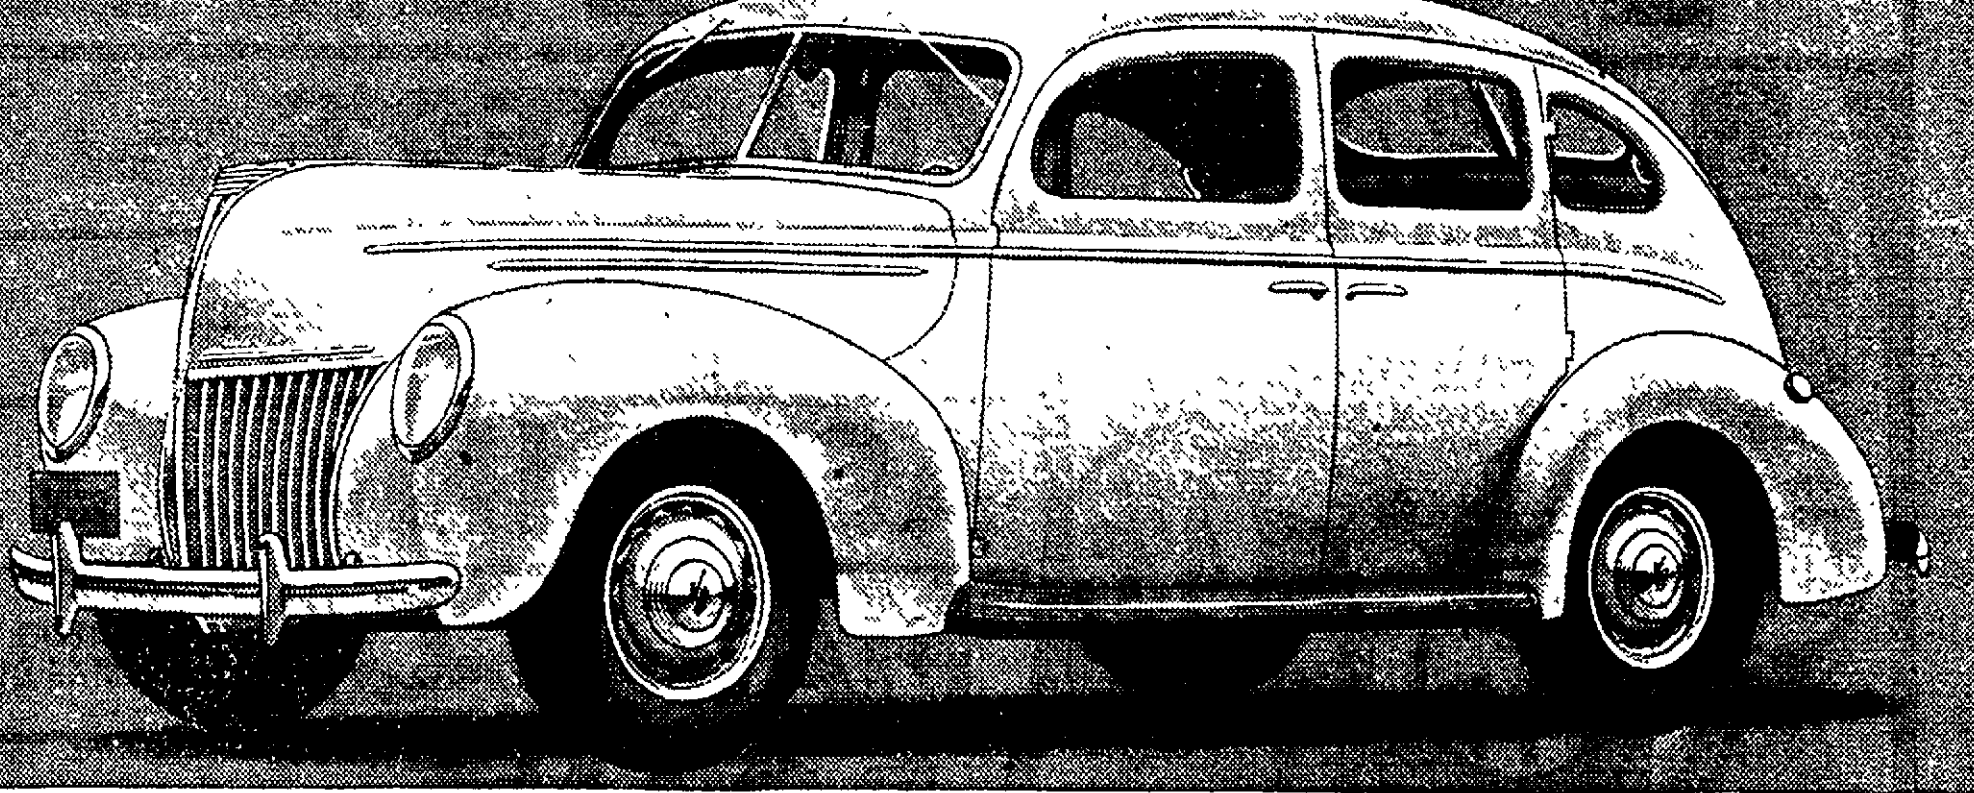

"I can't go," Kathleen explained. "It's unfinished. I came here to accomplish something and I've done nothing but twiddle my thumbs. I've a feeling my people are going to need me. I'm not good for much of anything but fighting, but I can put up a good scrap."

Bridget who had looked up quickly at my people smiled. "You're telling me," she murmured.

"You're telling me," she murmured.

DE LUXE FORD V-8 FORDOR SEDAN

Announcing the NEW FORD V-8 CARS for 1939

GREATER VALUE for every motorist has been built into the two new Ford V-8 cars for 1939. They further express the forward-looking policy of the Ford Motor Company—traditional Ford dependability and economy plus progressive engineering.

Each car is distinctive in design, yet each has something of the fine streamlining of the Lincoln-Zephyr—recognized style leader for the industry. Interior appointments are in keeping with outward beauty. Every detail is styled for good taste and good service.

Both are big, roomy cars, equipped with hydraulic brakes and powered with the V-8 engine that gives you so much extra smoothness. This year the quiet performance of the

V-8 engine has been matched by the new quiet built into every part of the car.

The 1939 Ford cars bring you greater riding ease on every road. New seat construction, flexible transverse springs, and big hydraulic shock absorbers provide triple-cushioned riding comfort.

Both 1939 Ford cars are Ford-priced for greater dollar value. Both bring new meaning to the Ford phrase, "The Quality Car in the Low-price Field."

Night Game*BY ALVIN BRAULT

NEW LONDON—A taring New London eleven took no chances on the supposed strength of the Clintonville High school grid-ders and pushed the Trucks aside for a traditional victory, 40 to 0, in the last game of the season under the lights here last night. It was the first conference win for the Red and White this year and left Clintonville alone in the dog-house.

The Stacymen tore into the Truckers line with a vengeance and scored at will the ball being in their hands most of the time. The entire squad saw action, next year's team playing half the game, and Coach Johnson of the visitors in the face of certain defeat, tried every one of his 30 boys.

In their eagerness the New London boys lost two more markers, twice being penalized for holding in the line after scoring markers. They suffered 75 yards in penalties, all in big 15-yard gulps. Clintonville was set back 35 yards.

Complete 15 Passes

Their unhampered passing attack clicked beautifully. They completed 15 out of 25 attempts for long gains, many first downs, and several set-ups for the final marker. The locals made 19 first downs to 4 for the invaders. The Trucks never saw the scoring side of the 50 yard mark until the fourth quarter when they threatened at the 7-yard line. They passed sparingly until the last quarter, completing only two out of ten.

Five plays and about three minutes after the opening whistle the Red and White had scored.

From the 35-yard stripe Hammerberg passed 35 yards to Ike Poepeke on the 10 who was downed within 6 yards of the scoring zone. Poepeke crashed through to the 1-yard and pushed over center to tally. A pass to Poppy over right end was successful for the extra point. Score, 7 to 0.

A few minutes later, after Clintonville had punted, Poepeke started from the Trucks' own 40 and broke away for another touchdown but the play was brought back and the team took a penalty.

Huzzar Counts on Pass

However, the drive was begun anew when the Trucks' first pass was intercepted by Poepeke and carried to his own 25. A 35-yard pass from Poepeke to Huzzar was snared by the latter as he crossed into the end zone unopposed for the second marker. Faking a kick, Poepeke followed his interference around right end for the extra point but Wally Hammerberg was offside and a pass on the second try from the 18-yard line failed. Score, 13 to 0.

The New London team moved so swiftly in the first quarter that the backfield fumbled the pass from center four times but the loss was always made up behind excellent blocking.

As the game moved into the second quarter, Ben Huzzar skirted left end on a fake reverse to score from the 32 but holding in the line nullified the play and brought a 15 yard penalty. However, a series of passes played the pigskin right back on the 8. Poepeke ended the ball to within a half foot and then Meiklejohn shoved his way over to score. Poepeke's dropkick was good for the point. Score, 20 to 0.

Reserves Take Over

With a 20 to 0 margin, the reserves took over. Junior Prahl, Freiburger, Houk, Otis, Ziebur and Schimke going in. Immediately Poepeke started an aerial attack and Prahl, a reserve back in his last year, showed surprising ability at receiving when he plucked three tosses out of the air in spectacular fashion, catching the last one as he fell with it on the one yard line. Hammerberg took the ball over and the kick was low. Score, 26 to 0.

Pues, Dave Stern, Vern Wilson, and Heimbruch went in the game to make New London's a complete reserve squad. The Trucks, who never had a full line-up of regulars, made their first down but the half cut them off on the mid-stripe.

Coach Stacy opened the third quarter with a mixed string and the gang promptly took the ball on their 45 and in three first downs got to the 18. Meiklejohn tossed to Huzzar who took the ball on the 15 and galloped across for a marker. Diminutive Bob Houk was pushed over center for the point. Score, 33 to 0.

Kautz Is Troublesome

Rav Kautz, an inexperienced sophomore, his teammates called "the mite," proved more dangerous in the fourth quarter than the heavier Billmeyer, or Martin who did Clintonville's totting-when there was any. Billmeyer intercepted a pass as the last period opened to get into New London territory on the 41 for the first time. He made a first down on the 23 then passed to Kautz on the 18. The latter squirmed through New London to the 13 for another first down. When two line smashes and a pass failed, Billmeyer gave Kautz the ball on a reverse and the little runner fought to the 7, four yards short on the last down.

In a series of six first downs, the Stacymen took the ball from where it lay and went to a touch-

Chaffin Chatter

By Gordon H. McIntyre

CONVINCED that a majority of Class A high schools are not interested in tournament competition, the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic association, according to the November bulletin issued recently has decided to again adopt the plan used last year with some changes in the financial setup intended to provide additional revenue.

The W.I.A.A. conducted a referendum on a tournament plan developed by the Board of Control following a meeting with Class A principals and individual conferences, providing for limited classification. This would have provided for 32 district tournaments with competition definitely limited to schools with enrollments of 200 and less. Two of the district winners would be assigned to each of 16 regional meets along with schools hand-picked on the basis of strength, whose enrollment exceeds 200 pupils. The 16 regional winners were to have competed in the state meet in one class.

This plan would have recognized classification for schools of less than 200 in enrollment in the first round. After that all schools were to have participated on an equal basis.

Twenty-nine of the 39 Class A high schools took part in the referendum. Seven voted to compete under the new plan, 15 voted no, four stated their decision was subject to conference action and three indicated a willingness to cooperate but did not vote.

Six Class A schools voted to compete under practically the same tournament plan as used last year, two voted yes with reservations, 15 voted no, three stated that their decisions were subject to conference action and three did not vote on the question at all.

Had a majority of Class A schools voted in favor of competing under a new plan, the Board of Control of the W.I.A.A. was prepared to submit it to a vote of all schools. In view of the disinterest, the board will make no change in the general tournament setup which was approved by a 4 to 1 vote last spring.

Roundy at Madison said the following about the Wisconsin game and the time clock which showed the game over and the boys still playing—and Indiana getting closer to the goal line:

The game last Saturday between Indiana and Wisconsin was very well officiated. It was great to see a game well handled as that for a change.

It was so far superior to what I been looking at that it was time to see it worked in that manner.

When Dr. Huegel stopped game in first few minutes and came to the Wisconsin bench lot of the fans didn't know what happened.

It was this. The new conference rule is that the timekeeper has no watch and the scoreboard is the official time piece.

The clock stopped on board so Huegel tells other officials to stop the game. Bo McMillin then came running over to the Wisconsin bench and wanted to know why clock wasn't working.

Huegel then says if it was o k with the coaches he would keep time with watch until the clock got back into proper working order. This was done.

The clock was put out of commission by Russ Rippe the Wisconsin freshman coach who scouted Indiana. He kept pounding his fist on the table and blooey the clock stops.

Now the clock showed zero and still Indiana was given chance at one more play. Huegel said the ball touched ground on that other pass play and clock moved on it.

And Dr. Huegel says under that rule the Indiana team had another play to run off.

Here Huegel had to watch the clock and also the play. That can't be done. That is the clock's fault. When that clock gets to zero they should have a big alarm go off on it. Then you would know game was over or the quarter.

It seems silly to have the time keeper watching the clock and the play at the same time. A loud alarm would be proper thing on the board when the time is up it would sound the alarm.

Yesterday's Herald and Examiner from Chicago showed a picture of the Penn-Navy game in which John Dutcher, Appleton, is one of the figures. John was after a forward pass but a Navy man interfered by playing John too obviously and the officials ruled the play interference.

A. C. Denney of the Lawrence college phy ed department, is talking today at the Physical Education section of the teachers convention in Milwaukee. His subject is "How Far We Have Come" in physical education.

State high school coaches are having an interesting session and clinic. It started at 3 o'clock this afternoon and will continue until 12 tonight. Ivan Williams, Neenah High school, talked about tennis and Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern about football. Other subjects which were up for discussion were archery, badminton, golf, swimming, 6-man football, track, and basketball.

The sessions are being held at Shorewood High school.

Rippon college claims it has the best freshman squad in six years. And with Kremer and other sophomores burning up the loop now, Rippon should be very, very tough next year.

Now that Lawrence has at least tied for the Midwest conference championship and interest is high, I should like to suggest an all-time Lawrence team. Others may want to do the same thing, but this is one man's opinion:

Fullback—Abrahamson, '13
Halfbacks—Kotal, '27, Novakowski, '30.
Quarterback—Sylvester, '14.
Ends—Stephenson, '07, Earl Tippet, '13.
Tackles—Boyd, '04, Vogel, '35.
Guards—Karnopp, '02, W. Hunt, '23.

Halfbacks—DuCray, Beyer, W. Tippet, Brezoz, Fisher.
Quarterbacks—Pierce, Gachnauer, Wiley.
Ends—Peck, W. Johnson, Stoll, Berry.

Tackles—Wolter, Wingender, Sampson, McGlynn.
Guards—Holstein, Council, Hancock.
Centers—Pottinger, W. Smith.

Since most of these men live in this section of the country it would be a fine thing if they could be brought together for the football banquet this year, including Coach John P. Koehler and Mark Catlin. A table could be reserved for them and they could help to pay tribute to 1938's courageous Vikings.

Michigan Will be Host to Quakers On Grid Saturday

Wolverines to Enter Game
Without Kadros,

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—The Michigan threads are dropped out of the warp and woof of the Western conference tapestry this week to ensnare an eastern invader.

And the game with Pennsylvania marks an important side trip before they resume their place in the final weaving of the Big Ten championship fabric.

Pennsylvania comes here Saturday with an impressive record. It has romped over Lafayette, trampled Yale, nosed out Columbia and played a scoreless tie with Navy. Princeton alone has beaten the Quakers.

On comparative scores, Michigan rates slightly below the Quakers. But whether the visitors will be able to stop Tom Harmon, Paul Kromer and Norm Purucker—the latter again in top shape—remains a moot question.

On the debit side, the Michigan enters the game without Archie Kadros, one of the Big Ten's best centers, who probably will be out until the game all Ann Arbor already has started to talk about—Kadros' Northwestern.

In other Big Ten camps yesterday.

Beloit Expects to be in Perfect Shape for Vikes And Saturday's Struggle

BELOIT—Battered and bruised from the Lake Forest game last weekend, the Beloit college Blue Devils nevertheless expect to be at full strength when they entertain Lawrence college in the annual homecoming battle here Saturday afternoon.

Although beaten 26 to 6 last week, the Blue Devils ran up 14 first downs to Lake Forest's 8 and kept the Jaybirds on the defensive the entire first half. But Coach Bud Butler only had five backs available for the contest and when the offense lagged in the second half, Lake Forest started piling up points.

Vikes Aim at Title

Lawrence and Beloit both have formidable records thus far this season and a close game is anticipated. The Beloiters have won three and lost two with one tie. Lawrence, on the other hand, has won five and lost only one.

If Lawrence wins Saturday, it will capture the Mid-west conference undisputed. If Beloit triumphs, it is likely that Coe will tie the Vikings and Beloit will get third place.

Coach Butler believes that all the injuries that have hampered the squad the past several weeks will be under control for the Viking game and he expects to present the strongest lineup since the season opened.

The list of recovered casualties includes Roy Campbell, junior end, who now has his injured hand out of a cast after several weeks; Loyall Plinske and Bill Day, junior backs, who have been suffering from leg injuries; Dwight Hill, senior quarterback, out of the hospital after a short illness; and Bruno Virgili and Glenn Johnson, who are back to normal after the shaking up they received in the Lake Forest game.

Griffith In Long Run

On the opening kickoff last week, Griffith, Beloit halfback, caught the ball on his own goal line and ran 100 yards to the Lake Forest end zone, bringing the crowd to its feet. However, the ball was brought back to midfield, the runner having stepped out of bounds.

During the first quarter, neither team had an advantage. Jauch and Hein gained considerable ground for the Foresters and Bere's punting was good. Virgili and Griffith, Beloit speed merchants, were outstanding for the visitors.

Three 15-yard penalties were inflicted during the quarter, one on Lake Forest and two on Beloit.

However, with the start of the second quarter, Beloit started to outplay Lake Forest. Its score came in the first few minutes of play, and things looked dark for the Foresters. Johnson's pass to Virgili for the extra point was knocked down.

Back Beloit came again following the kickoff. Johnson gained 15 yards to put the ball on his own 34, and two plays later took it to midfield. A pass, Virgili to Andrews gained 25 yards, and Johnson and Virgili advanced to the 5-yard line on running plays. Virgili's pass to Day left only one foot to go, but it was Lake Forest's ball.

Berg's punt from the end zone was brought back to Lake Forest's 23, and a pass from Virgili to Zimmerman put the ball on Lake Forest's four-yard line. Bob Petersen, Forest leader, caught Griffith behind the line of scrimmage for a loss, and on the next play Virgili's pass to Zimnick was two yards short of a touchdown. The half ended soon after Berg punted out of danger.

With a slightly altered lineup at the beginning of the second half, Lake Forest underwent a complete transformation. From that time on Beloit did not threaten.

Dykes Is Seeking a Catcher, Outfielder

Chicago—(AP)—Jimmie Dykes, manager of Chicago's White Sox, doesn't expect to be on the active list next season but he hopes to be active in the winter trading market.

Dykes, who for a conference with owner J. Louis Comiskey, on his way from California to his Upper Darby, Pa. home, said he was looking for a regular catcher and a hard hitting outfielder. On the block he tentatively placed Pitcher Johnny Whitehead—"if I can get anything for him."

The Sox boss is exasperated with the failure of the big pitcher to follow through on his rookie performance in 1935.

Dykes, who played in 26 games as utility infielder last summer, said his 41 year old legs would put him on the retired list "by at least May 15" next season.

Joe Louis, as phlegmatic as ever about the whole matter, was in town to see the postponed Henry Armstrong-Ceterino Garcia title go. It will be his first fight since he bombed Max Schmeling into a hospital in one round last June and the fifth defense of his championship since he lifted the crown from Jim Braddock in 1937.

Krieger Won't Show for Jacobs

Manager Says Next Bout
Will be on Coast,
Not New York

Seattle—(AP)—A new middleweight champion boards a train for New York today, but he won't be fighting there for two reasons.

Hymie Caplan, garrulous manager of the new champ, Solly Krieger, enumerated the reasons, with gestures. They are:

1—Krieger has a lump behind his left ear the size of a cue ball and won't be able to train for at least three or four weeks.

2—Krieger has a contract with Seattle's promoter Nate Duxman to fight his next match here, and Caplan said he told New York's promoter Mike Jacobs yesterday that Krieger would not fight the winner to the Fred Apostoli-Young Corbett III bout under Jacobs auspices.

"Jacobs didn't give Krieger a break in New York so we're going to fight for Duxman here first," Caplan said.

Informed the New York boxing commission was going to "consider" whether to recognize Krieger's title claim, Caplan said:

"If General Phelan (commission chairman) wants to be a stooge for Jacobs and make the same mistake he did when Al Hostak won the title, that's all right with me."

Hostak was back at his Georgetown home today, a badly-banged up boy, after losing the title he won from Freddie Steele three short months previously.

down at the opposite end. After two first-down smashes by Houk and Pues the graduating seniors came back in. To taunt the Trucks, they let young Paul Poepeke, sophomore brother of Ike, carry the ball for three first downs. Behind a wall of interference young Paul ran untouched for 13 and 10 yards at a clip. From the 12 Ike went through and dropkicked the extra point. Score, 40 to 0.

Other sophomores in the game were Charles Clark, George Webster, Jack Dent, and Clifford Freiburger. Sophomore end, did some fine punting and all around playing.

Badger Lineup Shifted Often

Stuhldreher Works to Strengthen U. W. Pass Defense

MADISON — Coach Harry Stuhldreher juggled his lineup continually last night in an effort to strengthen the University of Wisconsin pass defense for the Northwestern game at Evanston Saturday.

Johnny Doyle, who has been giving Jack Murray, first string center, a run for the starting pivot post, was placed on the first team yesterday because of his quick action on defense. Stuhldreher believes this move will stop the "Wildcat" aerial attack down the center.

Bill Schmitz continues to play his old style of ball and is certain to see a great deal of action against the "Cats." His shoulder has not bothered him since he reported for practice the early part of this week. Stuhldreher praised the work of his present backfield which includes Vince Gavre, Port Edwards at quarter, Schmitz and Roy Bellin of Whitefish Bay at the halves and Howie Weiss of Port Atkinson at full.

Dartmouth college authorities announced that Harrington Bates (above), blocking back of the undefeated Dartmouth football team, had left school to join the "Legion of God" near Amherst, N. H. He had returned to the squad, after trying to quit, and starred against Yale last week.

Hungry Filipinos Haunt Parnassus, Garcia's Manager

George Must Feed 13 of Fighter's Fellow Countrymen

BY GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK — (U) — The one who is suffering most from the postponement of the Armstrong-Garcia championship fight to Nov. 25 is George Parnassus, Garcia's manager, who is totally surrounded by hungry Filipinos.

Parnassus thought he had a headache two nights ago when Armstrong came down with a lame back, but he didn't then know the extent of the calamity. He was so busy worrying about the postponement he didn't give the hungry Filipinos a thought until they descended upon him in a body at his hotel.

There were 13 of them. They had motored all the way here from California in two ancient vehicles just to watch their hero and countryman, Garcia, win the welterweight championship from Armstrong. They were running short of money, they informed Parnassus, and what was he going to do about it?

Parnassus suggested, without much hope, that they motor right on back to California while they still had gasoline money. This brought expressions of pain to 13 Filipino faces. They had come here to see Cefarino win the title, their leader explained, patiently, and they didn't mind waiting until Nov. 25.

He's Named Host
Although they didn't say so in as many words, it was made clear to Parnassus, a sad-faced Greek, that he would be expected to play host to Garcia's most loyal rooters until such time as he got Cefarino in the same ring with Armstrong.

What makes matters even worse is the circumstance that Parnassus, himself is fresh out of spending money. Except in rare cases, fight managers never have any money. They live almost exclusively on the cuff, borrowing from their favorite promoter against future fights for their young warriors. Parnassus is strictly a union man in this respect.

"Here I'm wondering how Cefarino and I are going to eat and train for another month, and now these 13 Filipinos pile in on me," he wailed as he paced the doctor's outer room, waiting for the latest report on Armstrong's condition.

"I can't send these guys home. I spent an hour this morning finding a cheap place for them to live, but I still don't know how I'm going to pay for it. Maybe I can get the boxing commission to give me Armstrong's $2,000 forfeit until he is ready to fight."

(Eds note: The commission said no.)

West Rallies to Defeat Oshkosh

Long Runs in First Quarter are Features of 13-7 Game

Green Bay — Green Bay West High school crudders remained undefeated in the Fox River Valley conference race when they defeated Oshkosh here last night, 13 to 7. The Wildcats will close the season on Nov. 19 with a night battle with Green Bay East. Both teams are undefeated in conference play and the winner will take the league championship.

The first period of last night's game was a thriller. Motiff, 135-pound back, went into the game for West with the person a few minutes old. On the first play he attempted a pass and on the second ran 68 yards for a touchdown. West failed to kick the point.

On the kickoff Oshkosh received and Bob Rott took the ball on his own 13 and waddled down the field to score. Lambert then booted the point putting Oshkosh ahead.

In the third quarter the Packers got going again and finally scored on a forward pass. Loyal Dessart to Motiff. The play occurred on the 16 yard line.

EAST BAYS ALSO COP
Sheboygan-Green Bay East High school rode rough shod over Sheboygan Central here last night, 26 to 0. The game left East undefeated in the Valley conference and Central without a conference win.

Packer Fans in Annual Trek to Chicago Sunday

Western Division Leaders Will Clash With Bears at 1:30

GREEN BAY, Wis. — It's next Sunday when all roads—paved, steel and air—lead to Chicago for the renewal of that ever potent rivalry of the Green Bay Packers and the Chicago Bears.

It's a contest that stacks up much like those of old. Again the Packers are making their powerful, determined bid for the National Professional Football league championship, and again the Bears stand up as formidable opponents, eager to apply the monkey wrench with vengeance.

The Packers are on top of the heap in the Western division, slightly ahead of the Detroit Lions only because of more games played. In third place, the Bears are conceded much less of a chance, but Coach George Halas knows that such things have happened here.

When the Packers faced the Bears at City stadium here earlier in the season for that classic mud battle, they won everything but the top end of the score. Even the Chicago fans admitted that the 2 to 0 victory came only because of the breaks.

Stage Annual Invasion
As in past years, numerous—yes, hundreds of fans will gasp up their automobiles and drive to Chicago for the game at Wrigley field. And they won't be all men fans by any means, for wives and brothers and sisters are insisting that they be taken along.

Those who prefer the railroad coach will take advantage of the special rate and schedule provided by two lines the North Western and Milwaukee roads. For these excursions there will be a modest charge of $4.35 for the round trip.

Kickoff At 1:30 P. M.
Due to the lessened daylight, the game is scheduled to get under way promptly at 1:30 Sunday afternoon. This will also permit fans to get out of Chicago and back home in plenty of time for a good night's sleep. The latter, however, is a minor matter when there is a Packer-Bear grid program.

Coach Curly Lambeau expressed considerable optimism in regards to the mental and physical condition of the green and gold clad Packers. Almost without exception they are geared to a fine finish, and a hot, spectacular battle can be expected.

Historical Society Gets Hartnett's Bat

Chicago — (U) — The Chicago historical society hasn't got that lamp Mrs. O'Leary's cow is reputed to have kicked over to start the Chicago fire, but today it did have the bat with which Gabby Hartnett banged a home run in the dusk of Sept. 28 to beat the Pittsburgh Pirates and spark Chicago's Cubs to the National league pennant.

The bat, along with the glove, mask, chest protector and shin guards the Cub manager used that day, will be placed on permanent exhibit in the society's museum. They were donated to the museum by Hartnett at the society's request.

'Lucky Charlie' Weeghman Made and Lost Big Fortune

He suffered a stroke Tuesday while returning from Hot Springs, Ark. to his home with his wife, Carol.

Weeghman was a coffee boy in Charlie King's loop restaurant in the nineties. The day his employer died Weeghman opened his own restaurant and soon was on his way to riches.

Known as "Lucky Charlie," Weeghman built his fortune on one-arm restaurants. He was the first to popularize the one arm chair dairy lunch.

His fortune was estimated at $8,000,000 when he ventured into baseball in 1915 as the backer of the Federal baseball league. The venture, estimated to have cost him $3,000,000, was the first of a series of events which caused financial collapse.

Weeghman purchased the Chicago Cubs baseball team for $500,000 from Charles P. Taft, brother of President Taft, after the Federal league disbanded. In 1920 he sold the club to William Wrigley, Jr. Three years later he was forced to abandon connections with his luncheon chain.

Recently he managed a restaurant at Fort Lee, N. J.

Weeghman was survived by his widow and a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy J. McDonough, of a previous marriage. Funeral services will be conducted Saturday at Richmond, Ind., his birthplace.

Whitewater Peds' Center Rated as Pro Grid Prospect

BY SID FEDER
(Pinch-hitting for Eddie Brietz)

NEW YORK — (U) — Hymie Caplin may have told the folks in Seattle that Solly Krieger's first middleweight "title" defense would be out there—but not bet on it. . . . Just figure out that Solly's go with Al Hostak Tuesday grossed less than 20 G's, and any championship brawl here would be good for four or more times that much. . . . What's this about Iowa thinking of getting rid of Irl Tubbs and looking around for a new coach? . . .

The Cornell-Dartmouth game Nov. 12 will bring the biggest football crowd ever to Ithaca. . . . More than $600,000 worth of tickets sold already. . . . Wilbur Adams, the Sacramento Bee grid writer, thinks Santa Clara could take California almost any day in the week this season. . . . There's a game that would be a natural for the coast. . . . Is it generally known that John Henry Lewis was guaranteed $15,000 to fight Al Gainer in New Haven last week—but had to "settle for $3,400 when the gate was counted.

Pro scouts might cast an eye at Will Sherman, who plays a lot of guard and center for Whitewater. (Wis.) Teachers. . . . The boys out that way say he really has it. . . . Credit Whitney Martin, our Kansas City scout, with relaying the gag of the week: After Biff Jones' Nebraska Cornhuskers dropped their fourth game, one was hollered, "this week stromberry pie—next week roast Biff" . . .

Wonder where some of you southern boys and girls got the idea this department has it in for Duke's footballers—anyway, its not so. . . . But don't ask how good we think they are until after that Nov. 6 date with D. Sutherland's Pitt patients. . . . And Pete Minego, the Portsmouth (O.) Times columnist, suggests the referee in that disputed Notre Dame-Carnegie Tech game "will probably gettchell the rest of his life." . . . Tsk. tsk.

11 Minutes, 45 Seconds of Actual Play in Grid Game

MILWAUKEE—How much football in a football game?

Four Marquette university students with stop-watches and a statistical flair recently analyzed a major battle on the Golden Avalanche schedule and came out with some figures that, if not accurate, are at least interesting.

They discovered, for instance, that in this particular 60-minute game the actual playing time, from the moment the ball left the hands of the center until the time the ball-carrier was tackled, was 11 minutes, 45 seconds.

Of this time, 3 minutes and 6 seconds were consumed in making 128 tackles; 5 minutes, 24 seconds used in actual scrimmage, and 3 minutes, 15 seconds employed while the ball was being passed, lateraled, punted, kicked-off or place-kicked for the point after touchdown.

The greatest thief of football time, according to the compilation, is the unscrambling after plays and getting ready for the next signal. This took up 19 minutes, 29 seconds. Team A employed a huddle and took 12 minutes, 22 seconds to call 43 plays. Team B used no huddle and called 97 plays in 9 minutes, 34 seconds.

Going into formation and shifting took up 6 minutes, 5 seconds. Only a brief time—45 seconds—was lost in moving the ball 15 yards in from the sideline when it neared the border on plays.

Add it all up—huddles, shifts, scrambling and scrambles—and you've got 60 minutes of honest-to-goodness football!

"The Bat" Is Unmasked but He Shows He's Got Class

BY BILL ERICKSON
ENASHA—Paging Mr. Robert L. Ripley! Such can be the cry after last night's wrestling show when 250 fans saw one of the cleanest bouts in "sleazebags." They were not accompanied by the usual repertoire of hippodrome tactics such as biting, kicking, slugging, gouging and other displeasing methods not in the book of Hoyle.

The first bout opened with Milt Olson versus Ray Herrin. It proved to be the fastest of the evening when the men displayed uncanny ability at getting in and out of holds.

The first fall went to Milt when he used a series of body slams, in 19 minutes. Before the second fall was completed both wrestlers used many holds among them, toe holds, reverses, flying mares, flying blocks, wrist locks, body press, flying whip.

Olson took the second fall when Herrin had to give up after taking quite a bit of punishment with a reverse double toe hold. Bill Erickson refereed the bout.

The second bout of the evening featured the return of the "Bat" and Jungle Joe Bauer, and before the match started people voiced their opinion as to the outcome. The majority of the cash customers predicted a repetition of the previous card. However, they changed their views when Bauer went after the "Bat" with a "do or die" attitude.

But now the story can be told. The "Bat" had been hiding his identity with wearing apparel. In the first show he appeared in robe, mask, sweater, trunks and long length stockings. The appearance irked the fans who maintained that a sweater was an advantage because his opponent could not escape from the deadly and savage headlock used by him. Pronto, the sweater came off. Then the mask came off. After winning the bout with a headlock, using his legs and stockings (another disadvantage), off came the stockings.

And all that has to be told now is the name of the "Bat." He's Hans Kupper who hails from Columbus, Ohio, is a native of Switzerland and is 38 years old.

This bout was the only one in which a blow was struck and Bauer retaliated with a return and also unmasked Kupper. However, the headlock showed its power and Bauer had to give up in 10 minutes.

The windup of the evening brought together Duke Ruppenthal and George Hackenschmidt. A good match resulted with both boys giving a variety of holds which had the fans up on their toes. After toiling for 38 minutes, Hackenschmidt won the only fall of the evening. Flying blocks, dropkick and flying mares were prominent in this bout.

Marv Strahota officiated the last two bouts while Henry Vanderhyden acted as timekeeper. Another show will be staged in two weeks.

Kaw City Gridders Work for Chuters

Hope to Repeat Last Week's Victory Next Sunday Afternoon

Kaukauna — The Kaukauna city football team ran through its long, est practice of the week last night under the lights on the library grounds as it prepared to repel the invasion of the Flying Dutchmen from Little Chute here Sunday. The contest will begin at 2 o'clock on the library grounds.

Last week the Merchants went to Little Chute and surprised the Dutchmen who, up to that time, had led it only once. The Kaws came through with a 9 to 7 victory, and outplayed the Chuters by much more than the score indicates. They had the ball on the 2-yard line as the half ended, the result of marching 60 yards.

The new additions to the Kaw backfield, who played their first game against Little Chute, Bill McCormick and Bill Peterson, transformed the Kaukauna backfield from fair to one that will stand up against the best in this vicinity. Peterson was particularly effective with his bullet-like passes. The former Kaukauna High school pitcher, an all-conference fullback last year, kept the Chuters back on their heels with tosses to John Nies and Ed Eiting at the ends. In the two receivers Peterson really has something to throw to, and the Kaws are expected to take to the air in a big way Sunday.

Bill McCormick, last year's high school captain, balances the attack with his off-tackle slashes. He's one of the most alert men on the squad, last week recovering two enemy passes. Bull Mathes at right half, the toughest man on the team, and Kutz Derus at full, who played his best ball of the year last Sunday, complete the starting Kaw backfield.

The line will have Nies and Eiting at ends, Andrews and Ploetz at guards; Niesen and Bloch at tackles and Mooney at center. Kaw substitutes are Deery, Martins, DeBruin and Danner.

Fordyce, Ark.—William R. Benton, father of Jim Benton, passing catching end of the Cleveland Rams National Football league team, has been elected judge of Dallas county.

Winneconne in 39 to 20 Victory Over Bear Creek

Six Man Footballers Stage Thrilling Battle on Losers' Grid

BEAR CREEK — Winneconne's six-man football team humbled Bear Creek by a one-sided score several weeks ago but the Creekers almost evened matters in a game played Tuesday. The score was 39 to 20 for Winneconne but only four points separated the teams until the last three minutes of the game.

Bear Creek kicked off to Winneconne to the 25-yard line. Zimmerman carried the ball back to a scoring position and then, after several plays, counted. The kick for the extra points was blocked by Tyrell. Zimmerman scored again on a well executed reverse for the second touchdown. Again the kick was blocked.

In the second quarter Bear Creek brought the ball up to the 7-yard line and lost it to Winneconne. However, Spence picked up Winneconne's fumble and ran 50 yards for a touchdown. Then Schenk kicked the extra point.

Bear Creek kicked to Winneconne which fumbled and Paul recovered for Bear Creek. Schenk then took a lateral over for a touchdown. Winneconne blocked the kick. The score then was 14-12 in favor of Bear Creek.

Bear Creek kicked off to Winneconne. Possession of the ball alternated until the last minute of the half when Zimmerman, Winneconne, took the ball over for a touchdown. Zimmerman's kick was wide.

Bear Creek received on the kick-off but fumbled to Winneconne. Winneconne was unable to capitalize on the break because of a penalty for unnecessary roughness. The score at the half was 18-14 in favor of Winneconne.

Bear Creek received in the second half but fumbled the ball because of downs on the 7-yard line. Zimmerman then scored after two long passes. The score then was 14-24 for Winneconne.

The next play was the most brilliant piece of work of the game. Winneconne kicked to Bear Creek and Spence received. Schenk took a lateral from Spence and, behind excellent blocking, ran for a touchdown. Bear Creek failed to convert. The score at the end of the third quarter was 20-24 in favor of Winneconne.

In the fourth quarter Winneconne raised the score to 39 with two touchdowns over the Bear Creek substitutes who were forced to replace the injured regulars. Peterson caught a pass over the goal-line for the extra point.

Although out-weighted about 20 pounds to the man, the Bear Creek team fought desperately to win. Winneconne had ample replacements while Bear Creek had only a couple. Coach Kaleik did remarkably well in shifting the men around.

The game was marked by frequent long penalties totalling 135 yards on Winneconne for slugging, clipping, and unnecessary roughness. Bear Creek finished the season with no penalties other than off-sides.

ANNUAL UNCIVIL WAR

By Buell Patterson

WAR clouds roll up every fall and farmers and hunters in trench for action on the fields where annually hostilities break out. The farmers throw up their defenses against the autumnal invasion of the hunters and despite all that local and national mediators can do, there is usually trouble. Outbreaks are sporadic and to be looked for in every section where game and birds are found. They are the sparks which set the powder magazines of the yearly strife ablaze. The day has not yet come when farmers and hunters can mingle in harmony.

Farmers, as the land owners, are defending their property rights with all the stubbornness of patriots holding off bands of marauders. Hunters ignore boundaries and fences as determinedly as ever armies broke through barbed-wire entanglements. It's an age old warfare.

If hunters, eager to bag a pheasant or two or to knock over a rabbit, realized what damage they sometimes do to farm property they would be more careful and more diplomatic. If they put themselves in the farmer's position, they would realize what they are doing in dashing on to land for shooting. Possibly many hunters are city dwellers who resent any encroachment upon their lawns and homes. Unthinkingly they are violating principles of private property protection. A farmer's lands are his pride as certainly as a city man's home.

Farmers Are Reasonable

Few farmers would object to allowing hunting privileges on their land if properly approached and if hunters did not abuse the privileges. All too often the huntsman thinks that he will not be detected on posted land. He thinks that he can "get away with something." An approach similar to that of a salesman out for new business might get results, where only trouble will come from invasion of forbidden land.

Most hunters are thoughtful and have a respect for the property of others, but those exceptions who tear down fences, injure livestock, damage fields and generally wreck the land they cover, are the trouble makers. Naturally farmers prepare each fall to repel the invasion of these vandals. They are in no mood to negotiate with the intruders.

There Is a Common Ground

Most farmers, because they are close to the land, enjoy the thrills of hunting. If properly approached they will lend an understanding ear to the man who wants to get some hunting. The farmer is just as integral a part of our population as the hunter. If measures can be taken to bring the warring parties together, a great advance will be made. Farmers will not worry about damage to their properties and hunters will be able to indulge in their favorite pastime. The farmer can help the hunter, but it is equally true that the hunter can help the farmer. Both like the same things if they only knew it. They have a common bond. Holy Name Eleven to Meet DePere Squad

Kimberly—At four o'clock Friday afternoon St. Joseph's gridders of DePere will battle with Father Hietpas's Holy Name hopefuls at the ball park. The showing and grit of the Holy Name team in holding the heavy St. Luke's squad of Two Rivers to a tie last Sunday still is being barber-shopped in the village.

No one believed Father Hietpas could remake the team within a week after scholastic difficulties had caused loss of several lads. The

Pro Grid Notes

Chicago—Lou Gordon, Chicago Bear tackle, who suffered a fractured right leg early in the season, has been released from the American hospital. The veteran forward is still on crutches, however, and will be unable to resume play this season.

Detroit—Bill Shepard's sudden rise to the top among the individual ground-gainers in the National Football league is traceable to a switch in positions.

Coach "Dutch" Clark of Detroit, after opposing Shepard when he failed to return within a few days. Clark, Detroit's playing-coach has abandoned drop-kicking in favor of placements.

Cleveland—Dick Tuckey, rookie Cleveland Rams back from Manhattan college, is the only active drop-kicker in the National Football league, now that "Dutch" Clark, Detroit's playing-coach has abandoned drop-kicking in favor of placements.

Friends Ask Gates to Return to Dartmouth

Hanover, N. H. —(AP)—The name of Harrington Kenneth "Heavenly" Gates, 24-year-old Saugus, Mass., football star who sought shelter from the "Godlessness" of the gridiron in the weather-beaten haven of the Legion of God at Amherst, today remained on the rolls of the Dartmouth senior class.

College authorities indicated, however, it would be removed if he failed to return within a few days. Meanwhile, 90 miles away at Amherst, Gates meditated upon his future. He has been interrupted many times since he arrived there Sunday and among yesterday's visitors were his 18-year-old brother Harold and two of his most intimate home town friends, Police Chief John T. Stuart and School Superintendent Vernon W. Evans of Saugus.

They pleaded with him to return to Dartmouth but, the younger brother said, he asked for additional time to consider his problem.

pony backfield averaging not more than eighty pounds a man, had speed to burn, going through large holes that the spunky line made for them.

St. Joseph's gridders have an average weight of a hundred and five pounds and specialize in lateral passing. However, the midgelets feel that what they lack in weight they can make up in speed and line plunging. Father Hietpas will start the lineup which he used last Sunday.

Don Hutson Becomes Top Scorer in Pro Grid Race

VETERAN players of the National Football league came to the fore during the past week of play and now command top honors in every department of offensive play, according to individual statistics announced today.

Don Hutson, Green Bay end, rose from second to first in scoring and from second to a tie for first in passing to share honors for the week with Bill Shepherd, Detroit halfback, who jumped from 16th to first in ground gaining.

Shepherd's spurt was the result of gaining 152 yards against the Bears Sunday, the biggest individual ball carrying effort of the season bringing his total to 308 yards. Andy Farkas, Washington, is just five yards behind with 303 yards, and Cecil Isbell, Green Bay, is third with 295 yards, only four more than Scrapper Farrell of Brooklyn.

Hutson has caught 28 passes to tie Gaynell Tinsley of the Chicago Cardinals but gained 487 yards as against 289 yards for Tinsley. Eight of his catches went for touchdowns, and he has a point after touchdown to give him 49 points for the season. He needs just two more touchdowns to break his record of 9 for one season, and also appears headed for new marks in number of catches and yards gained on receptions.

Farkas is second in scoring with 37 points. Joe Carter, Philadelphia, and Clarke Hinkle, Green Bay, are tied for third with 36 points each. Carter is also third in pass receiving with 22 catches. Regis Monahan, Detroit, tied Ward Cuff, New York Giants, for field goal laurels. Each has kicked 4 three-pointers.

Slingin' Sammy Baugh, Washington, overlook Jack Robbins, Cardinals recruit, for second place in forward passing, still led by Ed Danowski, New York. Danowski has completed 50 out of 84 tosses for 615 yards and a 59 per cent average. Baugh's record is 45 out of 81 for 572 yards and Robbins completed 45 of 90 for 548 yards. Six passers of the league have completed at least 50 per cent of their tosses. The other three are Cecil Isbell and Rob Monnett of Green Bay, and Bill Hartman of Washington.

An all-time National Football league individual record was surpassed Sunday when Dutch Clark, player-coach of Detroit kicked a field goal against the Bears, bringing his total to 304 points. This breaks the lifetime total of 301 points made by Verne Lewellen, former Green Bay star.

being the only man ever to be named three times as "most valuable" American league player.

He left his suburban Elkins Park home at dawn yesterday, shot a few rabbits and pheasants, and, returning for a late dinner received news the baseball writers of America had again placed him tops.

His disappointment over his bag—three pheasants and "four or five" rabbits—marred whatever elation he may have felt over getting 305 of 336 possible points in the vote.

Jimmy said, too, that he believes his "best year" still is ahead. He was 31 two weeks ago.

"They said he was through after the off season he had in 1937, but look what he did," the Boston slugger's attractive little brunette wife chimed in proudly.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

Europe from 1918 to 1938 XIV--THE SEPTEMBER CRISIS

Only five short weeks ago, the world trembled on the brink of war. Hitler had said he wanted part of Czechoslovakia. In a speech which the radio carried to many nations, he declared that if he didn't get it before Oct. 1 his army would march in and take it.

No part of the Czech republic had belonged to Germany, but all of it had been in the Austro-Hungarian empire. The part Hitler wanted was known as the Sudeten region, and continued German-speaking people known as "Sudeten."

Hitler had a great deal to say about the "poor Sudeten," but many believe that he really wanted was the Sudeten forts. If he could get them, the rest of Czechoslovakia would be at his mercy.

Three powerful nations--France, Great Britain and Russia--came forward as friends of the republic. They said that if Hitler attacked, he would have to fear war from them.

President Roosevelt sent two long cablegrams to Hitler. He did not make any statement about what was just, or what was unjust, in Germany's demands but asked that the dispute be settled by reason not force.

Premier Chamberlain of Great Britain had made two trips to Germany, but had come back with the report that it was no use to try to reason with Hitler. Millions of soldiers prepared to march, cannon were made ready, bombing planes were tuned up and gas masks were passed around.

Then came a stop, and people held their breath. A meeting took place in Munich, a meeting of men representing Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany. Russia was not invited.

As a result of the meeting, there was peace. Not all are sure it was a just peace, but it was some kind of peace. It took away, for the moment, the terrible fear of a European war, or perhaps a World war.

Czechoslovakia, as a free nation, was born in 1918, but the main part of it--Bohemia--was an independent kingdom long ago. Near the end of the past September, it was agreed to carve off edges of the Bohemian part and present them to Germany. Great Britain and France said they would guard what was left from foreign attack.

So it came about that the amazing German "Fuehrer" won what he wanted without bloodshed. Yet there might easily have been war. By his madly stubborn demands, Hitler risked the lives of an untold number of human beings. The black clouds of a possible war within a year or two hang over the world, even though a peace was patched up.

Co-op Buys for 39 Grocers in 19 Communities

Stores in Wide Area Served by Warehouse Here

Save Money for Members By Buying and Distributing Methods

The Appleton unit of the United Grocers Cooperative, Inc., was organized under the cooperative laws of the state of Wisconsin May 21, 1936, to effect economies in the distribution and marketing of food, thus benefiting both the retailer and consumer.

It became part of the national non-profit organization a month after its formation, further widening the scope of the United Grocers Cooperative, which has as its expressed aim the "elimination of frills and high expense in the wholesale grocery business in order to enable members to bring high quality food to the consumer at a lower cost."

The Appleton unit covers an area which extends south to Mayville, north to Bailey's Harbor, and east to Manitowoc. Thirty-nine stores in all are included in the cooperative, representing 19 cities and villages. There are 11 United Grocers stores in Appleton.

The organization is a true cooperative, with membership restricted to accounts of good standing, sufficient volume, and sound finances. To become a member of the United Grocers Cooperative, a grocer must measure up to these required standards. The membership fee is $500, entitling the grocer to the full services and giving him a share in the national organization and a vote in the affairs of the Appleton unit.

Have Paid Manager
The unit is headed by a staff of officers and directors, who guide its progress and determine its policies. The directors in turn hire a paid manager to conduct the actual business transactions of the corporation.

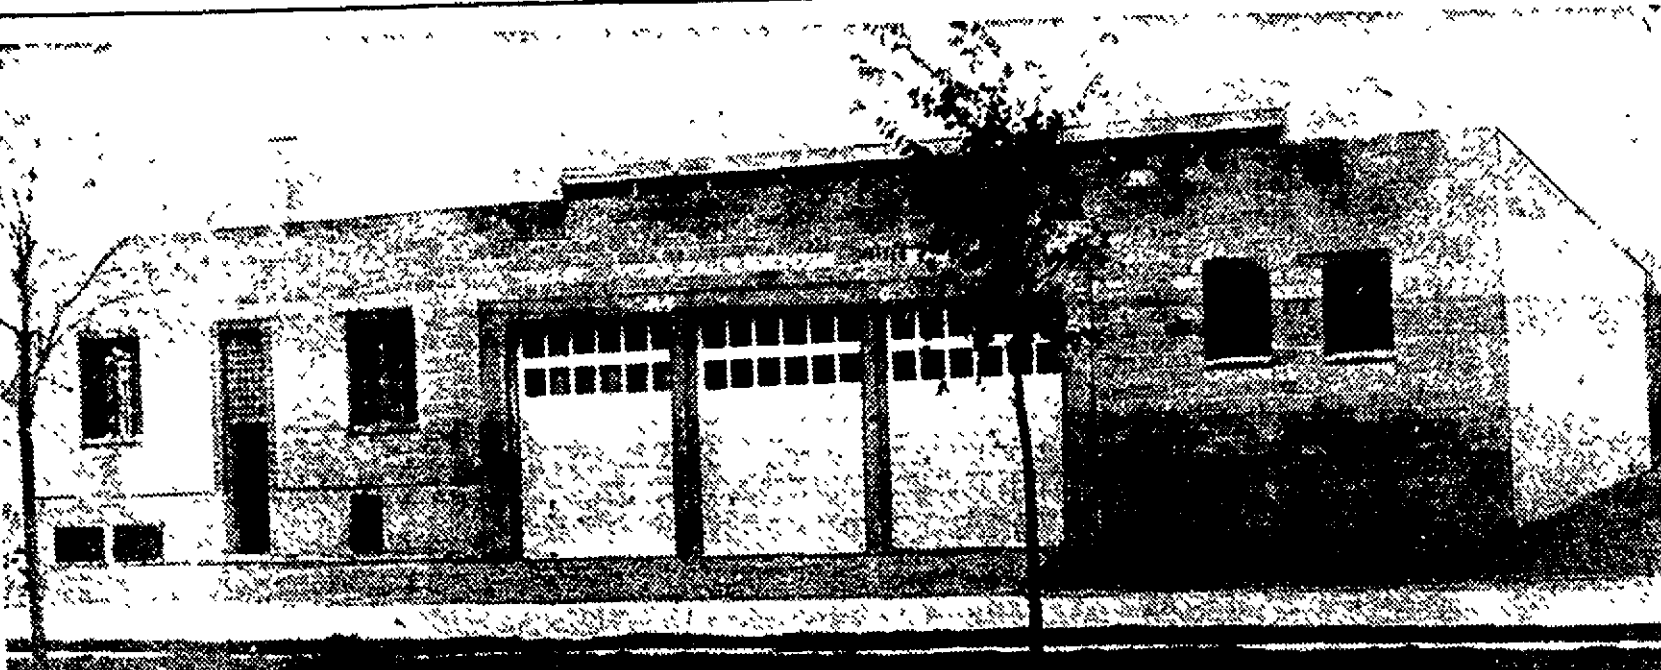

Officers of the organization are James Piette, Appleton, president; Arthur Hopfensperger, Kimberly, vice president; Joseph Belling, Appleton, secretary-treasurer; Charles Miller, Appleton, manager.

The board of directors is composed of C. J. Hanegraff, Little Chute; Herbert Gollner, Menasha; P. J. Humbach, Fond du Lac; and O. J. Hoffmann, Sturgeon Bay.

The officers and directors do not receive remuneration for their services, nor are the national officers or directors paid salaries.

The members of United Grocers Cooperative do their buying of commodities by mail and telephone from a complete price list and stock order form issued each month by the warehouse. Price changes, market conditions, new items are indicated each week in a bulletin sent to each member.

UNITED GROCERS' NEW WAREHOUSE TO BE FORMALLY OPENED THIS WEEKEND

Members of the United Grocers Cooperative, scattered over many towns and cities in northeastern Wisconsin, will be served with groceries and other supplies from this new warehouse formally opened this weekend with a food show. The building has 8,000 square feet of floor space and will be filled with groceries bearing United Grocer brands. The stock is so arranged that orders from member grocers can be filled in just a few minutes, and the Cooperative maintains its own delivery system to assure prompt service.

distribution are the chief principles in the United Grocers Cooperative system. As often as possible, merchandise is delivered to member grocers by trucks directly from railroad cars, thus saving storing charges.

The warehouse which is attached to each unit of the national organization buys in carloads lots direct from the manufacturer whenever this method is feasible or warranted by the demand.

Canned foods are purchased by the national office in Chicago. Canners must submit samples of their foods and those of best quality are selected. As a further safeguard of the quality, the United Grocers Cooperative insists that canners forward samples in advance of the actual shipping, samples that bear that same lot number of the originals from which the order was placed. In this manner, a careful check is made of the quality of all foods purchased by the organization and issued to its 106 warehouses throughout the nation.

The Appleton unit is the youngest and smallest of the 106 subdivisions of United Grocers Cooperative, Inc., an organization that last year did more than a billion dollar worth of business through its members.

The 39 grocers who make up the membership meet monthly, the directors semi-monthly. Lately, however, with the innumerable details that attend the planning of a 3-day food show and the opening of a big new warehouse, the board of directors has convened at least once a week, sometimes more frequently.

The address of the present United Grocers headquarters is 323 N. Clark, a building which will be abandoned next week as both office

United Grocers Identify Their Products With Their Own Brands

The United Grocers Co-operative Inc., which has 11 membership stores in Appleton, sponsors three nationally known brands of food products, Shurfine, Tastewell, and Elmdale.

Shurfine is the most superior of the brands. Only the finest of any commodity can be placed under this label, which is an indicator of the highest quality.

Tastewell is the name of the brand which, though not as select as Shurfine, is better than average, graded by the United States government as extra standard.

The third brand, Elmdale, is standard merchandise containing good food value but not as choice in quality.

For products other than food, you'll find the following labels in your United Grocers store. Mity fine, Viking, Royal Arms, and Solfin. All United Grocers brands are sold only to member stores.

The labels for the brands are purchased by national headquarters in million units. This is again in line with the co-operative's policy of achieving economy through high volume buying. The labels are all of striking design. Tests of all merchandise purchased by the national organization for distribution to warehouse units and from there to grocers are made by a national field man, the national office, and the local manager. Final check-ups are made at the warehouse before the products are distributed.

All pineapple used by the United Grocers Co-operative Inc., for example, is packed by the famous Dole firm, all the kraft by Franck's, and most of the peas sold by the stores in this community by the Fuhrman canning company of Appleton. Coffee is roasted in the organization's own equipment.

Firms outside city — Otto R. Voeks, Bailey's Harbor; O. J. Hoffmann, Sturgeon Bay; Warner's Grocery, Sawyer; Frank's Grocery, (two stores), Otto Pfeiffer's Market, and Charles A. Cizek, Manitowoc; John Schommer, route 1, Kaukauna; George Hermesen and C. J. Hanegraff, Little Chute.

Arthur Hopfensperger, Kimberly; Economy Grocery, Seymour; J. A. Grunwaldt, Black Creek; Herbert Gollner and Kemmter's Grocery, Menasha; Robert Kuehl, Nash Grocery, Neenah; C. E. Boettner, Oshkosh; J. P. Humbach, Johnson's Food Market, Johnson's South Side Market, Fond du Lac; The Charles Ruedebusch company, Mayville; F. A. Clore, Plymouth; Ben M. Baus, St. Cloud; Don M. Kimmers, Stockbridge.

low. The sashes and window frames on the skylights will be painted gray, conforming with the rest of the structure.

Kauffman and Solstad are the architects for the building and Fred Hoffman the contractor.

The building fronts on Washington street and it will be from this side that commodities will be loaded into trucks, ready for distribution to the 39 member grocers in the Appleton unit of United Grocers, Inc.

United Grocers Have 8,000 Feet In New Warehouse

Building Is Arranged for Rapid Handling of Grocery Orders

Class is the word for the new United Grocers warehouse at 1117 W. Washington street which residents of Appleton and vicinity will inspect for the first time at the open house and food show demonstration Nov. 6, 7, and 8.

Ninety by 114 feet in size, the attractive, 1-story building will have 8,000 square feet of floor space. Besides the main storage room, there will be special rooms for flour and candy.

At the left of the building is the door to the general office and manager's office. These offices, which have rest rooms adjoining, will be highly finished.

Provision has been made on the front section of the building, where the offices are located, for an additional story which will ultimately be constructed and in which foods will be exhibited. The building is heated with unit heaters.

Lots of Light
The building has a concrete foundation and floor, substantial concrete block walls, and insulated roof slabs. There are three tin-clad saw-tooth skylights atop the structure, which provide an unusual amount of light for workmen be-

United Grocers are World's Largest Food Distributors

The United Grocers Cooperative, Inc., founded in 1933, stands today as the largest food distributing firm in the world.

With 106 warehouse units, 21,000 member stores, and a scope of 38 states, the cooperative last year reported a business volume in excess of a billion dollars.

Each member grocer owns a share of stock in the national organization and each warehouse series will be unloaded. Two large doors are provided for this work.

unit is entitled to one vote. National officers and directors serve without pay. The cooperative has its main office in the Merchandise Mart building in Chicago, with field offices in Baltimore and San Francisco.

The co-operative is able to obtain maximum discounts on quantity purchases, passing on the savings to individual warehouse units and returning any over charges on purchases to members at the end of each year in the form of a patron's dividend.

Of 64 elements known to be present in the soil, 58 have been found in plants growing in the soil.

The United Grocers Co-operative, Inc., will be host to one of the most expansive open house and food show demonstrations ever staged in Appleton and vicinity next Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday, Nov. 6, 7, and 8.

The show will mark the formal opening of the new warehouse at 1117 W. Washington street, a large, well built structure that will be attractively decorated for the 3-day event.

The hundreds of people who visit the building during the show will find 30 booths placed in the main storage room of the warehouse with silver and blue drapes making an arresting display. Efficient Plan Worked Out for Handling Orders

No Time Lost in Filling Requisitions From Member Merchants

The distribution of goods from the new warehouse of the Appleton unit of the United Grocers will be a carefully planned and efficient system, with as little actual handling as possible.

Suppose, for example, that a carload of canned goods is shipped to Appleton for the United Grocers warehouse. It will be run onto the Soo line industrial tracks behind the warehouse and, very probably, the new gravity conveyors will be put into operation for the unloading.

The conveyors are 24 inches wide, with half-bearing steel rollers and come in 10-foot sections. Their name indicates how they function. By hoisting the end in the car, the cases will simply slide down the conveyors into the warehouse.

The conveyors will be used principally for emptying box cars, but they will also facilitate and speed the loading of large orders onto the trucks. They will reach from the end of the warehouse to the other end of the unloading and loading of smaller lots. 100 skid trucks and two hydraulic lift trucks will be part of the equipment in the warehouse. Each lift truck has a capacity of two tons.

Each of the 39 members of the Appleton United Grocers Co-operative receives at least one delivery a week, whether his store is in Appleton or Sturgeon Bay.

The two trucks used in the hauling and back-hauling of merchandise will carry from one to three orders, that is, enough for from one to three stores.

"Back-hauling" of merchandise means returning to the warehouse with a load of goods purchased for further distribution among members. For example, a truck might set out from Appleton with an order for a Sturgeon Bay store and on the return trip pick up a load of sugar that has reached Green Bay by boat.

The order form which the United Grocers member always has in his possession is arranged just as the stock is stored in the warehouse. Thus, when an order is being filled, the warehouse workers start from the top of the list with goods that have been placed in the rear of the building. They gradually work out, completing the job when they reach the loading platform.

The billing is made from order forms which are priced so that it is unnecessary to look up the cost of each item for invoicing.

Sherwood Residents are Uninjured in Smashup

Sherwood—Mrs. Clarence Mueller and son of Sherwood escaped injury Saturday afternoon when the car which she was driving left the road when she failed to complete a turn near the Leo Lamb cheese factory at Hilbert. Twenty-one tables were in play at the card party which was given by the Christian Mothers of St. John church Sunday afternoon in Stommel's hall at St. John. Clarion Is Given 1st Class Rating

High School Yearbook Awarded 985 Points Of Possible 1,000

First class honor rating was awarded to the 1938 edition of the Clarion, Appleton High school yearbook, by the National Scholastic Press association. "A splendid book, particularly in the careful selection and adequate display of action pictures," was the comment of the judges.

In competition with 848 annuals, the Clarion received 985 points. One thousand would have put the book in the "All-American" class, the highest rating which the association recognizes. In every critical section the book was rated above average, including editorial and make-up treatment, the general plan, financial status and mechanical considerations.

Cordell Zuelke was editor-in-chief of the annual. Her assistants were Albert Wickesberg and Mary Ellen Pomeroy. Faculty advisers to the editorial staff were Miss Marcelle Buesing and Miss Margaret Goggins, while Miss Esther Graef guided the work of the business department.

MODEL BEATS PLANE To learn how high a model airplane could be made to fly, M. Maurice Martigue built one with a ten-foot wing span, started it off from the Deauville, France, airport after a twenty-yard run, and followed it in a full-size airplane. The full-size plane had to give up the chase.

Whole World Source of Supply For United Grocers' Warehouse

Where do United Grocers products come from?

Well, they come from as nearby as Appleton and from as far as the Philippine Islands, depending on what commodity you're talking about.

Shurfine coffee, for example, is a blend of six different coffees from six different countries. The rich, distinctive flavor comes from the Medellin Bogotas coffee of Colombia. Experts regard this as the finest type of coffee produced by this South American country. It is a fancy, mountain grown product.

Mexico contributes its share by furnishing Mexican Cotepec, valued because of its excellent flavor and sharp acidity. The little republic of Guatemala in Central America provides a coffee which makes for a handsome roast and provides the pleasant aroma of Shurfine coffee.

Another coffee from Central America, which is one of the six famous blends, is Washed Bucaramanga, inserted to give the Shurfine product a heavy body. Venezuela provides the fifth coffee, Maracaibo, noted for its large beans, and fine roasting properties. Maracaibo flavor is distinctively different.

From Brazil, the largest coffee producing country in the world, comes Bourbon Santos. The beans are small and resemble the old Mocha grade. Brewed, this coffee gives Shurfine a smooth taste, without tang and unpleasant acid properties.

Peas sold by United Grocers stores are grown in the Fox river valley, one of the best pea growing sections in the entire nation and in the state that leads the nation in this agricultural product.

The Appleton unit buys its peas from the Fuhremann Canning company. There are three reasons for this: First, because purchasing from a local industry is obviously good for the city and community; second, because the peas are high grade; and third, because there is no freight handling.

Two Varieties The United Grocers sell two varieties of peas, early Junes or Alaskas and the late variety or "sweets." Only those passing the most rigid government tests for fine quality are placed under the certified United Grocers label.

Most of the sugar sold by United Grocers stores comes from the Philippines, some from the Hawaiian islands. The sugar is shipped to New York city through the Panama canal and, in summer, via water to Green Bay. In this manner, the cooperative takes advantage of the lowest possible freight rates.

The sugar for this territory is refined in New York city. Actually, there is little profit in selling sugar. Sometimes the total profit of the manufacturer, broker, warehouse, and retailer doesn't amount to .10 cents a hundredweight.

The best sugar sold by United Grocers stores is refined in De Pere, from beets raised in this section of Wisconsin.

Retailer-Owned Grocers

The National Retailer-Owned Grocers have become familiarly known throughout the country as NROG, and represents more than 21,000 of the nation's leading individually-owned food stores. These stores are owned and controlled by the grocers themselves, who likewise own and control their own wholesale grocery company, operating warehouse jointly with other grocers in the same community.

In the NROG organization there are over 100 groups of grocers, like the United Grocers in this community, that are called "Retailer-Owned Grocers." The NROG system of retail food distribution is modern, direct and efficient, and has made possible for its member grocers throughout the country to pass on to the consumer the benefits of their cooperative efforts.

NROG maintains merchandising offices in Chicago, with branches in Baltimore, Md., and San Francisco, Calif. The Chicago offices are the national headquarters, and are located in the Merchandise Mart. The Chicago offices are under the direction of Martin B. Sand, General Manager. The central merchandising headquarters of NROG was opened in June, 1935. At that time, there were approximately 12,000 retailer-owned members who operated 50 warehouse distributing points. Today the membership is over 21,000 with 104 warehouses.

In NROG organizations, the retail grocers are supreme. They own and operate their own stores and work together with their fellow grocers in the same community. They own and operate the wholesale distributing warehouses. Wm. M. D'Miller of Allentown, Pa., is the National President of NROG. C. H. Garbers of Chicago, Ill., Vice President, and Harry Martin of Minneapolis, Minnesota is Secretary-Treasurer.

Immunization of School Children Begins Next Week

Red Cross to Offer Program: Evelyn Hickey Is Roll Call Head

New London — Free immunization of all New London school children against diphtheria and small pox will be started by the New London chapter of the American Red Cross sometime next week as a major civilian service program, according to Francis A. Werner, chapter chairman. The executive committee will meet this week to complete final plans.

Miss Evelyn Hickey has been named roll call chairman to direct the annual American Red Cross membership drive which begins Armistice day and continues until Thanksgiving day. Half of the funds secured will remain in the city to finance the immunization program; and other civilian service projects.

Work undertaken by the chapter last year was the supplying of milk daily to eight school children, contributions to the Waupaca County Child Welfare program, and financing the instructions of Miss Evelyn Hickey, as city swimming instructor, at the Red Cross aquatic school last summer.

Ward Chairmen — Miss Hickey has named ward chairmen to conduct the city-wide drive and workers will be selected to contact factory employees. Mrs. Walter Smith will handle the First ward; Mrs. L. J. Polaski and Miss Hickey the Second ward; Mrs. A. C. VanAlstine, Third; Mrs. Richard Gehlke, Fourth; Miss Amelia Rasmussen, Fifth; Miss Anne Halsor of the high school faculty will solicit school teachers.

Nov. 6 is Red Cross Sunday and pastors all over the nation will be asked to announce the aims and purposes of the drive simultaneously. A trailer featuring the singing of Deanna Durbin in behalf of the Red Cross will be run at the local theaters next week and milk bottle collars will make their appearance at the opening of the campaign. Posters will be set out by the New London Boy Scouts.

Potato Institute Slated for Nov. 17

Talks by State University Experts Will Feature Meeting

New London — A potato institute will be held at Washington High school here Wednesday, Nov. 17, under the auspices of the University of Wisconsin Extension service and the New London chapter of the Future Farmers of America, it was announced yesterday by L. M. Warner, agriculture instructor.

Plans were started this week by Victor Quick, Waupaca county agent; R. C. Swanson, Outagamie county agent; and Mr. Warner. The meeting will be the only one of its kind in this section of the state this year.

Prominent speakers from the university will discuss potato growing, the best fertilizers to use, how to control diseases, and marketing of the product. The program will begin at 10 o'clock in the morning and continue all day.

In conjunction with the institute an exhibit of potatoes in peck samples will be held. The different varieties will be judged and ribbons will be awarded.

A seed identification contest will be conducted for members of the Future Farmers.

Ski Slide Work Nearly Finished

Club Will Hold 'Bee' Sunday to Clean Up Debris on Hill

New London — Improvement work on the Mosquito Hill ski slide was completed today except for minor details and the hill is ready for the winter snows. Members of the ski club will hold a bee at the hill Sunday to clean up rocks and other debris left by the work.

The hill now presents a straight 40-degree slope from below the take-off to the bottom and promises more speed and distance with safety than ever before. Ingvar Arneson, outstanding Class A rider who will ride for New London again this year, inspected the progress of the hill early in the week and expressed satisfaction over the improvements.

A shovel operated by motor and cables has been used to scoop earth away from the bottom of the hill and fill in at the top. Small irregularities will be filled in with snow. Reuben Voie, George Zitske and Amos Tate have been doing the work.

Application has been made by the New London ski club for a tournament date under the official sanction of the Central United States Ski association. The club expects to have the same crew of riders as last year.

About 60 persons were present from Green Bay, Manitowish, Marinette, Oshkosh, Neenah, Menasha, Kiel, Little Chute, Chilton, Sheboygan Falls, and New London.

The changing economic period and the need of adjustment was stressed by A. D. Theobald, Chicago, vice president of the United States Building and Loan league, who was the principal speaker after the banquet.

Carl Taylor, Milwaukee, executive secretary of the state league explained in detail President Roosevelt's proposed F. H. A. program, and its probable effect on the loan associations.

Clyde Diggles, Milwaukee, state supervisor of building and loan associations, also spoke and pointed out the need of satisfying the public interest and knowing and understanding its needs. All the speakers emphasized the need of a concentrated advertising campaign to sell the associations to the public.

Entertainment was provided by Tony Budwit with his music and impersonations. Miss Gertrude Ploetz played a French horn solo accompanied by Miss Marie Hauke.

Two Persons Hurt as Automobiles Collide On New London Street

New London — Dr. R. L. Fitzgerald, 126 W. Quincy street, and Miss Anna Bolinske, 1102 Wyman street, received minor injuries and the cars they were driving were badly damaged in an accident at S. Pearl and Washington streets about 12:30 yesterday noon. Dr. Fitzgerald was treated at Community hospital for several puncture wounds on the forehead and Miss Bolinske suffered abrasions of both legs and a wrenched back and neck.

Both cars were facing south on S. Pearl street when the collision occurred. Miss Bolinske told police she had stopped to wait for an oncoming car before making a left hand turn east onto Washington street.

General Public Gets Its First Peek at Television This Year
—BY JACK STINNETT
New York —(AP)— You can't flip a dial and tune in talking-pictures any time you like but 1938 will go into the record as the year the public got its first look at television.
In the National Broadcasting Company studios in Rockefeller Center, they're offering the public a "television tour" which is a visual proof that television is here. It's the first time, too, television has earned a penny of income. The charge is 50 cents (plus tax).
One firm is offering television receiving sets and another has kits for sale out of which the mechanically-minded can construct their own receivers. At least ten more companies are equipped to turn out receivers at the drop of an iconoscope.
Daily experimental broadcasts flow from the cloud-scratching antenna atop the Empire State building.
Columbia Broadcasting Co. is installing its new transmitter in the Chrysler building and early in 1939 New York will have two competing television broadcasting stations.
Thomas H. Hutchinson, NBC television production director, says that since July, 1936, about 500 persons have made a total of 1,000 appearances before NBC's cameras.

"Several thousand viewers," he says, "have seen several fashion shows, vaudeville acts, a detective drama, science demonstrations, motion picture travelogs, puppet shows, newsreels, high and low comedy, instrumental soloists, vocalists and, most notable of all, a recent television presentation of a scene from the Broadway play, 'Susan and God,' starring Gertrude Lawrence."
Black-And-White
Television pictures, originally tinted green, are now received in black and white. "The new shading closely resembles that of the movies," says O. B. Hanson, NBC's chief engineer, "which we find is healthful and agreeable to the eyes."
The technical troubles of television used to be the only ones emphasized. Now, says Hanson, the engineering side is so far ahead of the program side that it will take considerable time for the latter to catch up.
The engineers still have their problems, though. Hanson finds the present television screen, 7 1/2 by 10 inches, too small for ideal reception. "We don't want to enlarge it indefinitely," he explains, "but our experiments indicate that in the average living room a 12-by-15 inch screen is most satisfactory."

Television studios are too small, too; Hanson thinks movie-size studio "lots" will be required eventually. Just now he is planning a studio 50-by-80 feet, with a 30-foot ceiling, large enough to hold the three or four sets necessary to a television program of any variety. Remember that in television, unlike the movies, scenes cannot be pieced together. There must be a continuous flow of action. The control man achieves that by pressing a button which transfers the continuity from one camera to another. That sounds simple, but it demands that actor, photographer, director and control man know all the plans perfectly.
Television settings, incidentally, are becoming more realistic. Michael Weightman-Smith, formerly San Francisco opera company and theatrical designer and now television's first full-time scenic designer, tells what's being done: "About a year ago, we did not bother with wallpaper designs on studio sets. But today the sensitivity of television requires close attention to pattern and design on wall surfaces. The same applies to furniture, fabrics, floor coverings, fixtures and costumes."
"One handicap that persists is our inability to reproduce pure white or pure black. Our knowledge of the camera's sensitivity to color still is rather incomplete. Green and blue reproduce in corresponding values of gray. The television camera distinguishes between natural red hair and dyed red hair."

"Studio action being televised at rather close range, I have found it expedient to design each set like the panel of a Japanese screen, each panel of which comprises a separate background."
"Romantic settings, such as moonlit scenes and dark interiors, have not been used yet, but such settings are easily possible now and probably will become commonplace soon."
Acting, too, is already beginning to have its television "veterans." I talked to three.
"Unless my judgment errs," says Arthur Maitland, "we are about to see a rejuvenescence of that noble art that plays lyric tunes on the human heartstrings. The future of the theater lies with television."
Edmonia Nolley declares: "Television enlarges the actor's perspective appreciably. It helps to divest one of personal ego; it may even tend to undermine the star system."
Helen Lewis, who played television's first long-run show, a dramatic sketch that ran 14 performances, says: "There is something very intimate about a camera gazing at you several feet away and all the world watching through its lens. Compared with stage and radio, I think television gives the actor a greater incentive for emotional expression."

The WORLD OF STAMPS

BY THE AP FEATURE SERVICE

An episode of Spain's civil war is graphically memorialized on two stamps recently issued by the Loyalist government. They honor the 43rd Division, commanded by Lieut. Col. Antonio Betran. Hemmed in by Franco's men in a corner of the Pyrenees last June, this "lost division" kept right on fighting and managed to fortify a 400-square mile sector.

The 25-cent stamp, printed in deep green, shows three steel-helmeted Spanish soldiers behind a machine gun aimed across the snowy mountains. The 45-cent chocolate picture shows two men of the division manning a machine gun, with a different scenic background.

The University of Santo Domingo, reputedly the oldest school in this hemisphere, is observing its 400th anniversary this season. Dominican Republic plans to issue a series of four stamps to commemorate its founding. There will be 1, 1, 3 and 7-centavo values, and the university's seal probably will be in the central design.

A crusading journalist who tried his hand at revolution, developed a passionate interest in public education and finally became his nation's president, has recently been honored by Argentina on the 60th anniversary of his death.

He was Domingo Faustino Sarmiento (1811-1888). The portrait of this fiery politician-teacher appears on a set of four stamps of restrained design which probably appeared Sept. 11, the date of Sarmiento's death.

Much of Sarmiento's life was spent in Chile because his political beliefs did not jibe with those of the dictator, Rosas. In Chile he edited newspapers, fought for liberal government and public schools, founded a normal school and taught in a university. In 1852 he was helping to overthrow the Argentine dictator in a battle.

Sarmiento became governor of San Juan and just after the American Civil War, was sent to Washington as Argentina's minister. While there, he was elected president of his republic for the 1868-74 term. He proved a capable chief executive, keeping the social, political and economic conditions stable. Later, as superintendent of schools for his nation, he was able to realize many of his educational aims.

One of Sarmiento's books (his writings fill 52 volumes), which describes his native land under the yoke of Dictator Rosas, is a national classic, even today.

The set of four Sarmiento stamps consists of 3-centavo green, 5-cent, 15-cent and 50-cent orange.

The British West Indian colonies are bringing up the rear gear in issuing "new reign" stamps. Jamaica is expected to produce its set this month. Dominica was a recent contributor to this series.

'Largest Man's' Plight Stirs 'Shortest Mayor' Into Action

Menominee, Mich.—Until science is able to control those pesky glands, there'll always be men like Cliff Thompson of Scandinavia, Wis.—8 feet 7 inches, 460 pounds—who find it difficult to live in a world built for men of ordinary chassis.

Cliff, who travels with circuses as "the world's tallest man," has trouble finding beds long enough, chairs big enough, His feet pop out below average length sheets, chairs crumble beneath him.

In Menominee, Mayor Michael C. Olsen has troubles too—but in reverse. Mayor Olsen is 4 feet 11 inches tall, claims to be the world's smallest man, and his feet dangle from chairs; in the theater it's the front row or oblivion.

The two met here last spring and Mayor Olsen decided to help a giant in distress. Cliff had a bed nine and one-half feet long, the mayor learned, but no chair of proportionate size. So the mayor had a Menominee chair manufacturer put together something extra special.

The mayor gave Cliff the chair and a key to the city at the same time recently. Now the giant can sit down without fear of crashing through to the floor.

$600 Claim Filed At Clintonville

Damage Alleged After 12 Trees are Cut Near Airport

Clintonville — At its November meeting Tuesday evening, the city council received a claim for $600 damages from Sam Finch and Miss Nellie Pushor, who allege that city employees cut off 12 small trees which stood on the border line between their farm and the airport property. Foremen in charge of the airport project say that no one was ordered to cut the trees and it is not definitely known who did the cutting. Until this can be proved, the matter rests in the hands of City Attorney C. C. Mullarkey and the public property committee who are investigating.

The aldermen approved the purchase of a used six-ton low-bed trailer from William Kuester for $275. The trailer has been used by the city for several months at the airport and will be useful for hauling heavy machinery in the future. Toward the purchase price of $275, Mr. Kuester will apply $63 which the city owes him on a loading machine which has also been used at the airport and $100 of this sum is to be applied on taxes, leaving $112 to be paid in cash.

The public property committee was instructed to confer with the library board in regard to improvements being considered at the grounds in the rear of the Finney library.

Alderman Fred Tanner reported on the progress made by his committee in securing easements across property on N. Twelfth street, where it is planned to lay a sanitary sewer to serve residents on W. Thirteenth street, where there is no city sewer at present.

Dr. F. D. Sexton gave a detailed report on the city milk supply. His tests show the milk to be clean and of low bacteria count.

The petition for a street light on Tenth street was referred to the water and light commission.

A beverage operator's license was granted to Miss Ruth Gartzke of this city.

The monthly report of the city treasurer was read and bills for the last month were allowed.

Statistics show that 65 per cent of the children in reform schools never attended Sunday School.

5 Neenah Aldermen Voice Disapproval Of Halloween Acts

Council Members Condemn Destruction of City Property

Neenah—Five members of the city council at a meeting last night at the city hall voiced disapproval of the destruction done to city property by pranksters Halloween night, and Mayor Edwin A. Kalfahs said that Chief C. H. Watts and the police department are open to suggestions on methods of preventing a recurrence next year.

Alderman John Heigl said he blamed the police department, that it was a case of the "mice running away with the cat." The alderman said: "I think there should be some change made in the police department. All this damage shouldn't have taken place if the police had been functioning."

Mayor Kalfahs defended the police department, contending that the "whole police force can't stand on every corner in town. Youngsters wouldn't do the damage if policemen were present. Although I admit there is always room for improvement, Neenah has had a safe Halloween in many years, and I don't believe a department can lapse in one year. The department answered all calls faithfully, and three of the boys who were caught in the act of destroying property were arrested and prosecuted. Many others were locked up, but the police, not having caught them in the act, couldn't prosecute them."

Suggests Steel Prongs

Alderman Robert Martens then condemned the destruction done to city property. He especially disapproved of tearing down street signs, suggesting that if sharp prongs were inserted near the top, the boys would cut their hands when they attempted to damage the signs.

Alderman John Kunschke said that shooting of fireworks especially was dangerous. "Where did they get the fireworks?" he asked. Alderman James Anderson said an ordinance should be passed, but John W. O'Leary, city attorney, said that there is an ordinance but the police have to catch the pranksters in the act before they can arrest and prosecute them.

Alderman Carl Loehning contended that the "police stopped soaping of windows and why can't they stop the damage."

Offering a suggestion to curb the destruction, Alderman Heigl said that police officers should visit schools prior to Halloween and impress upon the children not to destroy property.

Brief Meeting

Besides the discussion on Halloween, only routine business was transacted during a comparatively short meeting. The session lasted little over an hour.

Alderman Walter Buschey reported that the proposed ordinance for licensing bicycles would be ready for enactment at the next meeting. The council voted to give the committee on streets, sidewalks and bridges authority to purchase 3,000 feet of snow fence from the Wheeler company, Wittenburg, at a cost of $6.45 per 100 feet. Alderman Loehning, chairman of the committee, reported that prices also had been secured from the William Krueger company, which quoted a price of $7.50 per 100 feet and the county highway commission which quoted a price of $6.75 per 100 feet. The fence will be placed on Lake, Hanson and Reed streets.

Two budgets submitted to the council were referred to the finance committee. The budget of the Neenah-Menasha office of the Wisconsin state employment service amounted to $15,000, the amount to be divided between Neenah, Menasha and the county. The Neenah Vocational school budget was $18,307.

Reports on Bills

Alderman Emil Harder, chairman of the finance committee, reported that the city incurred 197 accounts last month amounting to $12,761.85, the larger bills being manholes $1,310, sand and gravel $1,165.66, street lighting $1,112.13, relief $940.40, cement $818.40 and sewers $311.90.

The council accepted the recommendation of the committee on public improvements to purchase about 5,000 feet of sewer pipe from the Home Fuel company which submitted a low bid of $948.

City Clerk H. S. Zemlock read a report on the expenditures for the last Fourth of July celebration by the Legion. The total expense amounted to $1,378.99 of which the city's share was $610.68. Comparing it with last year, the clerk read that the total expense in 1937 was $1,426 and the city's share was $814.

Alderman Richard O'Brien suggested that the Legion be commended for staging the observance.

Opposes Paving

The city clerk also read a communication from the Wickert Lumber company opposing paving of E. Canal street. The communication said that the company would hold the city responsible for any damage done.

In the justice reports, read by the city clerk, Justice Gaylord C. Loehning had fines and fees amounting to $299.35 and Justice L. O. Cooke had $10.95 in fines and fees.

Alderman Loehning reported that WPA crews would continue working on catch basins until the work was completed. The deadline for the WPA project is Nov. 7, but he reported that permission has been secured from WPA officials to continue the project.

Begin Tuberculin Testing Program In Schools Nov. 8

County Board, Medical Society Cooperating On Project

Menasha—The third annual tuberculin testing program in the Menasha schools will be conducted next week at Jefferson school, according to Dr. L. S. Shemanski, chairman of the local committee in charge of arrangements. The program is offered through the cooperation of the Winnebago county board of supervisors and the Winnebago County Medical society.

All physicians of the city will cooperate in giving the tests and reading the results. Preparations for the testing program will be made Monday. The tests will be given on Tuesday and Wednesday and the results will be read on Thursday and Friday. The program this year will be aimed at the junior high school, high school and vocational school groups of all the schools in the city.

More than 700 registrations have been received for the test. The pupils from the various schools will be assigned certain periods during which they will report for their tests.

592 Tests Last Year

Last year 592 tests were given revealing 16 positive reactors. During the first year of the program 1,274 children were tested. Any children who show positive tests will be given free x-ray examination. No child will be kept out of school because he has a positive test unless further thorough examination reveals that he has an active case of tuberculosis. High school students will assist in giving and reading the tests.

Members of the local committee include Dr. Shemanski, H. O. Haugh, city health officer; F. B. Younger, superintendent of schools; the Rev. Joseph A. Becker, principal of St. Mary school; A. J. Armstrong, principal of Menasha High school and Mrs. Sigrid M. Dudley, R. N., school health instructor.

Four New Homes Included in 17 Permits Issued Last Month

Menasha—Five new homes are included in 17 building permits issued by H. O. Haugh, city building inspector, during October which authorize $18,730 in new construction. In September $19,375 in new construction was authorized, including four new homes.

The list of new dwellings is topped by a $4,800 structure to be erected by Harry Stephens at 719 Appleton street. George Wiegand received a $3,000 permit for a new home at 220 Lake street and a $2,500 permit for a home at 349 Grandview avenue. George Obright received permits to construct two $2,800 homes on DePere street.

Improvements authorized during the month were valued at $455. They included Dr. L. D. Suggests Menasha Adopt Ordinance to Control Motorboats Menasha—Solution of the problem offered by outboard motorboat racing enthusiasts who operate their noisy craft on the Fox river was offered in a letter from Lt. Col. W. H. Holcombe, district engineer of the War department, to Mayor W. H. Jensen.

The letter of the district engineer stated: "It is understood that within the limits of a city the municipal police power applies to the operation of vessels insofar as the authority to be exercised does not conflict with government laws and regulations. Therefore, it is suggested that the city cover the subject of racing on the government canal by suitable ordinance, placing the matter of enforcement on your police force and the matter of penalty in local court. While there may be some question about municipal authority over operation of vessels on the navigable waters of the United States, it is believed that the city can eliminate the nuisance feature referred to in your letter. In any event, the city of Milwaukee has various ordinances which include such matters as the blowing of whistles, emission of dense smoke, etc., within the city limits."

Mayor Jensen wrote the letter to the war department after numerous complaints had been received from residents along the river because of the noise and odor of the racing outboards. The council discussed the nuisance at great length. The nuisance will be abated, according to the mayor.

Meditations Series To Continue Tonight

Neenah—The second of a series of weekly meditations on the general theme "The Apostle's Creed as a Christian's Code" will be presented at 7.30 Thursday evening in First Presbyterian church by the Rev. Walter R. Courtenay, pastor.

3 County Candidates Without Opposition In Coming Election

(Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau)

Oshkosh—For the first time in the history of Winnebago county, the office of sheriff of Winnebago county will have only one candidate. He is Paul Neubauer, present holder of that position.

No other county in the state and throughout the middle west will have an uncontested race for the position of sheriff. Some Wisconsin counties had as many as 25 candidates for sheriff in the primaries.

Neubauer was born, raised and schooled in Neenah and worked for some time at the Banta Publishing company of that city. In 1932 he became undersheriff under Edward Abel, present candidate for the office of clerk of court. After working four years as undersheriff, Neubauer ran for sheriff in 1936 and was elected.

Two other positions in the county are also uncontested, that of county clerk, now held by Arthur E. Hedke and county treasurer, held by Earl Fuller.

Spiritual Growth Of Child Is Topic At Club Meeting

Mothers Emphasize Need For Parents To Look To Own Religion

Neenah—Parents must look to their own religion, a religion that is their working philosophy of life, if they would guide the spiritual growth of their children, was the emphasis of the panel discussion in the fifth of a series at the Mothers' Study club meeting Wednesday afternoon in Neenah library. Mrs. William Smith was chairman of the panel with Mrs. C. H. Abel, Mrs. G. N. Ducklow and Mrs. Gordon Alberts, assistants.

Religious education is not separable from the rest of life and it is parents who influence children to grow or away from religion every day of their lives. Help in religious education must be obtained from the church for such education gains in importance if not received only at the home, it was stated during the discussion. Religion is a part of the child's growth as well as the parents' it was stated.

Suggestions Presented

In connection with the general theme of the panel, "Character and Spiritual Growth," self-reliance and responsibility, honesty and truthfulness, independence and development of personality, self-confidence and fair play and religious education was discussed theoretically as it applies to the child, specifically with the illustration of case studies. Suggestions for development of character and spiritual growth were presented on the basis of study and reading by members of the panel.

The final discussion group will be held Wednesday, Nov. 9, with "Individual Differences and Building Personality," the topic. Mrs. Henry C. Johnson, who is president of the Washington school Parent-Teacher association, sponsor of the study club, will be chairman. Mrs. F. Beglinger, Mrs. Fred Bentzen and Mrs. Marvin Olson will assist her. On Wednesday, Nov. 16, an informal tea which will be for the teachers also, is to be held.

Plan to Further Instrumental Music Underway at High School

Neenah—A plan intended to further instrumental music in Neenah schools is underway under the direction of Lester Loerke, music instructor, according to John H. Holzman, principal of Neenah High school.

The plan requires the cooperation of parents to make it successful, the principal explained.

The purposes of the plan are "to give a definite course of specific requirements for each instrument of the string family, to provide a ranking system so that there shall be a fair basis for assigning placement in the orchestra, and to give inducement to students so as to advance by force of their own initiative."

It is planned to have six classes of musicians each indicating six distinct degrees of advancement. The classes are apprentice musician, fourth class, third class, second class, first class and master musician.

First Promotion

Mr. Holzman pointed out that one high school musician Mariam Thomas, already has been promoted from the fourth to the third class. She is the first to be promoted.

Students, it was pointed out, will be given a test and advanced to the next class when the required work for that particular class has been completed satisfactorily. Special help will be given students asking for it and any qualified teacher will be considered, providing the text books and material are used as given in the plan. It is obvious, it was explained, that the fairness of this plan depends upon a uniform course of study for each student. Supplementary work may be done providing the required work has been done.

The O.K. certificate will be awarded when the required work for each class has been completed satisfactorily. Students must advance at least a grade each year and they must attend regular group rehearsals. A grade of at least a B must be maintained or the student will be required to take some extra work. Letter awards will be given master musicians.

The following directors were elected: Dr. H. P. Beglinger, A. J. Weston, A. C. Gilbert, A. B. Snell, Dr. H. L. Baxter, Richard Bell, Henry Forbes and J. M. Holdberg.

A secretary will be selected at the first meeting of the board of directors.

10 Contractors Submit Bids on Paving Project

Improvements Committee Acting on Proposals This Afternoon

Neenah—Ten contractors submitted bids for the paving of E. Wisconsin avenue, E. Canal and Walnut streets at a meeting of the public improvements committee this morning at the city hall. The PWA project will cost approximately $97,000.

Until PWA officials have tabulated the bids and checked the specifications of each bidder, the successful bidder can't be determined. The bidders are Holz and Bass, Koepke Construction, and J. Bloomer and Son, Appleton, Abel and Lotz, Wausau, Federal Paving and R. L. Reisenger, Milwaukee; Chris Johnson, Lampert Construction and J. Rasmussen Construction, Oshkosh; and Geneva Construction, Geneva.

The committee on public improvements will meet at 2 o'clock this afternoon to accept the offer of the lowest bidder and to decide on a recommendation to the city council.

Meeting Tonight

The city council will meet informally tonight with property owners on E. Wisconsin avenue to hear arguments for either a concrete or asphalt pavement. About 30 property owners along the street have indicated in a petition that they prefer black top.

PWA requirements, however, state that the low bid must be accepted. If the low bid is for concrete, the council will have to accept it. It was said that the property owners will present a plan to the council at the informal meeting whereby the property owners and the city could pay the difference between the low bid in case it is for concrete and the lowest bid for black top.

The PWA street improvement job is divided into two parts, the E. Wisconsin avenue project which includes paving from the Chicago and North Western railroad tracks east to the lake shore, and the E. Canal and Walnut streets project.

More Trained Nurses Needed in Mental Hospitals, Seaman Says

Neenah—The need for more trained nurses in the mental hospitals of the state was emphasized by Dr. G. A. Seaman, superintendent of Winnebago State hospital, Tuesday afternoon when he spoke to 50 members of the Sixth district, Wisconsin Nurses association, three district supervisors and Miss Van Coy, bureau of public health, Madison, at a meeting in the state hospital.

Nursing care is extremely important in mental hospitals, the doctor pointed out as he stated that no longer is the public satisfied with custodial care. Lay persons cannot be substituted for trained help but the supply is inadequate. One half the beds in hospitals in America are filled with mental and nervous patients. More persons who will combine skill with knowledge are needed.

Dr. Seaman declared that mental hygiene is really preventive psychiatry. It has been developed principally through the medical profession and is as old as nursing and is rapidly growing. He discussed the development of the Winnebago state hospital which was provided for in legislation in 1870 and opened in 1872.

Case Studies

Nearly 900 patients are on the rolls of the hospital at present and among that number are many medical cases also. Following Dr. Seaman's talk, Dr. Hughes Dr. Wychoff presented case studies in illustration of dementia praecox.

The visitors were taken on tour of the hospital, features of which were explained as the inspection was made. A social hour followed with Miss Laura Gilman as hostess.

The next meeting of the Sixth district association will be held at St. Elizabeth's hospital, Appleton, Jan. 4, with Sister Venecia as hostess. "Communicable Disease Technique in the Home" will be the topic and Neenah-Menasha Visiting Nurse association will present a demonstration.

Uniform Closing Is Urged for Bars

Group Plans to Petition Board for County-Wide Ordinance

(Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau)

Oshkosh—Plans are being made here to petition the Winnebago county board at its next session, Nov. 15, asking for a uniform county-wide closing law for taverns.

A group of individuals including a number of tavern owners and proprietors has recently announced its intention of asking the board supervisors to present such a resolution.

It is their contention that the county should have such a law since there is no state closing law other than the prohibiting of selling of intoxicating liquor after 1 o'clock in the morning. The cities of Winnebago county have local ordinances but the county taverns have no protection against the late comers who intend to "stay all night."

The group is not so much interested in the exact time of the closing, whether it be 1 p. m., a half hour later or even an hour later, just so long as there is a definite ordinance.

Nicolet school Parent Teachers association will combine observance of school visitation day with a social in the form of a card party Tuesday evening, Nov. 22. The doors will be open at 7:30 Tuesday evening for the parents to visit the rooms and confer with the teachers. The card party will begin at 8:15. Mrs. Charles Bailar is chairman. Action Deferred On Proposal to Acquire Property

Mayor Moves for Delay After Waupaca Council Casts Tie Vote

Waupaca—Mayor I. B. Erickson deferred action Tuesday evening when two members of the board of public works recommended that the city purchase the Wakefield property for a school playground, and the resulting ballot was a tie vote. Aldermen Stanley Wehrbee and Tommy Davidson agreed that additional playgrounds are necessary for the 476 children for whom three different recess periods are needed to allow for play. The other member of the board of public works, Einar Torsell, asserted that the $400 expenditure at this time was unwise when taxes are on the way up. He declared that the first payment is only a small part of the ultimate cost, and in addition declared the location next to the river no desirable place for children to play. Two members of the school board urged purchase of the land.

An argument brought forth by opposition to the purchase, was the fact that the school lawn is never available for play. They asserted that the school yard should be something more than a park.

A petition from the association of commerce for an appropriation to assist in advertising the chain makes another season, was referred to the finance committee.

After being forced to move the office of the welfare department five times in the last two years, Hugh Raymond, in charge of the Central Application bureau, asked for space on the second floor of the city hall. Upon assurance to the council that the county board would pay for any expense of partitioning a section of the large room, the council voted favorably on his request, also promising heat and light for the office.

Transient relief cost the city $297.55 for the month while city relief totalled $1,307.80.

A letter from Colonel H. Bresius, provost marshal of the Wisconsin Veterans' Home asked that the two cannons now in North park, be given to the Home as a part of the memorial that is being erected on the Home grounds. Members of the council recalled that one cannon belonged to Civil war days, and the other a relic of the Mexican war.

Hollywood—The announcement that Tyrone Power will probably play Abraham Lincoln in "Lawyer of the West" leaves me punch-drunk. Tyrone, for a juvenile, is a capable actor and he is undoubtedly "Box-office"—but he no more fits the role of the Great Emancipator, "The Man of Sorrows," than Mae West fits the role of Little Eva. Physically, Lincoln was gaunt, awkward, graceless, so tall that he towered above average men. His rugged face, for all its kindness expressed inflexible strength of will. Henry Fonda might do; Gary Cooper would be perfect—but I don't think America will accept a graceful, handsome, romantic type as its beloved "Honest Abe."

I can't understand why Twentieth Century-Fox insists on trying to make a Muni out of a likeable youngster who, by playing the romantic parts for which he is perfectly tailored, could be the No. 1 matinee idol. "Second Honeymoon," "Fine!" "Alexander's Rag-time Band!" Great! But the same audiences that cheered him in those suitable roles are going to jeer if he violates their conception of Lincoln. In "Suez," playing a middle-aged man who had the determination to fight through a great engineering feat in the face of every obstacle, he seemed miscast—and I'm reserving my opinion about his believability as an indomitable outlaw chief in "Jesse James." Someday, perhaps, Tyrone Power

The cannon was always used on Fourth of July, and while the custom has fallen into disuse and the cannon have not been given good care, Alderman Chris Hansen said he "would hate to see them leave the hill." The matter was referred to the board of Public Works.

Steps to transfer title of the Conservation League property which has been in the hands of the city to enable a WPA project to be carried on, will be taken immediately, since the project has now been completed, and the league wishes to resume ownership.

can play such parts, but he lacks the maturity to play them now and I think they are endangering his career. Hollywood makes the mistake, too frequently, of thinking that a good box-office rating makes a star ideal for any and all assignments.

CUFF NOTES: Jeffry Lynn and Doris Carson will be married in Yuma—no date set, but their friends say any day now.

Four members of the "Jesse James" troupe are suffering from that strange infection of the inner ear which destroys the sense of balance—medicos are puzzled and the studio is worried. A New York actor dealer has sold one of those surrealist paintings that Gracie Allen did for a gag—she's donating the $100 check to the Chinese Relief Fund.

Shooting starts today on the Doug Corrigan picture, "The Flying Irishman." After months of inspection, Freddie March has definitely decided to do another New York play with his wife, Florence Eldridge—he's off to Gotham today to find a suitable script. Fautette Goddard has signed a letter with Selznick-International but she reserved the right to make one picture for Charlie Chaplin.

Andrea Leeds' studio is having insurance troubles because she went nite-clubbing with that broken foot. It's a pair of silver-plated .45 six-guns for Edgar Bergen—a present from the Texas Rangers. Blue-pencil that developing romance between Eddie Albert and Jane Bryan—she's Jimmy Stewart's current heat. With every local performance of the San Francisco

Grand Opera troupe a sell-out, three studios are right-about-facing and planning singles—M-G-M leads the field with "Madame Pompadour," to star Melba Korjus. Louise Campbell and Horace McMahon will be married in a Chicago church. Despite studio pleas for a publicity stunt, fans have expressed so much interest in Freddie Bartholomew's "Aunt Cissy" during his current personal appearance tour that the studio wants her to play a role in his next picture.

Everyone who meets Nancy Kelly comments on the faint, musky perfume that clings to her hair. It is an elusive, delightful fragrance always noticeable yet never too strong. Lunching with her today, I asked how she achieves it and she explained that she has the wave in her hair set with toilet water, full strength. Then she sits under the electric dryer until the odor is weakened to suit her taste. And it lasts, undiminished, from one visit to the hairdressers until the next. I thought some of you ladies might be interested.

BELLS AND NO BELLS: Best bell-ringer of a rather humdrum week is "Blondie," a funny picture based on a very funny cartoon strip. A derisive song to J. Fidler for confusing "homing" pigeons with "Carrier" pigeons in this column—the latter are the birds that take the messages, and did the pigeon hobbyists let me know. Four bells to Charlie Chaplin's impersonation of Adolph Hitler—the best off-screen comedy of the season.
